The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 6, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

KNOWING WHEN TO SELL.*

AN important element of the science of salesmanship is knowing when to sell. It is very much like fishing. As the expert angler knows the danger of precipitantly pulling in his fish the moment he bites, so the expert salesman must also learn that it is not wise to "pull in" a customer every time he comes in sight. The young commercial traveller who is apt to be overzealous, and some older ones, too, we regret to say, who are enterprising in wrong directions, seem to think that the customer is legitimate game wherever and whenever he may be found. The accidental meeting with a customer anywhere outside of his business place, either at home or abroad, does not warrant the traveller's troubling him for orders. When a traveller meets a customer away from his place of business or his home he will do well not to introduce business topics unless he wants to be rated a bore and take the risk of damaging his future relations with the buyer. Of course, there are some strenuous customers who talk "shop" in their sleep, and who revel in doing business all the time and in every place; in such cases the traveller must follow suit; but even in these exceptional cases he will do well not to take the lead.

While it is very likely never safe to intrude business upon a man when off duty, it also happens at times that when a buyer is at business it may not always be wise to approach him with a business proposition. A traveller's sensitiveness, or, rather, his instinct, must prompt him to discern whether the man he is approaching is en rapport with him. If he appears to be busy, or worried, or out of sorts, in short if he seems to be in no mood for entertaining travellers, it might be well to defer the call and "double back" on him later in the day. No doubt time may be lost in doing so, but it would be better to lose time than to irritate a customer. If a traveller under such circumstances has brought himself to the attention of the buyer before he becomes aware of his mistake, he must get through with his business in the shortest possible time, and retire good humoredly if his errand has been in vain. Persistence in such a case would be worse than useless.

When is the opportune moment, and under what conditions may a traveller hope to meet with the greatest success, are questions to which no ready-made answer may be given. The best time for selling goods is when the buyer is free; when, for the moment, he has nothing else on hand. It must be the traveller's aim to watch these favorable opportunities to strengthen his connection. If that be not always possible, he must approach the subject with all the tact at his command and take his chances.

AMATEUR PRINTING IN THE XVITH CENTURY.

IN his "Short Catalogue," No. 7, Wilfrid M. Voynich, the antiquarian bookseller of 68 Shaftesbury Avenue, London, relates an interesting story in connection with a rare little book offered by him, entitled "De Successione Feudalium," written and printed by Giuseppe Cumia, at Catania, Sicily, in 1563.

This little-known press, according to Mr. Voynich, came into existence under very peculiar circumstances. Its owner, Giuseppe Cumia, a leading lawyer and writer on jurisprudence, lost his wife, Agata, to whom he was devotedly attached. He was so completely overwhelmed by this misfortune that he laid aside his work, and devoted himself to writing verses to her memory. After some time he thought of having these verses printed; but, as there was no press in Catania, he was obliged to go to Messina, where he engaged some printers to accompany him to Catania with their press and to print his writings under his personal supervision. The press was set up in his private house, and the compositors began with this book, "De Successione Feudalium." Cumia took the opportunity afforded by their presence in his house to learn printing; and, before they had finished the law book, set up, with his own hands, the volume of poems.

The printers, after spending a year in Catania, returned to Messina, while Cumia, who had bought their press from them, continued to print, with the help of his manservant, his maidservant, and his little son, even selling his favorite riding horse in order to devote himself more completely to this work. From his own account, given in bad verse in the "Rime," it appears that he served as compositor, his manservant as printer, the maid as inkier, and the child as type distributor.

Under these conditions were issued (1) the "Rime," (2) "De Successione Feudali-um" (folio, December, 1563, with an epistle from the author dated 18th January, 1563); and (3) "Practica Syndycatus" (September, 1568, 8vo). Of the "Rime" there appear to have been two issues, both 8vo, for Evola gives the date "20th April, 1563," the collations "67 leaves," and the curious imprint of the two law books quoted above, and mentions a dedication to Cesare Lauria, whereas the British Museum has lately obtained a copy which has 68 leaves, besides the title-leaf. There is no dedication, but the imprint is "Stampate ne la Chiarissima Citta Di Catania per Piero Spira [printer from Messina] alle di Decembre M.D. LXII." and the colophon, "Stampate ne la Chiarissima citta di Catania per lo medesimo Autore alli 22 di Ferrao, 1562." This edition appears to be unknown to Sicilian bibliographers. The one mentioned by Evola is, no doubt, a corrected reprint without the errata leaf.

Immediately after the issue of the Practica Syndycatus, Cumia was called to Palermo to fill the post of councillor to the Magna Regia Curia. His press, therefore, died a natural death.

None of these four books is mentioned in any general bibliography. Cotton and Deschamps knew nothing about any printing press in Catania before 1635. And even among Sicilian bibliographers Evola, Luigi Marino and Grassi alone knew of the existence of "De Successione Feudali-um." Neither can Mr. Voynich trace the existence of "De Successione Feudali-um" in any library outside of Sicily, where a few copies only are recorded. This is very curious, as the book was printed in 1000 copies. Mongitore and Mira know the 1563 issue of the "Rime" and also a reprint of the "De Successione Feudali-um" issued in 1579. Narbonne also mentions this reprint, viz., "Catania, 1579," but does not give the name of the printer.

In the same catalogue Mr. Voynich also offers for sale, (amongst some 350 items, including many curious and valuable works,) another privately printed book, G. Caffaro's "De conscribendis epistolis deque orthographia," etc., an octavo volume of 84 leaves, printed at Cortona, Italy, in 1546. The printing of this book is so extraordinarily bad as to suggest amateur work, and the capital letters might, from their appearance, have been cut by a local carpenter. Previous to Mr. Voynich's discovery of this work, no book printed at Cortona before the nineteenth century had been recorded.

POLISH BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1903.

IN 1903 there were published in Warsaw, and in the province of Warsaw, which includes Russian Poland, 934 books and pamphlets in the Polish language, classified as follows:

In the early part of 1904 there were published in Russian Poland 98 newspapers and periodicals in the Polish language, of which 84 were issued in Warsaw. Of the works of Maxim Gorky, (in Russian,) there were published up to September, 1903, 55,000 of the first volume, 57,000 of the second volume, 59,000 of the third volume, 60,000 of the fourth volume, and 52,000 of the fifth volume. Besides this there were published of his drama, "The Provincial," 58,000 copies, and of his drama "On the Ground," or the night asylum, 75,000 copies—aggregating in a few years a sale of 416,000 for the seven volumes.

A BOORISH PUBLISHER.

THE death of J. Schabelitz, the famous Zurich publisher and author, removes from the world of art and letters an extraordinary character. Schabelitz, according to all accounts, was a shrewd business man, an excellent linguist, a versatile writer, and probably the most boorish publisher who ever lived. When he accepted the famous memoirs of Count von Arnim, he wrote on the postal card with the acceptance the proviso, "I reserve the right to correct your infernally bad grammar."

To an aspiring poet who had submitted manuscript he answered by postal card: "I do not care to be disgraced by printing your doggerel. I don't return the copy, because you didn't enclose enough postage. If you will forward it, together with the money this card cost me, I will send it to you; but I don't think the stuff is worth the expense on your part."

One of his postal cards to a novelist read about as follows: "For heaven's sake, come and take away the unnamable mass of paper you left here for me to look at!" An ambitious historian was crushed by the following, written, like all of his correspondence, upon a postal card: "You are making the mistake of your life. You don't want to study history, you want to learn how to write."

PULP AND PAPER PLANT PLANNED.

THE firm of Finch, Pryn & Co. has been incorporated with a capital stock of $3,000,000 to manufacture pulp and paper. The concern will construct a plant at Glens Falls, N. Y., that will be the largest in that section. The paper mills will have a capacity of seventy-five tons a day. The company owns 100,000 acres of land in Essex, Hamilton and Warren counties, on which is wood enough to keep the mills supplied for many years. The lumber mills of the company in the district will also be enlarged. Work on the construction of the new plant will begin at once.

COMMUNICATIONS.

INFORMATION WANTED OF MANUSCRIPTS, AUTOGRAPHS, ETC., RELATING TO SWEDENBORG.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: The writer is engaged upon a classification of the manuscripts and literary remains of Emanuel Swedenborg, and invites booksellers, antiquarians, librarians and others who may know about any of Swedenborg's manuscripts, autographs or documents concerning him, in this country, to communicate with him.

About 1870 Swedenborg's interleaved and annotated almanac for the year 1750 was brought to Chicago by a Swede; it would be especially desirable to discover the present location of this almanac.

ALFRED HENRY STROH.

BRYN ATHYN, PA.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WILLIAM MCLENNAN, author of "In Old France," "Spanish John," etc., is reported, died July 29, at Toronto, Canada.

JACOB HENRY STUDER, an author and authority on ornithology, was found dead on August 2, in the rear of his office, on the second floor of 96 Fifth Avenue, New York, where he had been established for some years. Mr. Studer was born at Columbus, O., February 26, 1840. After leaving school he worked in a printing office until 1858, when he devoted himself to the study of ornithology. Among his published works are: "Columbus, Ohio, its history, resources and progress;" "The Birds of North America;" and "Ornithology, or, the Science of Birds," etc.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

HENRY JAMES, who will revisit his native land this month, is putting the finishing touches to a new novel called "The Golden Bow."

MRS. E. W. NYE, the widow of the late humorist, "Bill" Nye, recently testified in the U. S. District Court at Charlotte, N. C., in a trial brought against a friend of her husband's, to whom she had entrusted her affairs, that she had lost all her property and money.

THE fly leaf of Stewart Edward White's book, "The Forest," bears the inscription "To Billy." Since writing the book Mr. White has married "Billy." In explanation of who "Billy" is, one literary journal has come forth with the statement that the book is inscribed to Mr. White's half-breed guide. "Billy" was Mr. White's special name for Miss Grant, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who is now Mrs. Stewart Edward White.

A MOVEMENT is afoot to celebrate the jubilee of Eliakum Zunser, a well-known Yiddish poet, of 156 East Broadway, New York City. Zunser was born in the Russian town of Vilna, in 1840, and when almost a boy he began to write and sing. He came to this country in 1889. In all he has written sixty-five poems, nearly all of a philosophic nature, picturing in simple, strong phrases the life and struggles of the Jewish people in Russia and other parts of the world. Some of his poems have reached sales of upwards of 100,000 copies. The arrangements are in the hands of a committee of twenty-five, of which Dr. David Blaustein, superintendent of the Educational Alliance, is chairman. Already something more than $500 has been donated as a testimonial of the appreciation of the work of Mr. Zunser, and it is expected by the committee that by the time the preparations for the golden jubilee are completed between $4000 and $5000 will have been contributed by the poet's many admirers and friends.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE London Printseller and Collector will henceforth appear on the first day of each month as the Collector's Magazine.

AFTER much delay the double number of The World's Work, devoted to the St. Louis World's Fair, is now ready. It is a magnificent number, and covers the various phases of the exhibition in a very satisfactory manner. The advertisements in the edition are also mainly illustrated articles of important exhibits, written by the magazine's editorial staff. Altogether there are 380 pages and 250 illustrations. The sales called for very large editions, including one in cloth binding and an edition de luxe printed throughout on enamelled paper and bound in leather.

The Celtic Review, a magazine devoted to fostering and encouraging interest in Celtic, and especially in Gaelic, literature and learning, has just been launched by Norman Macleod, of Edinburgh. The consulting editor is Professor Mackinnon and the acting editor Miss E. C. Carmichael. The first issue, dated July 15, contains the Glenmasan manuscripts, with translation by Professor Mackinnon; a few rhymed proverbs, with translation by Dr. Douglas Hyde; an article on the study of Highland place-names, by W. J. Watson; a paper on "The Critical Study of Gaelic Literature," by Alfred Nutt; reviews of books, etc.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—The business of W. H. Medd & Co. is continued by W. H. Medd, not by F. B. Furnell, as reported in June.

BENICIA, CAL.—G. L. Davis, bookseller, has sold out.

BERKELEY, CAL.—O. G. Beardslee, formerly in the book business at 708 Capp Street, San Francisco, is now manager of the Berkeley Book Company.

BOSTON, MASS.—Henry A. Dickerman & Son have sold their entire stock of books and good will of business to the Mutual Book Company, and announce their retirement from business. The Mutual Book Company has its quarters at 70 Franklin Street, and is now prepared to supply everything needed in a bookstore.

PORTLAND, ME.—Anderson & Welch, booksellers, have dissolved partnership. F. B. W. Welch retires and T. H. Anderson continues the business alone.

RATHDRUM, IDAHO.—Mrs. W. A. Logue has opened a new book, stationery and art store and would like catalogues and announcements.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

METHUEN & Co., London, will publish shortly "A Book of Ghosts," by the Rev. S. Baring-Gould, a collection of tales about supernatural appearances.

FRANCIS GILMAN, of Charles Scribner's Sons, the secretary of The Booksellers' League, and Miss Emily Wilson, were married July 25. We offer our congratulations.

BENZIGER BROTHERS have just published an abridged edition of the Rev. Dr. Francis E. Gigot's "General Introduction to the Study of the Holy Scriptures," which the author brought out a few years ago.

L. C. PAGE & Co. announce that "Rachel Marr," Morley Roberts's powerful problem novel, which was published July 20, is already out of print. A second large edition is in press and will be ready shortly.

DANA ESTES on his recent trip around the great pyramids secured a number of archaeological treasures which he has presented to the Walker Art Museum at Bowdoin. Mr. Estes' gift numbers about fifty pieces and fragments, all of them probably from 5500 to 6500 years old.

A BOOKSELLER in the State of Washington wants a first-class retail book salesman. He writes: "It were superfluous, of course, to mention that I require honesty, sobriety, neat personal appearance, etc., in a salesman; but I also want one who is wide awake, who is thoroughly conversant with the business, and who is a salesman, and not an ornament." If there is any one in need of work, who fills the above requirements and cares to go West, he may apply to the office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have purchased from Harper Brothers the rights of the books by John Fox, Jr., published hitherto by the latter firm, and will reissue them in the fall in a new edition, bound in red cloth. The titles of the acquired volumes are "The Kentuckians," "A Mountain Europa," "A Cumberland Vendetta" and "Hell fer Sartain." Mr. Fox's "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is now in its 150th thousand. His new volume of short stories, "Christmas Eve on Lonesome," will be issued by the Scribners early in the autumn.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has in preparation a volume of essays by J. Brierly, of the London Christian World, entitled "The Common Life." In form and style the new volume will resemble the author's "Ourselves and the Universe," which still enjoys popularity. He will publish in the early fall a volume of sermons by the Rev. Dr. George Thomas Dowling, rector of Christ Church, Los Angeles, Ca., entitled "Saturday Night Sermons." The sermons are what are known as "newspaper sermons," their only pulpit having been the editorial page of the Los Angeles Express.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS will publish in the fall two volumes of documents on the history of the French Constituent Assembly, (1789-91,) drawn mainly from the Paris newspapers of the period. Besides these extracts will also be given a selection from the more important decrees of the National Assembly, together with such official documents as manifestoes and minutes of the proceedings of municipal assemblies, which may serve to illustrate the more critical events of the first three years of the Revolution. The work is being edited by L. G. Wickham Legg.

ONE of the most remarkable incidents in the late M. de Plehve's career was in connection with his explanations of the Kishineff massacres, for which he incurred responsibility as Minister of the Interior. M. Plehve's official statement is presented in Michael Davitt's important book, "Within the Pale," published by A. S. Barnes & Co., and the author as the result of his personal investigations presents some conclusions startlingly at variance with the official accounts. The statements and petitions published in this book form a most remarkable history.

THERE was sold on July 29, at Sotheby's, London, a copy of Shakespeare's works, 1747, which formerly belonged to the notorious Dr. Dodd, who was hanged for forgery. It possesses peculiar interest, as Dr. Dodd issued his "Beauties of Shakespeare" in 1752, and this copy, being interleaved and noted throughout, is in all probability the one actually used by him in preparing his own selection for the press. It may not be generally known, says the London Athenaeum, that Dr. Dodd, who was executed in 1777, published five years before his death a work entitled "Frequency of Capital Punishments Inconsistent with Justice, Sound Policy, and Religion."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have made preparations to bring out a definitive edition of the controversial and biographical works of the late Sir Leslie Stephen, with introductions by James Bryce and H. W. Paul. Ten volumes are contemplated, three for "Hours in a Library," four for "Biographical Essays," one for "Literary Essays," one for "Free Thinking and Plain Speaking," and one for

"Reminiscences and Biography." They also announce a posthumous volume by Laurence Hutton, entitled "Talks in a Library," edited with the aid and approval of the author by Isabel Moore, and furnished with an introduction by John Huston Finley; "Bucking the Sagebrush, or, the Oregon Trail in the Seventies," by Charles J. Steedman, with illustrations in color by Charles M. Russell, whose Western pictures are already well known; also, another volume of French-Canadian dialect poems by Dr. William Henry Drummond, author of "Johnnie Courteau," etc., whose readings were so much enjoyed by the booksellers at the annual dinner of the Booksellers' League and of the American Booksellers' Association.

HARPER & BROTHERS have in preparation Sir Gilbert Parker's new novel, "A Ladder of Swords," an exquisitely conceived love story in Queen Elizabeth's time; "The Masquerader," by Katherine Cecil Thurston, author of "The Circle," a story with a new and startling plot, the principal character of which is the slave of a drug, and who, knowing that he cannot conquer himself, enters into a strange arrangement with another man who bears a striking resemblance to him to take his principal's place whenever his unfortunate tendencies overcome him; "A Dog's Tale," by Mark Twain, which made an international hit in Harper's last year; "The Son of Royal Langbrith," a new story by William Dean Howells; "The Truants," by A. E. W. Mason, author of "The Four Feathers," the truants being two young married people living with the rich, overbearing father of the husband, and who have to play truant to escape the surveillance of the hard father-in-law; "The Castle Comedy," a lively story of the daring adventures of a young officer, by Thompson Buchanan, with illustrations by Elizabeth Shippen Green; "The Lady of Loyalty House," a love story of the early days of the English Civil War, in the fall of 1642, by Justin Huntley McCarthy, author of "If I Were King," etc.; "Imperator et Rex-William II. of Germany," by the author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress," etc., with portraits, autographs, etc.; also, "River-Land," by Robert W. Chambers, a companion volume to "Outdoorland" and "Orchard-land," with eight full-page illustrations by Elizabeth Shippen Green, printed in colors. They also announce the first five volumes of a comprehensive history of America, edited by Professor Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard, to be completed in twenty-six volumes. The volumes already arranged for, to be published during the fall, are: (v. i.) "The European Background of American History," by E. P. Cheney, Professor of European History, University of Pennsylvania; (v. ii.) "American Conditions of American History," by Livingston Farrand, Professor of Anthropology, Columbia University; (v. iii.) "Spain in America," by E. G. Bourne, Professor of History, Yale University; (v. iv.) "English in America," by President Lyon G. Tyler, of William and Mary College, Virginia; and (v. v.) "Colonial Self-Government," by Charles M. Andrews, Professor of History, Bryn Mawr College.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amounts should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notices will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

W In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Katherine's Sheaves

By MRS. GEORGIE SHELDON

(MRS. GEORGE SHELDON DOWNS)

The very latest work by this gifted author

The fascinating romances coming from the pen of Mrs. George Sheldon Downs have been popular for many years, but this is the first time the brilliant author has given her real name to the public. The character of this book justifies the action. It is a remarkable work—perhaps the most remarkable in fiction.

Judged as a story, pure and simple, "Katherine's Sheaves" is altogether delightful. But it is more than a charming piece of fiction; IT IS ONE OF THE STRONGEST BOOKS EVER WRITTEN IN PRAISE OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE. Not since the publication of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's great purpose novel, "Robert Elsmere," in 1888, has so powerful a work been presented to the public.

But here Mrs. Downs points to an all-sufficient religion as distinguished from the creed suggested in "Robert Elsmere," a creed hardly distinguishable from philosophic skepticism.

Following the career of Katherine Minturn, an ardent young disciple of Mary Baker Eddy, Mrs. Downs builds up her arguments in the most skilful fashion, and a perusal of the book must convince anyone that Christian Science is a great reality.

Apart from the story, which, by the way, is of unusual interest, one must admire the novel for its philosophy and its wisdom. Mrs. Downs has got to the very heart of things, and speaks with the sincerity of one who has tasted at first hand the delights of the religion which she unfolds.

Olive Latham

By Mrs. E. L. VOYNICH

Author of "Jack Raymond," "The Gadfly."

"It is extremely improbable that Mrs. E. C. Voynich's latest novel will ever be permitted to cross the boundary line into the domain of the great white Czar. No more scathing denunciation of Muscovite official cruelty and Muscovite private misery and distress has appeared for a considerable time. 'Olive Latham' will be found continuously interesting and exceedingly well written."—Philadelphia Record.

By MORLEY ROBERTS

Author of "The Promotion of the Admiral," "The Fugitives," etc., etc. 12mo, $1.50.

NEVER HAVE THE CRITICS, who really criticise, been so unanimous as in their praise of Mr. Roberts's masterpiece. This WONDERFUL HUMAN story was published July 20th, and has gone through two editions in ten days.

THE THIRD EDITION WILL BE READY AUGUST 15

SOME EDITORIAL OPINIONS

"Rachel Marr is WITHOUT A RIVAL in its own field, (N. Y. World). It is a splendidly wrought book,—STRONG as the winds and the waves are strong, (Chicago Record-Herald); and has TRUE GENIUS and absolutely PERFECT ATMOSPHERE, (Boston Transcript). This frank narrative of the elemental woman with the breadth that is not too broad, has the 'LIFE FORCE' of Bernard Shaw, (N. Y. Sun); and the PERILOUS SITUATIONS are handled with DELICACY and rare TACT," (N. Y. Evening Post).

THE MOTOR PIRATE

By G. SIDNEY PATERNOSTER

With frontispiece and cover design by BLANCHE McMANUS. 12mo, $1.50.

In our advance announcement of "The Motor Pirate" in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for July 9th we showed our confidence in it by predicting for this CLEVEREST of AUTOMOBILE STORIES a large sale. It has caught the public; and since July 15th we have twice been UNABLE TO SUPPLY the demand.

We quote from among the great mass of reviews The Boston Herald, because it tells you in a few words, without undue praise, just what the book is:

"This RATTLING GOOD MOTOR YARN spins along at as lively a pace as the highwayman motorist himself. Its originality, exciting ADVENTURES, into which is woven a CHARMING LOVE THEME, and its undercurrent of FUN, furnishes a DASHING DETECTIVE STORY which a MOTOR MAD WORLD will thoroughly enjoy reading."

Jiu-Jitsu Combat Tricks

By H. IRVING HANCOCK

Author of "Japanese Physical Training," etc.

12°, 32 Illustrations from Life (by mail $1.35), $1.25.

In this his fourth volume, Mr. Hancock presents a long series of advanced and highly scientific feats of attack and defense that are practiced by Japanese experts in Jiu-jitsu. With a thorough knowledge of these feats, such as may be gained from a study of the book, one does not need to be a man of brawn and muscle in order to overcome a powerful opponent. Every trick of assault that is offered to the reader commences from a standing position. Boxing is powerless before Jiu-jitsu, and much space is devoted to the subject of "stopping" blows with fists.

SUBJECT: THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ

TO THE TRADE:

In preparing for the publication of THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ we felt sanguine of success, and printed a first edition of 10,000 copies. We did not, however, anticipate a sale of nearly 30,000 books from July 5th to date, nor that our customers would call for the shipment in July of 12,795 copies.

On July 28th we ordered a second printing of 20,000 copies, but it will be about August 22d before any of this edition will be ready for shipment. It is therefore necessary to ask the indulgence of such of our customers as have placed orders, for immediate delivery, which we could not fill in full for the present. Of course all shall have some.

Every effort will be made to fill all orders before Sept. 1st, and thereafter have ample stock on hand. Paper for third edition (20,000) is being manufactured..

If you have not already ordered THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ we advise you to do so at once--either through your jobber--or direct of

NOTES IN SEASON.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just added to their popular Children's Friend Series "Morning Glories and Queen Aster," by Louisa M. Alcott, and "Father Gander's Melodies," by Adelaide F. Samuel.

THE HAMMERSMARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, 151 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, have just brought out, in an inexpensive form, a translation of Count Tolstoy's remarkable essay on the Russian-Japanese war, under the title of "Bethink Yourselves."

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, have just ready a volume of humorous automobile stories, with the same characters appearing in each story, entitled "Dennis McGrath, Autocrat, and other horseless tales hanging thereby," by Edward Potter.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish next month Wallace Burgess Smith's "Looking for Alice," with forty pictures by C. Howard, showing some extraordinary things discovered by the heroine while looking for Alice. At about the same time they will bring out Mr. Stoddard's new book, "The Long Bridge Boys," with illustrations by I. B. Hazelton.

ROHDE & HASKINS, 16 Cortlandt Street, New York, will bring out next month a volume entitled "Toasts and Tributes," compiled and edited by Arthur Gray, author of several clever and successful booklets, such as "Tobacco in Song and Story," "The Little Tea Book," etc. The volume will be attractively gotten up, so that it may serve a purpose as a gift book as well as a library reference book.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. will publish shortly Count Tolstoy's article on the war, entitled "Bethink Yourselves!" which recently attracted world-wide attention upon its publication in the London Times. The Times itself characterized it as "a remarkable document," in view not only of the nationality of the author, but also of his widely divergent views on warfare and present-day methods.

THE REILLY & BRITTON Co., Chicago, announce that from July 5 to July 26 they had orders for 12,795 copies of Baum's new book, "The Marvellous Land of Oz." A second edition of 20,000 copies is now on press, but will not be ready for shipping until August 22, so that they must ask the indulgence of such of their customers as have placed orders for immediate delivery. Paper for a third edition (20,000 copies) is being manufactured.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY is about to publish "The Masters of English," by Stephen Gwynn, the author of "John Maxwell's Marriage," a handy manual of English literature from Chaucer to Tennyson, with biographical and critical notices and quotations; a handy little biography of Whistler, by Mrs. Arthur Bell, in Bell's Miniature Series of Painters, with reproductions of some of Whistler's best pictures; also the Globe edition, in one volume, of "The Works of Tennyson," including his entire writings, not excepting the plays and the works of his later years.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish in September a new book by Myrtle Reed, author of "Lavender and Old Lace," etc., to be entitled "The Master's Violin." It is a captivating love story written in the author's gentlest and happiest vein. The volume will be daintily printed and bound in the same general style as "Lavender and Old Lace." They will publish at the same time "Jiu-Jitsu Combat Tricks," by H. Irving Hancock, with thirty-two illustrations from life, in which the author presents a long series of advanced and highly scientific feats of attack and defense that are practiced by Japanese experts in jiu-jitsu.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

In the latest novel, by the author of "Blennerhasset" and "Quincy Adams Sawyer" the letter H is an interesting omen; the enigmatical letter was a birthmark on the forehead of one of the characters, for that reason it wrought disturbance in the lives of several in the story, notably in the life of the heroine, who was a victim of parental influences. The interest centres in the dual nature and singular action of this girl. The scenes are southern.

A biography of Thomas Hobbes, of Malmesbury, author of the Leviathan, and the most conspicuous English thinker in the whole period between Bacon and Locke. He was for a time instructor of the Prince of Wales (later Charles II.) in mathematics. His philosophy is set forth in this work as well as the few events of his life.

The first part of the work embraces in five classifications all the passages in which the Hebrew word Nephesh (soul) occurs in the Old Testament scriptures. Part 2 contains references to all the places in the Old Testament to which the soul is said to go after death, under the Hebrew words Sheol, Shakath, Doomah, etc. Pt. 3 classifies according to biblical meaning the Hebrew word Rooagh (spirit) and the Greek word Pneuma (spirit) as they occur in the Old and New Testaments. Pt. 4 contains 1000 quotations from the Bible, conforming statements made in the work. Pt. 5 is a summary.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

PER LAMM, the successor to the Librairie Nilsson, Paris, has just brought out the fifteenth volume of the "Catalogue général de librairie française," continuing the celebrated work of Otto Lorenz, and completing the period from 1891 to 1899. The work, which has been edited under the able direction of D. Jordell, includes only the publications in the departments of science, art and literature, and of these evidently only the more important. It is not, however, restricted to the books published in France, but considers also those published in the French language in Belgium, Switzerland, Germany and elsewhere. (1059 p. 8°.) The same firm has also brought together the twelve monthly parts of the "Répertoire bibliographique de la librairie française," for 1903, edited by D. Jordell, and furnished them with an alphabetical index. (168+92 p. 8°.)

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 13, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BEARING OF "CASTAWAY" DECISION ON RIGHT TO CONTROL PRICE.

THE decision of Judge Holland, in "The Castaway" case, practically points out to the plaintiffs a technical mistake which seems to have been made by their legal advisers in the framing of the notice under which they propose to protect the price of this volume, and in the legal handling of the suit against Sneltenburg & Co. As copyright in itself does not concern price, it was probably an error to associate the price limitation with the copyright protection. Under previous decisions of the federal courts, the owner of a patent or copyright can avail himself of the "monopoly" protection given under the Constitution to sell his goods under such limitations as he may desire to establish; but it does not follow from this that the price is a subject of copyright. This seems to be the essence of Judge Holland's decision, the text of which has not yet come to hand; but it is only that the manner or method and not the protection itself that is involved in this ruling.

The copyright proprietor has the right to establish and enforce a contract or license arrangement, which shall be binding so far as the contract or license extends. Such legal rights, though based on copyright monopoly, must be enforced under the laws of contract or license, not under copyright laws. It may be presumed, therefore, that the Bobbs-Merrill Company will "modify" their notice in "The Castaway" in future publications, and seek a redress from the courts in case the terms of their contract or license are broken. While it is unfortunate that technical mistakes have been made in this case, as in the course of the litigation under the American Publishers' Association plan, it is to be noted that any seeming incidental defeats in the endeavor to carry out trade reform have been connected, not with the principle involved, but with the methods by which it was attempted to enforce, or in the endeavor to stretch the principle, as in the case of non-copyright books, beyond its proper and possible limits.

THE LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD COMPANY.

THE entire assets of the Lothrop Publishing Company, 530 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, which has been in the hands of assignees since February 13, including stock, fixtures, accounts receivable, contracts and copyrights, have been purchased by Lee & Shepard, together with the assumption of all obligations incurred during the management of the business by the assignees. The full amount, which is not given out, was paid in cash, and the assignees will immediately declare a substantial preliminary dividend to the creditors of the Lothrop Company, holding in reserve enough to cover matters still unsettled. The businesses thus combined will at once be incorporated as the Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company, with the present manager for Lee & Shepard, Mr. W. F. Gregory, as treasurer and general manager. The publications of the two uniting houses will be kept as usual through the present season and the travelling salesmen will make no change in their plans. It is also understood that both imprints will be retained for the future, and the two well-known lines will not be allowed to lose their identity. This community of interest will perpetuate the names of two of Boston's oldest and best-known publishing houses, and cannot fail to result in prosperity, as it will give the new management the control of one of the largest and most attractive lines of juveniles. The famous "Pepper Books," by "Margaret Sidney," (Mrs. Daniel Lothrop,) will, of course, be at the front, and other well-known juveniles on the Lothrop list are the books by "Pansy," Elbridge S. Brooks, W. O. Stoddard and others; while on the Lee & Shepard list are the popular books by J. T. Trowbridge, "Oliver Optic," Elijah Kellogg, Edward Stratemeyer, Amanda M. Douglas, "Sophie May," Amy Brooks, A. T. Dudley, and many promising new writers. While pre-eminent in juveniles, other lines will not be neglected by the new corporation, and the Lothrop fiction, which has become notable, will be continued. It is probable that the prospective Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company will soon be installed in commodious new offices, centrally located.

In 1892 occurred the death of Mr. Daniel Lothrop, founder of D. Lothrop & Company, (subsequently the D. Lothrop Company,) who originated a new class of literature for children and youth. In 1894, there being no members of the family to carry on the business, it was decided to liquidate, which was done in a way that called forth at the time universal commendation from the press—the family, who were the principal creditors, refusing to put forward their claims, waiving all their rights until assured that every other claim was paid. This was done in full. The new corporation, the Lothrop Publishing Company, which has now consolidated with Lee & Shepard, had therefore no one of the family or name of Lothrop.

PROGRESS IN BOOK PRODUCTION IN RUSSIA, 1887-1901.

NIKOLAI RUBAKIN, in the Russkaja Myssl, presents a series of interesting statistics, based upon official data, showing the progress of publishing, quantitatively, in Russia during the fifteen years from 1887 to 1901, as follows:

1887.....	18,540,390 copies
1889.....	18,777,891 "
1890.....	18,353,126 "
1891.....	22,918,105 "
1892 (the famine year).....	24,819,933 "
1893.....	27,224,903 "
1895.....	35,512,814 "
1901.....	58,529,480 "

From the above figures it appears that until 1891 the demand for literature was weak, but that after that year the increase was decided—trebling from 1887 to 1901. Of course, an output of fifty-eight and one-half million books and pamphlets for a nation counting one hundred and thirty million inhabitants of which about forty millions are able to read is even yet not very considerable, averaging as it does not more than two books a year for each adult reader. The increase may be directly attributed to the development of public schools and education in general. In 1887 29.26 per cent. of the army recruits were able to read; in 1898 the percentage rose to 40.15.

The following table shows the demand by classes:

Classes:	Titles.	1901. No. of copies printed.
Religious books.....	1222	16,483,597
Popular books in primitive and cheap editions.....	457	8,778,670
Text books.....	647	6,595,429
Books for children.....	427	3,243,943
Belletristics.....	798	2,690,444
Medical.....	763	1,058,025
Agriculture.....	338	780,313
Technical.....	604	750,943
Jurisprudence.....	220	350,214
Political and social.....	164	337,097
Fine arts.....	139	270,250
Philology.....	156	223,992

The demand for single works in the different departments of literature is apparent from the following table:

Primitive fiction.....	13,713
Religious.....	13,489
Text-book.....	8031
Belletristic.....	2542

Among the religious books the most in demand are the New Testament and the gospels. Among the most popular authors are Tolstoy, Garshin, Pushkin, Lermontow, Gogol, Kaljzow, Krylow, Tshechow, Gorky, and Korolenko.

INJUNCTION REFUSED IN "THE CASTAWAY" SUIT.

JUDGE HOLLAND, in the United States Circuit Court at Philadelphia, last week, refused to grant the injunction sued for by the Bobbs-Merrill Company to restrain Snellenburg & Co., the large department store concern in Philadelphia, from selling copies of "The Castaway" for less than the advertised price of one dollar.

Encouraged by the obiter dicta of Judges Lacombe, Parker and others, referring to the decisions in the Victor Talking Machine suits for violating the patent laws, that, inasmuch as the author has exclusive right to his writings under the monopoly of the copyright granted by Congress, the conditions under which such property is sold, even if they tend to keep up the monopoly or fix prices, does not render them illegal, the Bobbs-Merrill Company proceeded to test the law in its application to copyrights by giving the following notice in their novel, "The Castaway": "The price of this book at retail is One Dollar net. No dealer is licensed to sell it at a less price, and a sale at a less price will be treated as an infringement of the copyright."

From the newspaper reports—an official copy of the decision has failed to come to hand at the time we go to press—we learn that Judge Holland held that the publishers' notice that to sell the book for less than "One Dollar net" would be to violate the copyright laws was without authority, although the sale of the book for less than one dollar might be regarded as a violation of the publishers' contract with the venders.

JUBILEE OF A DANISH BOOK-TRADE JOURNAL.

THE Nordisk Boghandlertidende, the Danish booktrade journal, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on July 1. The forerunners of this excellent periodical were the booksellers' order lists, ("forlangesedler,") published weekly since 1829. These order lists suggested to O. H. Delbanco, of the firm of C. C. Lose & Delbanco, of Copenhagen, the idea of a Dansk Boghandlertidende, the first number of which appeared July 1, 1854. Though the names of several bookselling firms appeared as publishers, the periodical was always the private enterprise of its first editor, Mr. Delbanco. At the close of the first year the periodical was able to depend upon 246 subscribers; in 1904 the number had been increased to 800, of which 375 are booksellers and the remainder paper dealers, bookbinders and printers. The fact that the periodical has a number of subscribers in Norway and Sweden is proof of its excellence, because Sweden has had a booktrade journal—the Svensk Bokhandelstidning—since 1853. In 1866, when the movement was afoot to unite the Northlands, it was proposed to make Delbanco's periodical the official booktrade journal for united Scandinavia, hence the change of the title to Nordisk Boghandlertidende. Though the union of the Scandinavian countries was not realized, and notwithstanding the fact that a Norwegian booktrade journal was started in 1879 by Freiberg and Landmark of Christiania—The Norsk Boghandler-tidende—the Danish booktrade organ continues to print reports of the Swedish and Norwegian booktrade, and also presents regularly a complete Norwegian and a selected Swedish bibliography. A feature of the journal is its excellent Icelandic bibliography edited yearly from 1869 to 1893 by Sigurdur Jónasson, from 1893 to 1896 by Olafur Davidson, and since 1896 by Bogi Th. Melsted. After Delbanco's death, in 1890, at his testamentary request, the journal became the property of the Boghandlerforeningen and was edited by C. Jespersen. In 1893 J. L. Lybecker, of the firm of Schuboth, became editor. During its career Delbanco's journal has had but one competitor—Den nordiske Bogverden, a clever weekly that struggled along for a year and then gave up the ghost. We wish our esteemed contemporary, post festum, continued prosperity and an ever-widening circle of usefulness.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES WILLIAM SEVER.

CHARLES WILLIAM SEVER, whose name was connected for half a century with the University Bookstore at Cambridge, Mass., died

CHARLES WILLIAM SEVER.

July 19, at Kingston, Mass. Mr. Sever was born in Plymouth, Mass., July 1, 1834. As a boy he went to Cambridge, and in 1849 entered the employ of John Bartlett, the author of "Bartlett's Quotations," etc., the proprietor of the University Bookstore, then located at the corner of Holyoke Street, and Harvard Street, now Massachusetts Avenue. Some years later Mr. Bartlett became a member of the firm of Little, Brown & Co., disposing of the bookstore to a firm formed for the purpose, composed of Messrs. Sever, Allyn and Francis. About that time the bookstore was moved to the corner of Boylston Street, where J. H. Wyeth & Co.'s grocery store is now located. A few years later Mr. Francis died and Mr. Allyn withdrew to join Mr. Bacon in the publishing branch of the business that had been developed in Boston. This left the University Bookstore entirely to Mr. Sever. In 1872 the store was removed to its present location on Harvard Square, Mr. Sever conducting the business alone until 1894, when he associated with himself as partner George H. Kent, who has been conducting the business for several years. Mr. Sever, in addition to looking after his large bookstore, also did a considerable insurance and real estate business. Besides this, he was president of the Cambridge Savings Bank, of which he had been a trustee since 1874 and president since 1878, holding that position until his death. His firm was also the printers for the Harvard University until it opened a printing and publication office of its own.

Mr. Sever had been in poor health for nearly a year. In June he was granted a leave of absence from the bank, after which he went to his summer home at Kingston, in the hope that, by taking a prolonged rest, his health might be brought back. Since last May he had been seriously ill, though death was not by any means expected so soon. It was sudden at the end. He leaves a widow and five children—George F., who is assistant professor in the electrical department at Columbia University; Frank, who is with Lee, Higginson & Co., the Boston bankers; James W., a graduate of the Harvard Medical School and who is now connected with the Boston City Hospital; Misses Martha and Jane Sever.

Mr. Kent has assumed full management, and has made arrangements with the estate of Mr. Sever to conduct the business as heretofore until July 1, 1905, when it is expected a final settlement will be made.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JAMES MADISON MILLER, for twelve or fifteen years shipping clerk for Charles T. Dillingham and more recently with H. C. Holtin at the Christopher Street Ferry, New York, died suddenly at Chicago on August 4. He was born in New York City, February 9, 1849.

DR. EDUARD HANSLICK, a well-known musical critic and author, died at Vienna, August 7. Dr. Hanslick was born at Prague, September 11, 1825. He was at various times critic for the Wiener Zeitung, the Presse, and of the Neue Freie Presse. He became lecturer on musical history and æsthetics at the University of Vienna in 1861, and in 1870 was made a full professor, retiring from this post in 1895. Among his writings are: "Aus dem Concertsaal," "Die Moderne Oper," "Aufsätze über Musik und Musiker," and "Fünf Jahre Musik."

CHARLES WESLEY HARPER, the youngest son of Joseph Wesley Harper, the third in seniority of the four founders of the firm of Harper & Brothers, died on August 5, at Convent Station, N. J. Mr. Harper was born at the old Harper homestead in Brooklyn, at 103-105 Clark Street, in 1840. One of his older brothers, John Fletcher Harper, who was with the firm for a few years, died in early manhood, in 1865, while on a visit to China. His oldest brother, Joseph W. Harper, generally known as "Joe Brooklyn," was taken into the Harper firm in 1870, and remained one of the senior partners until his death, July 21, 1896. Charles Wesley Harper always had a liking for country life, and his father bought for him when he became of age a farm of some three hundred acres near Morristown, N. J. He was with his father's firm for a number of years, but in 1869 his active connection with the house ceased. His son, Joseph W. Harper, has been with the firm for many years, and is now the buyer for Harper & Brothers.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

CHARLES HEMSTREET, author of several books on old New York, has become manager of the Burrelle Press Clipping Bureau of New York.

SIGNOR G. FUMAGALLI, the well-known librarian at the Brera, Milan, is about to bring out a history of printing in Italy, entitled "Dictionnaire Géographique d'Italie pour servir à l'Histoire de l'Imprimerie dans ce Pays." It is arranged in five sections. The first will indicate the localities in Italy where and when printing has been introduced up to the present time; the second will furnish bibliographical notices of editions principes of each city, town, private houses, etc.; and the remaining sections will deal with biographies of the most celebrated Italian printers, with statistical notices of the present state of printing in Italy, and with historical notices of the auxiliary arts of printing, such as lithography, engraving, paper-making, ink manufacture, and so forth. The price is fixed at 40 lire.

THE announcement in the London papers, without any comment, of a popular edition of the works of Mark Rutherford, edited by Reuben Shapcott, according to the New York Times Saturday Review, etc., "recalls to mind a romantic episode in contemporary literature the scene of which was laid in certain New York publishing houses. There was eager bidding in 1885 for this new English literary light, who, it was believed, marked the dawn of a new era. 'The Autobiography of Mark Rutherford' and 'Mark Rutherford's Deliverance,' edited by his friend, Reuben Shapcott, were secured and published here by Dodd, Mead & Co. These were followed by 'The Revolution in Tanner's Lane,' and a novel by the same author called 'Clara Hopgood.' It was only recently that it was found that the author had concealed himself under a double pseudonym and that his real name was William Hale White, a Kentish gentleman. His last work, 'Pages from a Journal,' bears the date of four years ago."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE August issue of The Printing Art, published by the University Press, Cambridge, Mass., completes the third volume. It contains some notable examples of the high standard of modern photo-engraving in its application to the illustration of silver and other art ware. The uses of old style antique types are discussed, together with examples of rubricated book pages and commercial forms.

The Manhattan Quarterly is a literary magazine published by the students of Manhattan College, at Grand Boulevard and 131st Street, New York, during the months of January, April, July and October—the first issue being dated April. Though its primary object is to encourage among the students of Manhattan College literary composition, and to serve as a link between former students of Manhattan and their alma mater, it will also make a bid for readers among the general public by offering contributions on subjects of interest written by representative men in their various lines of mental activity. The current number, dated July, has, among others, an article on "The Steam Engine and its Rivals," by the late Professor Robert A. Thurston, of Cornell; "Choosing One's Books," by George Iles; "The Gaelic Movement," by Laeghaire, etc. The magazine is neatly printed and illustrated. The subscription price is $1 a year.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—J. Samuel Veal, president of the Rome (Ga.) Book Store Company, will open up a book and stationery store here in September. Mr. Veal expects to open other book stores in other places later on. His temporary address is 126 Monford Avenue.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—The Brooklyn Book Exchange, (Richard E. Call, manager,) will open a new store at 1238 Bedford Avenue, on August 15. All business communications are hereafter to be addressed to Bedford Avenue.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—A certificate of incorporation has been filed with the Secretary of State of New York by the Niel Morrow Ladd Company, of Brooklyn, which proposes to deal in books, stationery, manuscripts, etc. The directors of the company are N. M. Ladd, M. J. Ladd and M. J. Van Ordin, all of Brooklyn. They have opened a new store at 646 Fulton Street, with a stock of 15,000 selected books, especially rich in Americana.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The Perine Book Company have removed to larger and more convenient quarters at 15 South Fifth Street. They intend to add stationery to their stock and a line of second-hand books. They will be pleased to have the latest catalogues and price lists.

PORTLAND, ME.—The firm of Anderson & Welch, booksellers, has been dissolved, Mr. Welch retiring. The business will be continued by T. H. Anderson.

BOOKS IN DEMAND.

MRS. SARA ANDREW SHAFER's book, "The Day Before Yesterday," has just gone into its third edition.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. are putting to press a fourth edition of Charles Wagner's "The Better Way;" a fifth edition of Stewart Edward White's "The Silent Places;" and the ninetieth thousand of Booth Tarkington's "The Gentleman from Indiana."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HERBERT S. STONE & Co., Chicago, will publish at once a novel entitled "Roland of Altenburg," by Edward M. Woolley.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation a new volume of short stories by Paul Laurence Dunbar, entitled "The Heart of Happy Hollow."

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, will publish on the 25th inst. an edition of "The Letters Which Never Reached Him," in paper and in cloth covers.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have nearly ready a memoir of Aubrey De Vere, based on his unpublished diaries and correspondence, by Wilfrid Ward. "The Letters of Queen Victoria," edited by A. C. Benson and Viscount Esher, will be published in two volumes, although the date of publication has not yet been fixed.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will bring out in September a volume of sermons and addresses to young men, entitled "Comradeship and Character." It is contributed to by various preachers of note, among whom may be mentioned E. Griffith Jones, Thomas G. Selby, T. Rhondda Williams and J. Morgan Gibbon.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish in the fall, in their East and West Series for young readers, a new book by E. P. Weaver, entitled "The Search, a Story of the Old Frontier." The story tells a boy's journey from London to Philadelphia and to the Wilderness for the rescue of a captive in the colonial days when the frontier was in Western New York and Pennsylvania.

H. R. HUNTING & Co., 204 Worthington Street, Springfield, Mass., have in preparation a reprint of Sylvester Judd's "History of Hadley, including the early history of Hatfield, South Hadley, Amherst and Granby, Mass.," originally printed by Metcalf & Co., of Northampton, in 1863. The edition will be printed from type and will be limited, and the advance price, $4.50, will be raised after publication.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have in preparation Richard Le Gallienne's new book, "Painted Shadows," "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," a collection of stories by Anne Warner, some of which are now appearing in The Century; also, "The Boy Captive of Old Deerfield," by Mrs. Mary P. Wells Smith, the first of a new series for boys and girls devoted to the attack by the French on Deerfield, Mass., and subsequent events.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY announce a fairy story of modern times entitled "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," by Paul West, with illustrations by W. W. Denslow. The story opens with the revels of the rustics of Vermont on Hallowe'en, when the charms and spells of the witches, goblins and fairies work so potently that the whole company is transported by these genii to a weird, strange land hitherto unknown. The spell is only broken after the arrival of the whole merry party at the beautiful green isles of Bermuda in the concluding chapters of the book.

PREPARATIONS are being made to make "Helen Keller Day," October 16, at the St. Louis Fair, an unusual demonstration. It is the first time in the history of any American fair that any special day has been set apart for an individual. All nations will do honor to this remarkable woman, whose emancipation from misfortunes has no peer in the whole country. Miss Keller's autobiography, "The Story of My Life," has been translated into seven languages, and is now being translated into two more. It has been called the most remarkable human document of the nineteenth century.

ISAAC H. BLANCHARD COMPANY, New York, has in press "Addresses at the Republican National Convention, 1904," compiled and edited by Henry Kanegsberg. The volume will present an exposition of the principles and politics of the Republican party, as well as an insight into the life, character, and public services of its candidates. It will contain the platform of 1904, sketches of the careers of President Roosevelt, Charles Warren Fairbanks, and George B. Cortelyou, the addresses of prominent Republican leaders present at the convention, the notification and acceptance speeches, etc.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish late this month and early in September "The Seeker," by Harry Leon Wilson, author of "The Spenders;" "Stories of Inventions," by Russell Doubleday; "Indoor and Outdoor Games," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland; "A Belle of the Fifties," by Mrs. Clay, of Alabama; a new enlarged edition of "A Few Remarks," by Simeon Ford, with a frontispiece portrait of the author; "Old Gorgon Graham," by George H. Lorimer, author of "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son;" also, the concluding parts of their large and superb illustrated "Poultry Book," the twelfth part being just ready for delivery.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in preparation a new novel by Ralph Connor, (the Rev. Charles W. Gordon,) entitled "The Prospector." The scene is laid in the "Far West" of Canada, in the country leading up to the Crow's Nest Pass, a section of Canada made prominent in late years by the remarkable discoveries of gold, iron and coal, and the intense rivalry for railroad rights fought out in the Canadian Houses of Parliament. They have also under way a novel by Norman Duncan, entitled "Doctor Luke of the Labrador," and a new book by Frank T. Bullen, entitled "Denizens of the Deep," that does for the sea animals what Thompson Seton has done for those of the woods.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, will publish shortly a small volume by Professor Goldwin Smith, entitled "My Memory of Gladstone," based on his review of Morley's "Life of Gladstone," prepared for the North American Review last year. Professor Goldwin Smith was often brought into contact with Gladstone, both socially and in the way of business, and in this volume he gives personal recollections, as well as a review and estimate of the great statesman's career. His estimate, though generally in accordance with Mr. Morley's, differs from it in some respects, particularly with regard to the Irish question. There are also some comments on Mr. Gladstone's literary work, which is not much noticed by Mr. Morley.

WITHIN the next two weeks E. P. Dutton & Company will publish in this country "Letters Which Never Reached Him," a series of letters written by a foreigner returning from Peking shortly before the siege of the legations in 1899, and addressed to a "Dear Friend" in the Orient who was killed before he could reach Shanghai, where the letters awaited him. The book is published anonymously, but the author is said to be a well-known lady of title and the editor the brother who accompanied her in her wanderings. The book was written both in German and in English by the author. The sales of the German version, which appeared first, have already run into the thousands. The English edition promises to be equally successful.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish next month Lafcadio Hearn's new book, "Japan: an Attempt at Interpretation." The work is described as a more elaborate and thorough-going attempt at an explanation of the Japan of to-day than Mr. Hearn's previous works; the gathering together of all the results of his ten years among the Japanese. They will publish shortly "The Life and Letters" of the late Professor Edward Byles Cowell, written by Dr. George Cowell. Professor Cowell was an intimate friend of Edward Fitzgerald's, and it was he who made a copy of the Ouseley ms., just before he went to India in 1856, and lent it to Fitzgerald. The result was Fitzgerald's beautiful translation of the Rubáiyát. They have in preparation "The Diary and Letters of Madame D'Arblay," (Fanny Burney), edited by Austin Dobson, to be brought out in six volumes with views and photogravure portraits; also, Maurice Hewlett's new book, "The Road in Tuscany," in two volumes, with upwards of 200 illustrations by Joseph Pennell. Miss Gwendolen Overton's "Captains of the World" will be one of the first and also one of the most important novels which the Macmillan Company will publish in the autumn. The heroine of this story of labor and capital is the daughter of a capitalist who is forced by her father into an engagement with a degenerate foreign prince. The hero is an honest, hard-working labor leader. They will publish for the Columbia University Press a volume of lectures delivered in Cooper Union by Professor John Bates Clark, on "The Problem of Monopoly: a Study of a Grave Danger and of the Natural Mode of Averting It." Dr. Clark, who is professor of political economy in Columbia University, and the author of "The Philosophy of Wealth," "The Distribution of Wealth," and "The Control of Trusts," treats of the growth of corporations, the sources of the corporation's "power for evil," great corporations and the law, organized labor and monopoly, agriculture and monopolies, and government monopolies. It is monopolies in general that he deals with, and not the so-called trusts.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 5 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

When a clean-cut, intelligent looking man talks to you, he generally has something to say. It is good business to listen. Chances are you will learn something to your advantage.

Judge Alton B. Parker, the Democratic candidate for President, is that kind of a man, and his judicial record shows that he knows a legitimate business when he sees it, particularly one against which a false cry has been started. Here are the words used in a case decided by him:

"It will be seen . . . that this is a controversy between opponents in business. . . .

" . . . When one party finds himself overwhelmed by the strength of the position of the other, he looks about for aid. And quite often he turns to the courts, even when he has no merit of his own, . . . in the hope that the courts may be deceived into an adjudication that will prove helpful to him.

"Now, while the courts will not hesitate to enforce the law, . . . they will be careful not to allow the process of the courts to be made use of under a false cry . . . when its real purpose is to strengthen the strategic position of one competitor in business as against another."

Can any sane person doubt that, had Judge Parker been deciding a case involving the right to use the name of Noah Webster, applying it to a Webster's Dictionary, in which the complainants were G. & C. Merriam Co., that the same words would have sufficed? THEY COULD NOT DECEIVE Judge Parker of the N. Y. Supreme Court, and they did not deceive Justice Miller of the U. S. Supreme Court, who in deciding a case against them said:

"This proceeding is an attempt to establish the doctrine that a party who has had the copyright of a book until it has expired, may continue that monopoly indefinitely, under the pretense that it is protected by a trade-mark, or something of that sort. I do not believe in any such doctrine, nor do my associates.

"The copyright law gives an author or proprietor a monopoly of the sale of his writings for a definite period, but the grant of a monopoly implies that, after the monopoly has expired, the public shall be entitled ever afterwards to the unrestricted use of the book."

The plain truth is that G. & C. Merriam Co. have no more right to the name of Noah Webster than you have or I have or any one else has. I regret to have to use Merriams' name in an advertisement, but they have threatened the trade both by advertisements in this weekly and by circulars, and it is my desire to have you know the truth—not what they say. THEY have made the money out of Webster's Dictionary for 60 years, and NOW, FOR THE FIRST TIME, THEY FACE GENUINE COMPETITION. Of course, they don't like it. I didn't suppose they would. But it might be well for them to bear in mind the story of the dog who was crossing a stream and thought he saw another dog with a bigger piece of meat. The application is obvious.

George W. Ogilvie's New Webster's Imperial Dictionary is now ready for delivery. It's a better dictionary than Webster's International for half its price. If not, your money back for the asking. Isn't that fair?

THE

A ROMANCE OF TO-DAY

By ROSE CECIL O'NEILL

With over Sixty Illustrations by the Author. Beautifully bound, 12mo, cloth,
$1.50 postpaid.

Ready Aug. 29

Order At Once

THE two "Loves of Edwy" are his bosom friend and his sweet-heart, and the fortunes of all three are woven into a romance of surpassing interest. Pathos and humor are exquisitely blended in this story. There is not a dull page in the book, and it may be confidently asserted that nothing so original has been produced in this country in many years. The sixty-four pictures by the author (who is well-known as an illustrator) add very greatly to the book's value.

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS AND THEIR FRIENDS

By MARGARET SIDNEY

Author of the Famous Pepper Books "LITTLE MAID OF CONCORD TOWN,"
"SALLY, MRS. TUBBS," Etc.

To be Published September 1

THERE were so many interesting friends of the Five Little Peppers, whose lives were only the faintest of outlines in the series ending when Phronsie was grown up, that a volume devoted to this outer circle has been written to meet the persistent demand.
Herein the author records many happenings that long ago Ben and Polly, Joel and David, told her. And even Phronsie whispered some of it confidentially into the listening ear.

LONG BRIDGE BOYS

By W. O. STODDARD, Author of "AHEAD OF THE ARMY," "JACK MORGAN," Etc. Four Illustrations by I. B. HAZELTON. 12mo, cloth, $1.25 postpaid. To be Published September 1.

IT tells the story of an actual attempt made by the Confederates of Virginia, just prior to the outbreak of the Civil War, to seize the city of Washington by force of arms and make prisoners of President Lincoln and other high government officials.

LOOKING FOR ALICE

By WALTER BURGESS SMITH. With over Forty Illustrations by C. HOWARD. 4to, cloth, $1.25 postpaid. To be Published September 1.

A LITTLE girl named Harriet descends through an old well into the land of dreams, to look for Alice of Wonderland, and meets with adventures no less astonishing than those of Alice herself.

DORIS FARRAND'S VOCATION

By ("PANSY") Mrs. G. R. ALDEN. Four Illustrations by ERNEST FOSBERY. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

DORIS is a college girl who tries to be of use to others, and with this aim in view introduces into her family, as student help, a poor young man who is working his way to a higher education. In the end Doris's protégé helps her to make the right decision in a great moral crisis, and she finds that he, and not her worldly-minded fiancé, is her true affinity.

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the indexes to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, 1903 and 1904.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, except special numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, $0.50 a year; single numbers, 25¢. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4° in sheets, or paper binding, $4.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEVROLD, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consumer is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

—, 1895-1900, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1903, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $4.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 300 American publishers. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with Supplementary Index, 1903-'04. 2 v., 8°, net, $4.50.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $5.00. Supplementary Index for 1903-'04. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $2.50. The two volumes bound in one, $6.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the coöperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8° cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. COMBINED INDEX

Publishers' Trade List Annual

THERE remain only 135 copies of the original Index to the 'PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, a comprehensive alphabet covering 1100 pages, with which we shall bind up the Supplementary Index, in an additional alphabet, to the new publications in the Trade List Annuals of 1903 and 1904. This will make a volume from 1350 to 1400 pages—which should be on the shelves of every book-store and every library which does not possess a copy of the original Index of 1902. This "Combined Index, 1902-1904," as it is known, will be furnished, to the extent of 135 copies—"first come, first served"—at a rate of $6.00, cloth-bound, previous to publication, which price will probably be increased on the publication of the Supplementary Index, which is furnished separately at the price of $2.50. To those who are unacquainted with this invaluable work of reference, sample pages will be sent on request, or provisional orders will be entered for sending a copy of the work on approval, carriage paid, in case the edition is not exhausted at the time of publication.

A NEW NOVEL

DOROTHEA

By Maarten Maartens

Author of "God's Fool," "Joost Avelingh," etc. Cloth, $1.50

"Mr. Maartens deals with real people, moving in real places, swayed by their true characters. He is no pessimist and no optimist. He sees life whole, and he sees it clearly."—St. James Gazette, London.

"The book is not one to be read hastily or superficially. There are a great number of characters, and they are all living, breathing, thinking men and women, stimulating in their contrast to the sawdust puppets of so much of our contemporary fiction. Mr. Maartens writes from the viewpoint at once of humorist, philosopher and man of the world. He does not pelt us with laboriously prepared epigrams, but a quietly wholesome humor sparkles in all his dialogue. His, in short, is a story to enjoy in leisurely fashion and be grateful for."—New York Sun.

NANCY STAIR

By Elinor Macartney Lane

A New Novel by the author of "Mills of God." Frontispiece by Sara N. Bartle. Cloth, $1.50

"'Nancy Stair' must be counted among the genuine successes of fiction of the last twenty years or so."—New York Evening Mail.

"Nancy is a most bewitching heroine as child and woman, and the author makes her live with a sense of palpitating reality that takes her out of the written page into the heart."—Harper's Weekly.

THE MOTHER OF PAULINE

THE LAST HOPE

12mo, Illustrated, $1.50

THIS story, one of the author's finest, deals with an attempt upon the French throne during the Presidency of Louis Napoleon. The period was romantic to a high degree. Many Royalists still believed that the son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette did not die in the Temple, and the author shows great ingenuity in connecting him with a mysterious French waif raised in an English fishing village. It is the son of this waif, who, eagerly accepted by Royalists as the heir to the throne of France, is the hero of this skillful, sympathetic, and exciting novel.

NOTES IN SEASON.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will bring out Harry Leon Wilson's "The Seeker" on August 23, a love story of to-day, pervaded with fine humor.

D. APPLETON & Co. have two splendidly selling books in Maarten Maartens' "Dorothea" and Elinor Macartney Lane's "Nancy Stair," while L. Harry Truscott's "Pauline's Mother" is quoted by The Tribune as among the six best-selling books of the week.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. announce for early fall publication a new romance by Randall Parrish, author of "When Wilderness Was King," which will bear the attractive title "My Lady of the North: the love story of a Gray-Jacket." It will be illustrated in colors by E. M. Ashe.

ANDREW W. MADISON, Branch P. O., Station W, Brooklyn, N. Y., has just published a discourse written by him and entitled "Is the World in Need of a New Revelation?" This discourse contains numerous tests, prophecies and a sworn statement showing the author's work, "The Lost Book," to be "a true and authentic revelation."

THOMAS NELSON & SONS report that their "American Revised Bible," first published in 1901, grows steadily in favor and is commended by the most authoritative praise. The "Teachers' Edition" contains concise Bible Dictionary and "Combined Concordance," entirely new and prepared especially to conform exactly with the wording of this version. This house also offers the King James Version in upwards of 400 styles.

SPEYER & PETERS, Berlin, offer for sale, preferably en bloc, the libraries of the late Geheimrath Jolly, professor at the University of Berlin; Hofrath Emminghaus, and Dr. von Kahlden, both the latter professors at the University of Freiburg, Baden. Catalogues of these libraries are almost ready and will be sent free on application. The pamphlet collections will probably be sold separately. Libraries, especially medical libraries, and scholars may find here many valuable additions for completing their collections.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just issued the third completely revised and rewritten edition of the indispensable "Baedeker's United States." Besides the "Excursion into Mexico," this edition contains a special supplement devoted to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Its revision is the work of J. F. Muirhead, the original compiler. A new "Baedeker" has also appeared, covering "Italy, from the Alps to Naples." On the 27th inst., this house will issue Henry Seton Merriman's posthumous story entitled "The Last Hope."

THE MACMILLAN Co. will publish early in September "A History of Education in the United States," by Edwin Grant Dexter, professor of education in the University of Illinois, who has given in this compendious volume practically a reference book of facts concerning the development of American schools and the various phases of our educational system. They have ready new editions of Elson's "History of the United States," Riis's "Making of an American," and Wellman's "Art of Cross-examination;" and the third and fourth volumes of Herbert L. Osgood's historical study of "American Colonies in the 17th Century;" while special timely interest attaches to T. J. Lawrence's volume on "War and Neutrality in the Far East," in which the disputed questions raised in the Russo-Japanese war are authoritatively discussed.

Authoritative Christianity: the six synods of the undivided church, its only utterances, "those six councils which were allowed and received of all men," second part of the Church of England homily against peril or idolatry which is approved in its article xxxv. The third world council; that is the third council of the whole Christian world, east and west, which was held A.D. 431 at Ephesus in Asia. v. 2, which contains all of Acts II. to VI., inclusive, with matter between the acts; tr. by Ja: Chrystal. Jersey City, N. J., Ja. Chrystal, 1904. c. 19+472 p. O. cl., per v., $3.

The six synods of which Ephesus, A.D. 431, as named above, forms a part, are as follows: 1, Nicaea, A.D. 325. 2, I Constantinople, A.D. 381. 3, Ephesus, A.D. 431. 4, Chalcedon, A.D. 451. 5, II Constantinople, A.D. 553. 6, III Constantinople, A.D. 680. Mr. Chrystal has made the first translation of several of these volumes ever made into any modern language; the other volumes will be published according to subscriptions obtained. They are the only synods which Greeks, Latins and Anglicans, and some other Protestants agree in regarding as ecumenical and sound. They were once the basis of union of the Christian church, east and west before its division. Invaluable to students and theologians.

Bacheller, Irving. Vergilius: a tale of the coming of Christ. N. Y., Harper, 1904. c. 279 p. D. cl., $1.35.

The two lovers of the story, young Roman patricians, live through the exciting events that marked the years just preceding the birth of Christ. The great Augustus, first Emperor of Rome, is at the time, on the throne. His personality, his life and character, his wars, etc., are well sketched. Vergilius, the hero, is sent on a mission to Herod in Judea, is exposed to the fascinations of his daughter Salome, and innocently becomes involved in a conspiracy.

Buck, Dan. Indian outbreaks. Mankato, Minn., Daniel Buck, 1904. c. 284 p. pls., pors. O. cl., $1.50.

The author is ex-judge of the Supreme Court of Minnesota. His residence of nearly fifty years in Minnesota, has given him unusual opportunity for studying the early history of that state. His work is a succession of narratives, telling of many fiendish deeds committed by the western Indians. The Judge is fair in his stories, showing that the white man's fame is clouded with many similar deeds of cruelty towards the Indian. There are interesting chapters on the history of special Indian tribes of Minnesota and their chiefs, and one on the Indian himself, being an effort to discover his origin.

The plot of the story turns upon a remarkable will left by Sandy McPherson, an old Scotchman, who leaves his money to Reginald Travers, the great-grandson of his first wife, and to Irene Burdick the great grand-daughter of his second wife, on condition that they marry each other. A cousin of Irene Burdick, of the same name, is persuaded to personate the one named in the will, that the real Irene or "Rena" may test the affection of Reginald Travers. Many amusing and at times apparently serious complications ensue.

Madison, Andrew W. Is the world in need of a new revelation?: a discourse. Brooklyn, N. Y., Andrew W. Madison, 1904. c. '03. 54 p. S. cl., 40 c.

This discourse contains numerous tests, prophecies, and a sworn statement by the author, aiming to show that "The true theory of Christianity, or, the lost book" is, as the author claims, "a true and authentic revelation." Its contents were made known to him in a succession of visions or dreams; although he does not call himself a spiritualist in the modern acceptance of the term, he believes a spirit revealed to him the true meaning of Christianity.

Madison, Andrew W. The true theory of Christianity; or, the lost book: a commentary on the Bible, and especially on things that men should know concerning the teachings of Christ. 2d ed. Brooklyn, N. Y., Andrew W. Madison, [1904.] c. '90-'04. 86 p. S. cl., 40 c.

First published in 1890 under the title of "The lost book." To quote the author's preface, "It contains a condensed statement of four hundred facts in harmony with the teachings of Christ, showing what he actually taught; or, what his doctrine really, literally, and truly was and is, when the records concerning it are properly interpreted and rightly understood." The author does not believe the Bible is all the inspired word of God, neither does he reject it all. His own theory of Christianity, which accepts immortality for man, is half way between orthodoxy and infidelity. The present work, which he claims to be inspired, defines it.

Mason, Caroline Atwater. The white shield.

Phil., American Baptist Publication Soc., 1904. c. 13+160 p. il. D. cl., *$1 net.

Based upon the legend of Thekla, the holy maid of Phrygia, which circulated throughout the Christian churches of the second century. Thekla was a young girl, daughter of a noble lady of Iconium. She is led through hearing Paul to embrace Christianity. Refusing to marry a man her parents had betrothed her to, she is disowned. Travelling to Antioch, she is insulted by the high priest of Caesar, and condemned to the arena for resenting his approaches. The lioness refuses to harm her, lying down at her feet. Her pardon follows.

Read, Opie P., ["Arkansaw Traveller," pseud.] "Turk": a novel. Chic., Laird & Lee, [1904.] c. 4-389 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

"Turk" is the nickname of the young hero, a boy of Kentucky, the sole survivor of a feud. He gets his name from his numerous freckles, which his boy friends say make him look like a "Turkey egg." The time is in the old days of the south, and "Turk" after a short schooling is bound to a planter. He is a fine manly boy, and tries to live up to his ideals, in spite of many temptations. The escape of frightened negroes, the rumbling of war and social discontent, Turk's love story, and the romance of hidden gold that transforms him to a wealthy man are a few of the interests of the book.

Roberts, Morley. Rachel Marr. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., 1904. c. 2+454 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A little village on the English coast gives the setting to this remarkable character study. Rachel Marr is the offspring of a love episode of her mother's while living in Italy. Her mother returns with her and an old nurse to her English home, but is never seen outside of her room, her life being spent in penance and prayer. She hates Rachel, who grows up a wild child of nature, gifted but ignorant and undisciplined. She is unusually beautiful, with great strength of character and originality. Her story is a tragedy, told with unusual dramatic fervor.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 20, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

KNOWING WHETHER A CUSTOMER WILL BUY.*

NEXT to knowing when to sell, it is of great importance for a commercial traveller to learn the signs which indicate approximately whether or not a man will buy, and when to take "no" for an answer. The signs are many and varying, and experience very often goes for little in dealing with this phase of making a sale except to prompt the beginner to hesitate to take even a point-blank refusal literally. It is as natural for the buyer to hesitate before laying in new stock as it should be natural for the commercial traveller to be keen to sell his new lines. In these days of making so many new books the bookseller from season to season is ever more at his wits' end where to draw the line, and his first impulse is to "turn down" the traveller. Indeed, some buyers, unconsciously, get into the habit of saying "no" to every new proposition, and wait to be convinced. In such cases, unless a man is absolute master of his line, and can meet objections with valid arguments, he will very likely suffer defeat, not because the bookseller will not buy new books some time during that season, but because the traveller either cannot break through the buyer's holding back, or interest him in what he has to sell, or cannot convince him of the wisdom of reasonableness in making the investment.

The important thing in dealing with the backward customer, of course, is to interest him. The representative of an important house which publishes certain lines that every bookseller must know, if not keep in stock, will have less difficulty in interesting a buyer than one who represents a house of minor importance, to whom, and especially to the beginner on the road, these remarks are chiefly addressed. Such a representative has a new book or a new line to bring to the attention of a bookseller who will fight as long as possible against putting in stock another new and untried proposition. How shall he get a hearing unless he is able to excite the buyer's curiosity; and after having aroused sufficient interest in his proposition, how shall he be able to sell his book unless he is able to convince the buyer that the investment is a safe one. Here, then, are two points to be gained before the sale may be consummated—to excite interest, and to bring conviction home of the profitableness of the purchase. The first point is the very A B C of the traveller's profession; the second point forms the sum and substance of all salesmanship. The first depends upon certain inborn qualities and certain cultivation; the second upon character, upon the science of selling, and, to some degree, upon the goods. Taking these qualifications for granted, the traveller must further learn to handle the unwilling customer—a difficult task, but with the aid of tact and observation, by no means an impossible one. He must be quick to note the first sign of hesitancy on the buyer's part, as the faintest indication of wavering often shows that the buyer's mind is not definitely or irrevocably made up. He must watch every shadow that crosses the buyer's face as he presses home his strong points, and if he is a close observer he cannot fail to perceive whether he is making an impression. Not until the buyer says positively and decisively that he will not buy should the canvass be given up. The emphasis, the gesture, the resolute tone that distinguishes the ultimate decision from the vacillating attitude of the undecided buyer is not easily mistaken. The real secret lies in the ability of the traveller to discriminate between a succession of "noes" that may be converted into "yes," and the real, final and positive refusal. The line of distinction is oftentimes nearly imperceptible, or so apparently non-existent as to deceive the old and experienced hand. Therefore, although a traveller may not hope to become infallible in his discernment, he may reduce his errors of judgment to a minimum, and by studying the matter carefully may frequently be able to know correctly whether or not a man will buy.

A SIMPLE FORM OF BOOK-STACK.

WILLIS K. STETSON, of the New Haven (Conn.) Public Library, in the Library Journal recently described a form of book-stack or book-case the essential features of which are uprights, having holes bored through horizontally, steel rods upon which the shelves rest, and, of course, shelves. There is considerable room for variety in the details, which any one can readily see who has a mechanical turn of mind. The cheapest form of upright would be wood, say three inches square, with holes half-inch in diameter, one inch apart on centres. The uprights can be of metal, e.g., one-inch gas pipe; cost of metal would be three to four times that of wood, probably.

"Through these holes," to quote Mr. Stetson, "pass half-inch steel rods, 16 inches long, each rod bearing end of four shelves, in a double-faced case. Common wood screws screwed into the ends of the shelves part of the length of the screws, projecting enough to rest on the rods, is one method of holding up the shelves. Another method would be to have a wire bent square U shape in which these screws would rest, while hooked ends of the wire supports give means of suspending from the rods. There is only one upright—in the middle—not two, on each side. Cases of piping using two uprights are in use, I have been told, in the New York State Library. I should judge the expense of two uprights would be somewhat more than that of one upright. The reason why one support only is used is that 90 per cent. of the shelves of a library are spaced uniformly; consequently, it is unimportant to sacrifice much for the 10 per cent. In this case ample provision is made for any changes necessary.

"If it is needed to have adjoining shelves of different heights, another rod at the proper level at each end of the shelf provides for this. The rods are easily moved whenever any shifting is necessary. This form of book-stack is portable, and can easily be taken down and set up elsewhere on occasion.

"The principle can be employed for a stack of several storeys, either in wood or metal. In the New Haven Public Library two experimental stacks, one for bound newspapers, have been in use for several years, so that we know that the essential conditions of a satisfactory book-stack are met."

"WEBSTER" DICTIONARIES.

OGLIVIE COMPLAINT AGAINST G. & C. MERRIAM CO.

THE following bill of complaint in a suit of Geo. W. Ogilvie, represented by Geo. F. Bean, of Boston, against G. & C. Merriam Co., entered in the United States Circuit Court, District of Massachusetts, for a hearing on August 22, is sent us for publication:

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, DISTRICT OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Between

George W. Ogilvie, of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, and

G. & C. Merriam Company, a corporation organized under the laws of Massachusetts and having its usual place of business in Springfield, in said Commonwealth.

BILL OF COMPLAINT.

1. The plaintiff is and for a long time has been engaged in the business of book-publishing in Chicago, Illinois, and the defendant corporation is the publisher of Webster's International Dictionary, so-called, and does business in Springfield in said District of Massachusetts.

2. The plaintiff has been for a long time and is now engaged in the preparation of a new dictionary of the English language to be called Webster's Imperial Dictionary, and in such preparation has for many years employed a large force of expert editors, printers, typesetters and proof readers and has invested large sums of money in the purchase of material for this work and in the payment of salaries to said employees and in announcements and advertisements. He attaches to this bill and makes a part thereof copies of some of these announcements, marking them "A," "B," "C" and "D." The work of such preparation is substantially completed and the plaintiff proposes to issue and place on sale at once copies of said Dictionary.

3. The defendant corporation has undertaken to unlawfully interfere with the plaintiff in the prosecution of this enterprise and in order to embarrass the plaintiff in connection therewith, and to frighten the trade from purchasing the work has threatened the trade that if they purchase and the publisher if he issues said work, that they will commence suits against them "all along the line," and thus has attempted to prevent, if possible, the issuance of said Webster's Imperial Dictionary. It has resorted through its officers and agents to attempts to bribe an employee of the plaintiff to secretly abstract and take from the files and custody of the plaintiff pages of the original editorial copy prepared for said work, and when that attempt failed, made a further attempt to secure by the same means pages of "printer's copy," so-called. A copy of an affidavit concerning such an attempt to bribe is attached hereto and made a part hereof, marked "E."

And the defendant through its officers and agents has repeatedly given plaintiff notice that it proposes to interfere with and prevent his publication of said Webster's Imperial Dictionary, so that the plaintiff believes he will be unlawfully molested and obstructed by the defendant and its agents, whereas he says that he is advised by counsel and believes that he has a perfect legal right to prosecute said enterprise and that the defendant has no legal rights under copyright or otherwise which are or will be infringed by his said publication, the copyright on Webster's Dictionary having expired by limitation in 1848.

Wherefore the plaintiff prays that the defendant, its officers, agents, attorneys and employees be perpetually enjoined from making further attempts to bribe the employees, or former employees of the plaintiff, or any other person who has or whom they may think has access to his property, to steal the same, or any portion of it, and from interfering with the plaintiff in the publication, circulation and distribution of Webster's Imperial Dictionary or in any way obstructing his free exercise of his legal rights in the premises.

And for such other and further relief as to this Honorable Court may seem meet and just, together with his costs.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

POULTNEY BIGELOW has just finished volume four of "The German Struggle for Liberty," a work which is arousing a great deal of attention and expectation. He is now in search of a holiday, and is proceeding about it in rather unusual fashion, for he has determined upon a canoe cruise down the Isar from Munich and thus into the Danube.

MARK TWAIN, (Samuel L. Clemens,) has decided to reside permanently in New York City with his family, and will have his home in lower Fifth Avenue. James A. Renwick has leased to the author for a term of years the four-story brick and stone residence, No. 21 Fifth Avenue, which is the southwest corner of that avenue and Ninth Street.

MISS GERTRUDE SMITH, author of "Peter and Ellen," "The Roggie and Reggie Stories," etc., is a native Californian, although most of her life has been spent in the East. She was born in Coloma, Eldorado County, where the first gold in California was discovered. Her father, Rev. Wm. Nelson Smith, went to the coast as a forty-niner, but left the search for gold to become a clergyman.

RANDALL PARRISH, who has succeeded so remarkably in striking the public fancy with his first book, "When Wilderness Was King," will publish through A. C. McClurg & Co. this fall another romance which has all the qualities that brought success to his first work. This new romance will be called "My Lady of the North," and is further characterized as "The Love Story of a Gray Jacket." The close of the Civil War has been used as a background for some extraordinarily stirring scenes and situations. In the meantime "When Wilderness Was King" keeps right on selling, and it is natural to assume that the new story by so talented an author will meet with equal success.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JUDGE SEYMOUR DWIGHT THOMPSON, author of many standard works on legal practice, died on the 11th inst. at his home in East Orange, N. J. Judge Thompson was born in Will County, Ill., September 22, 1842. He served during the Civil War in the Third Iowa Infantry, and in 1868 was admitted to the bar at Memphis, Tenn., practicing later in St. Louis. From 1881 to 1893 he was Associate Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals. In 1898 he removed to Brooklyn, N. Y., and gradually withdrew from practice to carry on his literary work. His legal work includes "The Law of Negligence," of which he was at the time of his death preparing a second edition in six volumes; "Homesteads and Exemptions," "Thompson and Merriam on Juries," and "Thompson on Trials." He was also author of the article on corporations in the "American Cyclopædia of Law," and had recently been appointed by President Roosevelt as a delegate to the Universal Congress of Law and Jurists, which will meet in St. Louis next month.

SAMUEL PUTNAM AVERY, for nearly half a century one of the best-known figures in New York art circles, died at his home in New York City on the 11th inst., aged eighty-three years. Mr. Avery's name will long be remembered by his public gifts, notably the fine Avery Architectural Library of Columbia University, founded as a memorial to his son; the valuable collection of prints bearing his name, given to the New York Public Library; and the collection of Oriental porcelains given to the Metropolitan Museum. Born in New York in 1822, Mr. Avery became an engraver on copper and wood while in his teens. He knew personally most of the American artists of his day, and soon gave up engraving to become a dealer in works of art. His business, established thirty-nine years ago at Fourth Street and Broadway, was later removed to Fifth Avenue, and since his retirement, in 1885, has been conducted by his son. Mr. Avery was secretary of the art committee of the Union League Club and a founder and trustee of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. He was president of the Grolier Club, vice-president of the Sculpture Society, trustee of the New York Public Library and a member of many other clubs and societies and social, professional and civic organizations.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE CUMBERLAND PRESS, Nashville, Tenn., will have ready shortly "Grading the Sunday School," a new volume in the excellent 50-cent series by J. W. Axtell. Its author faces grading difficulties squarely with the result of convincing readers that the grading system ought to be and can be successfully operated in any Sunday-school.

THE HOLDEN ART CO., 24 and 26 East 21st Street, New York, will shortly issue the trade edition of "The Hundred Best Pictures," with letterpress by C. Hubert Letts, the photogravure illustrations being tipped in. The work is to be issued as a royal octavo, 10½ x 14½ inches, bound in half red morocco, and will probably rank as one of the finest holiday books of the year.

ATKINSON, MENTZER & GROVER, of Chicago, have taken over from Tracy, Gibbs & Co., of Madison, Wis., the publication of the Van Velzer and Shutts' "Geometry," which was recently adopted for exclusive use in the high schools of Chicago for a term of four years. They announce a new edition under the title of "Shutts' Plane and Solid Geometry," which will be revised, reset and re-illustrated.

JOHN JOSEPH McVEY, Philadelphia, will publish in October the second revised edition of Ludy's "Answers to Questions Prescribed by Dental State Boards." He has purchased all rights, title to plates, copyright, sheet stock and bound stock of Shea's "History of the Catholic Church in the United States," four volumes, also to Burgin & Dallas's "Among the Mushrooms," and the books are now ready for the market.

H. M. CALDWELL & Co. have in preparation for their Remarque Edition of Literary Masterpieces a volume of the poems of the late John Boyle O'Reilly, to be edited by William A. Hovey, formerly editor of The Transcript. A part of this edition has been sold to Paul Elder, of San Francisco, and will bear his imprint. They will publish next month Dr. D. A. Sargent's "Health, Strength and Physical Exercise," an exhaustive manual of hygienic exercise and physical culture.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY have just been obliged to send that strange book, "The Diary of a Musician," edited by Dolores M. Bacon, to press for a second time. As the publishers anticipated, it is meeting with both hearty praise and hearty condemnation. The same house is just printing the late Guy Wetmore Carryl's tale of the American Colony in Paris, "The Transgression of Andrew Vane," for a third time, and ex-Mayor Quick's boom-town romance, "Aladdin & Co.," for a second time.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on August 25 Lilian Bell's new novel, "At Home with the Jardines," which is in a sense a sequel to her "Abroad with the Jimmies," since it deals with several of the same characters that made the earlier book so popular when it was published two years ago. The new story is said to be extremely bright and amusing. They have just ready "Nita," Marshall Saunders's story of an Irish setter, with which are included two short stories, "Uncle Jim's Burglar" and "Mehitable's Chicken."

J. F. TAYLOR & Co. will issue early in the autumn "The Little Kingdom of Home," by Margaret E. Sangster, which, with marginal decorations in color and other attractive features of print, paper and binding, will hold its own among the gift books of the year; "Christian Science. Is It Christian? Is It Scientific?" in which Mary Platt Parmele makes a dispassionate exposition of the claims, benefits and limitations of Christian science; and a new edition of "The Commuters," Albert Bigelow Paine's latest success.

AMONG the fine exhibits at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, there is one of special interest to booklovers and antiquarians in that made by John D. Crimmins, of New York. It is located in the Irish-American section, next to the exhibit from Ireland, and consists of letters written by people of Irish birth or extraction who figured prominently in the Colonial, Revolutionary, post-Revolutionary and later periods of American history. In addition to the letters, there are many individual autographs and other articles of historical interest.

WHITCOMB & BARROW'S, Boston, will bring out two new books in a few weeks. One, "The Woman Who Spends," by Bertha June Richardson, takes up the economics of spending in a way that will hold the interest and arouse the thought of women everywhere. Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, who writes the introduction to "The Woman Who Spends," is the author of the second book, "First Lessons in Food and Diet." This very readable handbook is designed for schools and for the women's clubs which this year are taking up the study of household economics as never before.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING Co. will shortly publish "Boss Tom," a tale of the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania, having to do with all the dangers and excitement surrounding a mining village during a strike of the miners. Among its character studies are the mine boss, the drivers, the superintendent, and the rough and uncouth foreign element, and the story shows how striking sentiment is aroused by reduction of wages, the docking system, enforced buying at the company store, and various other schemes put in force for the increase of the company's profits, regardless of the miners' rights.

JOHN LANE has nearly ready Ernest Vize's notable and absorbing study of "Emile Zola: Novelist and Reformer." This is an account of Zola's life and work from the standpoint of intimate friendship and close association. The author, who is known for his English translations of Zola's works, has kept the point of view of American readers consistently in mind, and describes the novelist's private life, literary career, and association with the "affaire Dreyfus," with authority and accuracy. There are numerous portraits and illustrations from photographs taken by Zola himself; and a complete synopsis of the great Rougon-Macquart series of novels is a valuable feature.

AN important branch of the Century Company's business from now on will be the educational department, full details of which will be set forth later. Special attention will be given to college text-books, such as a proposed series on "The American State," edited by Professor Willoughby, of Johns Hopkins University, one volume for which, "The American Executive and Executive Methods," by President John H. Finley, has already been arranged for. Elementary schools, however, will not be neglected. A series intended for them will be one in six volumes edited by Miss H. M. Carter, containing the best animal stories to be found in the numbers of St. Nicholas Magazine for the last thirty years.

A COMPILATION made to put the thoughts of the Greek philosophers into popular form is the first of a projected series of volumes on "The Evolution of Ethics," published for the Brooklyn Ethical Association by the New York House of Charles M. Higgins & Co., under the title of "The Ethics of the Greek Philosophers," by Professor James H. Hyslop, of Columbia University. Besides Professor Hyslop's exposition of the teachings of Socrates, Plato and Aristotle, a large part of the volume is given up to extracts from the works of these and contemporary philosophers, with portraits and illustrations, and short editorial notes by Charles M. Higgins showing the relation of classical ideas to modern thought.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on the 30th inst. E. Phillips Oppenheim's new novel, "The Betrayal." The secret betrayed is no less serious than plans of England's war defenses, which, in some incomprehensible manner, find their way into the hands of the French authorities. They will publish on the same date "The Letter 'D,'" an absorbing story by Grace Denio Litchfield; "The Revelation of Himself," by Mary Farley Sanborn; "Our Friend, the Dog," by Maurice Maeterlinck, with a number of illustrations; "Recreations of an Anthologist," by Brander Matthews; "The Practice of Charity," a defense of charity by Edward T. Devine; also, "Minnows and Tritons," a book for boys, brimful of adventure and fun, by B. A. Clarke.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published volume I. of the third revised edition of "Chemistry of Gas Manufacture," by W. J. Atkinson Butterfield, M.A., F.I.C. This work offers itself as a practical handbook on the production, purification, and testing of illuminating and fuel gas and on the by-products of gas manufacture. It is amply illustrated. The same house has just published a new book for pupils of the lower grade schools in their series of Lippincott's Physiologies entitled "The First Book of Anatomy, Physiology and Hygiene of the Human Body." The author is J. A. Culler, Ph.D., Professor of Physics in Miami University. The demand for "The Challoners," E. F. Benson's new novel is steadily increasing and its publishers have gone to press with another edition.

"TENEMENT HOUSE INSPECTION," a series of articles by Dr. George M. Price, Medical Sanitary Inspector of the New York Board of Health, and originally published in The Chief, the journal of the Civil Service, have been issued in book form by The Chief Publishing Company. They form a practical textbook for civil service candidates for the positions of inspector and clerk in the Tenement House Department, and a manual for tenement house owners, dwellers, and inspectors. Besides pointers on former examinations and probable questions, the manual contains chapters on ventilation and plumbing and how to study them, and practical explanations of the systems in use in the department. The most important part of the book is that devoted to a synopsis and digest of the tenement house law of 1901 which founded the department and the full text of the act.

THE MACMILLAN Co. announce a magnificent art book in Dr. George C. Williamson's "History of Portrait Miniatures," which will be issued in two folio volumes, with over one hundred plates illustrating some five hundred selected miniatures. The material presented is based on Dr. Williamson's long experience and personal study of the great collections of Europe and this country, for which special privileges have been extended to him; and it supersedes his former "Handbook of Miniatures," published in 1897, by a much larger, more extensive and sumptuous work. This house has many other interesting books in preparation for the fall, notably Albert Bigelow Paine's biography of "Thomas Nast," to be issued in October, with reproductions of about four hundred of Nast's cartoons; "Adventures Among Pictures," a stimulating volume of art studies by Charles Lewis Hind; a novel of the Civil War and Abolitionism by Upton Sinclair, entitled "Manassas;" and new novels by Jack London, Marion Crawford, Robert Herrick, Gwendolen Overton, Laurence Housman, "Ouida," and William Stearns Davis.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY, Philadelphia, have in preparation a work entitled "The Holy Spirit Then and Now," by E. H. Johnson, professor in Crozier Theological Seminary; "The Church Covenant," by Champlin Burrage, a study of the church covenant among the Presbyterian, Congregational and Baptist churches; "George Dana Boardman," the memorial sermon delivered by Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper in the First Baptist Church; "The Ethics of the Christian Life," by the Rev. Dr. Henry E. Robins, of the Rochester Theological Seminary; "The Bible in Modern Light," by the Rev. Dr. John W. Conley, a series of lectures on the origin, manuscripts, translations, versions, etc., of the Bible and their relations to modern science and current life; a commentary on "The Proverbs," by Professor George R. Berry, of Colgate University; an exposition of "The Gospel of Mark," by Dr. John A. Broadus, originally prepared for the Examiner; "My Baptism, and What Lead to It," by the Rev. James Mountain, with a preface by the Rev. F. B. Meyer, considered to be one of the strongest and best presentations of the Baptist position ever issued; "The White Shield," by Caroline Atwater Mason, a story of Christianity in the first century, the scene of which is laid in Iconium and Antioch; also, "The Everlasting Arms," by Mrs. Wayland Hoyt, a pathetic account of how a great and mortal blow was borne.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce a volume of particular interest to business men in "Wall Street and the Country," by Charles A. Conant, author of "A History of Modern Banks of Issue." Mr. Conant, who is a member of the Commission on International Exchange appointed by President Roosevelt in 1903, has long been recognized as an authority on financial matters. His present book contains six essays, as follows: "The Future of Undigested Securities," "The Trusts and the Public," "The Function of the Stock and Produce Exchanges," "The Economic Progress of the Nineteenth Century," "Putting China on the Gold Standard," "The Growth of Trust Companies." Among the other autumn announcements of this firm is "The Book of Clever Beasts, or, Studies in Unnatural History," by Myrtle Reed, who pokes good-humored fun at the "nature writers" of the day in her amusing sketches of superhumanly intelligent "kindred of the wild." The illustrations are by Peter Newell, of all artists best suited to bring out the humor of such a theme. "Our Best Society," the clever anonymous story now appearing serially in the Critic, will be issued in book form by this house early in the new year; and on the fall list are "The Prince Chap," a novel of artist life by Edward Peple, author of "A Broken Rosary," and "Breaking the Wilderness," the story of the conquest of the Far West, by Frederick S. Dellenbaugh. It is now an open secret that the author of "Badsworth on Bridge," "The Laws and Principles of Bridge," etc., whose new book, "A Defence of Bridge," is to be brought out in September by the Putnams, is A. Lindsay Lister. He is a well-known authority on the game, and in his new book he has reprinted letters in which he defends the purpose, character and influence of bridge. The same house will publish late in the fall a book of "Hints on Revolver Shooting," by Walter Winans, author of "The Art of Revolver Shooting," etc. The book will be fully illustrated. The author, who lives in Maryland, is a Chevalier of the Imperial Russian Order of Stanislaus, vice-president of the National Rifle Association, and president of the Ashford Rifle Club.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—S. W. Harman, for the past twelve years doing business at 320 North Charles Street, has removed to 419 North Howard Street.

BOSTON, MASS.—Henry A. Dickerman & Son have sold their entire stock of books and good will of business to the Mutual Book Company, and announce their retirement from business. The Mutual Book Company has its quarters at 70 Franklin Street, and is now prepared to supply everything needed in a bookstore.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Peter Paul & Son, booksellers, stationers and engravers, 136 North Pearl Street, ask to have publishers and manufacturing and jobbing stationers send them their catalogues and latest price lists.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Merwin-Clayton Sales Company on and after September 10 will occupy the new and spacious salesrooms 20-24 East 20th Street. Consignments of goods may be made from and after September 1. The business will be limited to the sale at auction of books, manuscripts, autographs, coins, stamps, paintings, engravings and similar properties. Private libraries and other collections, in large or small lots, received on consignment, catalogued, advertised and sold on commission without unnecessary delay. All goods are placed on exhibition several days before each sale.

PORTLAND, ME.—Anderson & Welch, booksellers, have dissolved partnership. T. B. W. Welch retires and T. H. Anderson continues the business alone.

PORTLAND, ORE.—J. R. Ewing, bookseller, has been succeeded by E. G. McKean, who does not assume liabilities.

WINNIPEG, MANITOBA.—The J. A. Hart Company, Ltd., has been incorporated with a capital of $40,000, to take over the book and stationery business of C. H. Black. The incorporators are C. H. Black, John A. Hart, W. A. Black and W. Pratt, of Winnipeg, and A. C. Archibald.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

298 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

When a clean-cut, intelligent looking man talks to you, he generally has something to say. It is good business to listen. Chances are you will learn something to your advantage.

Judge Alton B. Parker, the Democratic candidate for President, is that kind of a man, and his judicial record shows that he knows a legitimate business when he sees it, particularly one against which a false cry has been started. Here are the words used in a case decided by him:

"It will be seen . . . that this is a controversy between opponents in business. . . .

"... When one party finds himself overwhelmed by the strength of the position of the other, he looks about for aid. And quite often he turns to the courts, even when he has no merit of his own, . . . in the hope that the courts may be deceived into an adjudication that will prove helpful to him.

"Now, while the courts will not hesitate to enforce the law, . . . they will be careful not to allow the process of the courts to be made use of under a false cry . . . when its real purpose is to strengthen the strategic position of one competitor in business as against another."

Can any sane person doubt that, had Judge Parker been deciding a case involving the right to use the name of Noah Webster, applying it to a Webster's Dictionary, in which the complainants were G. & C. Merriam Co., that the same words would have sufficed? THEY COULD NOT DECEIVE Judge Parker of the N. Y. Supreme Court, and they did not deceive Justice Miller of the U. S. Supreme Court, who in deciding a case against them said:

"This proceeding is an attempt to establish the doctrine that a party who has had the copyright of a book until it has expired, may continue that monopoly indefinitely, under the pretense that it is protected by a trade-mark, or something of that sort. I do not believe in any such doctrine, nor do my associates.

"The copyright law gives an author or proprietor a monopoly of the sale of his writings for a definite period, but the grant of a monopoly implies that, after the monopoly has expired, the public shall be entitled ever afterwards to the unrestricted use of the book."

The plain truth is that G. & C. Merriam Co. have no more right to the name of Noah Webster than you have or I have or any one else has. I regret to have to use Merriams' name in an advertisement, but they have threatened the trade both by advertisements in this weekly and by circulars, and it is my desire to have you know the truth—not what they say. The three Rs are good in their place, but the three Bs (Bully, Brag and Bluster) never scared a real soldier or won a battle. THEY have made the money out of Webster's Dictionary for 60 years, and NOW, FOR THE FIRST TIME, THEY FACE GENUINE COMPETITION. Of course, they don't like it. I didn't suppose they would. But it might be well for them to bear in mind the story of the dog who was crossing a stream and thought he saw another dog with a bigger piece of meat. The application is obvious.

George W. Ogilvie's New Webster's Imperial Dictionary is now ready for delivery. It's a better dictionary than Webster's International for half its price. If not, your money back for the asking. Isn't that fair?

AMERICAN STANDARD Revised Bible

When this latest version of the Bible in the English language was published in August, 1901, it instantly received the highest praise from all competent critics. It has been pronounced by the religious press and by biblical scholars to be the Best Translation of the Scriptures Ever Published

This commendation has been not only hearty and sincere, but also wonderfully unanimous. The ones who were quickest to assert the superiority of this version were those authorities who may justly be considered the best qualified to express an opinion.

This American Standard Edition has now been tested in practical use for three years, and has steadily grown in popular favor.

THE TEACHERS' EDITION contains Concise Bible Dictionary and Combined Concordance entirely new and prepared especially to conform exactly with the wording of this version.

Besides publishing the American Standard Revised Bible in a large variety of sizes and bindings, we also publish over four hundred styles of the King James Version.

A Ladder of Swords

From "A Ladder of Swords"—Reduced.—Copyright, 1904, by Harper & Brothers.

GILBERT
PARKER

Author of "The Right of Way"

IN wholly different vein from the author's last novel, The Right of Way, comes this exquisite romance, delightful in conception, swift and compelling in interest, and written in the finished style of this great novelist. The story recounts the love of two Huguenot refugees, their fugitive life on the island of Jersey in the British Channel. Later, the scene changes to England, where exciting intrigue and startling situations in the palace of Queen Elizabeth result in repeated dangers for the faithful lovers, but they finally escape the hazardous favor of the great queen and are united. The scenes on the island of Jersey are of idyllic freshness and beauty, and in the Seigneur of Rozel, the lord of the island, the author has produced a character of delightful humor and braggadocio. It is a thoroughly rounded, satisfying story, written with brilliancy and charm of style.

NOTES IN SEASON.

E. J. CLODE, New York City, calls attention to "The Pillar of Light," by Louis Tracy, of which the scene is an English lighthouse where a charming love story is enacted in the midst of beautiful surroundings, varied by a mad Atlantic gale.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. announce the fourth American edition of Phillips Oppenheim's ingenious story of London life, entitled "Anna the Adventuress;" and the third edition of "The Wood-Carver of Lympus," by M. E.

Waller, one of those books which may be read over and over and are becoming more and more rare.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "A Ladder of Swords," by Gilbert Parker, author of "The Right of Way," which recounts the romance of two Huguenot refugees and their life on the Island of Jersey in the British Channel. Later the scene changes to England and exciting scenes in the palace of Queen Elizabeth are described with delightful humor.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING Co. have just ready "The Loves of Edwy," a novel by Cecil O'Neill Wilson, wife of Harry Leon Wilson, the successful author of "The Spenders." Mrs. Wilson has been known hitherto as an illustrator, her work often appearing in the columns of Puck, but it seems probable she will become fully as prominent as an author as she has been as an artist.

DODGE PUBLISHING Co. have in "Mother Stork's Baby Book" one of the publications that are always safe to lay in for the Christmas season, no matter in what section of the land a bookstore is located. It is beautified by illustrations and hand-colored pages by Albertine Randall Wheelan, and the thoughts of mothers are given in the words of R. L. Stevenson and Eugene Field. The paper has been selected with a view to make the mothers' entries add to the appearance of the book.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just ready an artistic volume devoted to "The Cathedrals of Southern France," by Francis Miltoun, illustrated with many graceful drawings and sketches by Blanche McManus and numerous maps; "The Green Diamond," a detective story, the opening scene of which is set in India at the time of the Great Durbar of 1902, by Arthur Morrison; and a pretty volume in the series Phyllis Field Friends by Lenore E. Mulets, in which "Stories of Little Animals" are told for little readers, with illustrations by Sophie Schneider.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will bring out immediately "Fergy the Guide, and His Moral and Instructive Lies About Beasts, Birds and Fishes," a most amusing and original book by H. S. Canfield. There have been a good many serious stories of animal intelligence that have stretched credulity pretty hard. These "lies" may prove almost as easy of belief, but also possessed of certain engaging freedom. Albert D. Blashfield, well known for his funny animal pictures in Life and elsewhere, contributes fifty sketches that aid in smashing the verities.

THE continued demand for E. F. Benson's new novel, "The Challoners," gives the publishers, J. B. Lippincott Company, reason to believe that its sales are to rival those of his famous "Dodo," and they have sent the book again to press. They also report that the interest in Russia has contributed to a largely increased demand for "Olive Latham," Mrs. Voynich's new novel, which, since its publication, has been one of the best selling books on the Lippincott list. They also report a revived interest in "A Daughter of the Snows," Jack London's story of the far North.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The story opens in the childhood of the three leading characters, whose lives seem to be inextricably interwoven. The father of the heroine "Jane" is an educated impecunious Irishman, whose amusing traits recall characters of Dickens. Jane and her artist lover "Jugger" are both beloved by "Edwy" who gives his name to the book. The love story is the central theme, with its misunderstanding and often tragic episodes.

A story of occultism. Marius who was met in the author's former story "In the sanctuary," is known here as the Magus Balthazar, having had conferred upon him the highest honors of the Order of the Magi. He is on a mission to America, preaching the spiritual life. A young priest comes to him for help and enlightenment and a young society girl. They love each other, but their love is made a means by the "Master" towards the highest spiritual plane. The author's religious views on philosophy are indicated through many conversations.

- Wilson, Harry Leon. The seeker; il. by Rose Cecil O'Neill. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1904. [Ag.] c. 7+341 p. D. cl., †$1.50.
The author of "The spenders" through his characters discusses the various forms of religion that have been accepted and outlived by the world. A whole-souled old Presbyterian grandfather in educating his orphan grandsons is agast at the effect produced by the dogmas he has held sacred upon the poetic, ideal nature of the one and the self-conscious, diplomatic nature of the other. The older boy refuses to become a minister in the Presbyterian church and joins the Protestant Episcopal body, becoming a fashionable rector. The younger wanders off to find a God and a satisfying faith. On his return he argues that all faith emanates from within and also accepts the doctrine of good works. He sacrifices himself for his brother's domestic happiness. The Episcopal rector finally goes over to the Roman church.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—J. Samuel Veal, president of the Rome (Ga.) Bookstore Company, will open up a book and stationery store in September. Mr. Veal expects to open other book stores in other places later on. His temporary address is 126 Monford Avenue, Asheville.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The Perine Book Company have removed to larger and more convenient quarters at 15 South Fifth Street. They intend to add stationery to their stock and a line of second-hand books. They will be pleased to have the latest catalogues and price lists.

NEW YORK CITY.—Dodge Publishing Company announce that A. M. Robertson, of San Francisco, well known to the trade as publisher of artistic books, has placed his Eastern business with them, and that they are prepared to show his preparations for the approaching holiday season. Both publishers make careful study of the taste of different localities, and make generous outlay to bring their books up to the highest standards.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Wm. C. Edwards, for many years with Scrantom, Wetmore & Co., and more recently in Portland, Me., has returned to Rochester, N. Y., where he will open early in September The Book-Hunter's Shop in Nos. 32 and 33 Triangle Building, for the sale of old and new books, fine bindings, etc. He wishes publishers' and dealers' catalogues and to have publishers' representatives call on him.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 27, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE "WEBSTER" CONTROVERSY.

NOAH WEBSTER will always be gratefully remembered in American literature for his double service both in his pioneer work in behalf of copyright and in that first dictionary of the American language which bore his name and the impress of his work. He did the notable thing of recognizing that the English language in America had a character of its own, partly in the development of new words, or, as in many "Yankeeisms," the preservation or resuscitation of old forms disused in the mother country, and partly in differences of orthography, as notably in the dropping of the u from honor and the like words. His "American" dictionary illustrated the tendency in America to conserve the old and good forms and to progress in the direction of phonetic spelling. Of his American spelling book, more than a million copies have been sold in a single year, and although its use is decreasing, it is still in vogue in many parts of the country. The modest volume of his American dictionary became the precursor of a remarkable series of dictionaries, large and small, comprehensive and condensed—the work, as scholarship grew and American literature extended, of succeeding editors and compilers, scholars who entered into the spirit of his work and continued its influence long after his life and his copyrights had expired. The Webster series, starting from this personal source, has of late years been in the hands of the G. & C. Merriam Co., of Springfield, Mass., and culminated in Webster's International, published in 1890. For years the Worcester dictionaries, published by the Lippincott house, were practically the only rival of the Webster series. Later the Century Dictionary, founded on John Ogilvie's Imperial English dictionary of 1850, (itself originally an expansion of Webster's early dictionary,) but broadened with all the resources of American scholarship into the greatest single dictionary of the English language yet completed, and the remarkable Standard Dictionary of Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls, have added to the reputation of American lexicography. The culminating triumph of English lexicography, the great historical dictionary of the Philological Society of England, edited by Dr. Murray and his associates, is yet many years from completion.

Besides this Webster series the name "Webster" has been used for certain dictionaries such as the school Websters published by the American Book Company, which are understood to be under arrangement with the Messrs. Merriam, and also for dictionaries in more or less opposition to the series issued by Messrs. Merriam and unauthorized by them. For the most part these have not attempted to compete with such monumental works as the Webster International Dictionary, but have filled a more modest field. The Merriam house has sought in several cases to restrain other publishers from using the title "Webster's Dictionary," and in some instances relief has been granted, not because of the use of the phrase "Webster's Dictionary" as an infringement of copyright, since the copyright of the original Webster's Dictionary expired generations ago and the earlier editions are perfectly open to reprint, but because the work complained of had the effect of deceiving the public by the unfair use of name or material, and was therefore contrary to equity.

The volume now issued by Geo. W. Ogilvie of Chicago, as Webster's Imperial Dictionary, is of a more ambitious nature, and revives the former controversy. The trade are entitled to be informed on the several aspects of this controversy, and it should be said frankly that the use of the word "Webster" is not in itself in contravention of copyright law. It is, however, meaningless, except as a catchword, on any dictionary which is not in continuation of and a part of the Webster series. If, however, the new work comprises and is built upon the material of the Webster's International Dictionary, there would seem to be claim under the copyright laws that such use of dictionary material within the period of the copyright of the Webster International would be an infringement of the copyright of that dictionary, not because of the use of the word "Webster's" but because of the use of the material, which, quite as much as the title, is the subject of copyright. The courts have shown an increasing tendency to protect copyrighted material, even though in altered form; and this point seems to be the crux of the present controversy. It is at least to be regretted that Mr. Ogilvie in publishing a dictionary of such importance as that which he is now pushing, had not chosen to let the work stand on its own merits, without confusing its origin by the use of the word "Webster." The trade will watch with interest the outcome of the litigation, in which Messrs. Merriam seem to be seeking to prove that Mr. Ogilvie has used material copyrighted by them, and in which Mr. Ogilvie is seeking in turn to restrain the Merriam company from interfering with the sale of his dictionary by raising in the trade fears of present or future interference with it.

THERE are persistent rumors within and without the trade of a contemplated amalgamation of the Appleton house with the Harper house—as to which, however, there is no authoritative statement. The rumor is based upon the facts that Mr. Wm. W. Appleton has become Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Appleton company, a more honorary and less active position than that of President; that two other members of the Appleton family have been retired from the Board of Directors; that Mr. J. M. Sears has become President, and Mr. Geo. S. Emery Second Vice-president, both of these gentlemen having been associated with the Harper house; and that Mr. Roy Mason, formerly of the Sun, has become advertising manager for the Appletons. It is understood that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan has in large measure financed both the Sun and the Harper house in recent years, and the new directorate of the Appleton corporation is thought to point in the same direction.

OBITUARY NOTES.

COLONEL PRENTISS INGRAHAM, of Chicago, said to have been the author of more than one thousand novels, is dead at Beauvoir, Miss., at the age of sixty years. Colonel Ingraham was born at Natchez, Tenn., and was the son of the Rev. Joseph H. Ingraham, who was the author of "A Prince of the House of David." He served in the Confederate army as colonel, and after the war began writing stories, which were published in various weekly papers and in book form. For years he turned out a novel every few weeks.

AN ANTHOLOGY OF IRISH LITERATURE.

A MONUMENTAL anthology, "Irish Literature," of which Dr. Justin McCarthy is editor-in-chief, with Dr. Douglas Hyde, Lady Gregory, Dr. Maurice F. Egan and J. Jeffrey Roche as associate editors, is to be one of the interesting results of the present "Celtic movement," or revival of Irish literature. The work will appear in ten volumes of four hundred and fifty pages each, with numerous illustrations in black and white and color, being published in this country by John D. Morris & Co., of Philadelphia. Its purpose is set forth by Dr. McCarthy as being "to give to the reading world a comprehensive, if only rapid, glance at the whole development of literary art in prose and poetry from the opening of Ireland's history." So many Irish writers are, in the popular mind, simply names in English literature, that this anthology will reveal to a surprising extent how great has been the influence of Ireland on English letters. The names of Swift, Goldsmith, Sterne, Knowles, Steele, Sheridan, Burke, Tyndall, Lefanu, Aubrey De Vere, Bernard Shaw, Lecky, Mahaffy, Richard Burton, James Bryce, are but a few that come to mind in this connection, aside from such distinctively Irish names as Moore, Lever, Lover, Edgeworth, Carleton and Boucicault. Charles Welsh is managing editor, and with his editorial associates has had the assistance of an advisory committee consisting of Stephen Gwynne, G. W. Russell, Standish O'Grady, John E. Redmond, D. J. O'Donoghue and Professor F. N. Robinson, of Harvard, who have selected the material to be included.

Articles on special departments of Irish literature will be contributed by the editors and by other chosen writers. Among them Charles Welsh will give "A Brief Glance at Irish History" and "Fairy and Folk Tales of Ireland;" W. B. Yeats will treat "Modern Irish Poetry;" Douglas Hyde, "Early Irish Literature;" Maurice Francis Egan, "Irish Novels;" D. J. O'Donoghue, "Irish Wit and Humor;" and Stephen Gwynne, "The Irish Literary Theatre." Brief biographical and critical sketches of each author represented in the anthology will accompany the extracts; there will be a glossary of Irish words and terms, and full and exhaustive indexes; the illustrations will include portraits and historic scenes and many facsimiles of illuminated manuscripts, old prints, etc. The tenth volume will be devoted to the Celtic language, containing brief biographies of ancient Celtic writers, translations from whose writings appear elsewhere in the work; many folk tales, ancient proverbs and songs, and stories and sketches by modern Irish writers, printed in Gaelic, with the English translation facing the text. It will be seen that the work possesses unusual interest, as the first complete survey of Irish life and letters—an encyclopædia of Irish thought, character and traditions; and it has been aptly said that its showing, as a whole, must be to present to many readers "a veritable expansion of Ireland, so many great names are involved for which England commonly gets all the glory."

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN STEVENS' INDEX TO ARCHIVES OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

It is stated that the "magnum opus" of the late Benjamin Franklin Stevens, "of Vermont"—his great handwritten index to the official papers bearing upon the American Revolution, contained in European archives—has been completed by the efforts of Mrs. Stevens and her late husband's partner, Henry John Brown, and that the final ten volumes have been placed in the binder's hands.

Benjamin Franklin Stevens during his long career as a London bookseller and importing agent, made the preparation of this index his special personal activity. For thirty years or more he and the twenty or more secretaries, whom he paid out of his own pocket, collected the necessary material. At the end of that time they had catalogued all the documents relating to the Revolution in the possession of the English Government, in the private collections of Great Britain, and in the official archives of Spain, France and Holland. There were something more than 161,000 items indexed in this way, and 180 folio volumes, of 500 pages each, to catalogue the character and location of every one. At first it had been hoped that the United States Government would subsidize the work, and later that when completed it would be purchased for the Library of Congress. A bill authorizing such purchases was introduced in the House, and favorably reported, but the matter then fell through, and Mr. Stevens made no attempt for other disposition of it, although he estimated that it had cost him about $100,000.

After Mr. Stevens' death, two years ago, it was decided to complete the index, the material having been left in an advanced state of preparation. The one hundred and eighty volumes, which are said to be written out in a "copperplate" handwriting, comprise three series, one, of fifty volumes, which gives the list of the European documents bearing upon the period treated, in the order in which the various documents appear in the different foreign archives; another, of one hundred volumes, which gives the papers in chronological order, with a minute description of each; and a third, of thirty volumes, which contains a list of the 161,000 items in alphabetical order, with, in most cases, the names of both writers and receivers in double entry.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

F. MARION CRAWFORD is spending the summer on his estate in Sorrento, having dispatched to his publishers the ms. of his new novel, "Whosoever Shall Offend." The story's scenes are laid in modern Rome and Sicily.

MRS. MEYNELL has undertaken to edit for Grant Richards's "Smaller Classics" a selection from the poems of Herbert, Crashaw, Vaughan and Treherne. It will probably appear under the title of "The Mystics," (seventeenth century.)

JACOB A. RIIS is spending the summer in Copenhagen, having finished correcting the proofs of his new book, "Is There a Santa Claus?" which will appear in the autumn with the Macmillan imprint. Some children wrote to ask him that question, and the book is his reply.

MISS ALICE FARWELL BROWN is summering at Isle au Haut, Me. A third edition has just been called for of her recent book, "In the Days of Giants." Another author who is visiting Maine is Clara Louise Burnham, who is at Bailey Island as usual. She has just finished a sequel to "Jewel," entitled "Jewel's Story Book," which is to appear this fall.

BOOTH TARKINGTON, author of "The Two Vanrevells" and "The Gentleman from Indiana," has returned to America after nearly a year's stay in Europe. He lived in Rome last winter, and has been spending most of the spring and summer in Paris. He will live next winter in New York, and expects to spend his time studying phases of political life and continuing the political stories which he has been writing for McClure's Magazine.

THE question of the identity of the "Billy," to whom Stewart Edward White dedicated his book, "The Forest," has at last been satisfactorily settled. A literary personal having stated that "Billy" was Mr. White's half-breed guide, its dictum has generally been accepted by readers. But his publishers now definitely announce that "Billy" was the author's special name for Miss Grant, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who is now Mrs. Stewart Edward White.

GELETT BURGESS spends his summer at Scituate, Mass. In a corner of an adjacent orchard he has built a little house composed entirely of packing cases. This building, which he has named the "Goop Hotel," consists of four rooms, two stories and a stairway, piazza, doors, and windows complete, the whole ground plan covering an area of only six by eight feet. The rooms are high enough for a child of four to stand erect, and the exploration of the residence, to an adult, is achieved with considerable difficulty. The upper chamber measures only three feet square, and here Mr. Burgess has spent hours of seclusion in writing. The house is an object of interest to children for miles about, and has been the scene of numerous tea parties.

JAANKOFF PRELOOKER, editor of The Anglo-Russian, a periodical published in London, is preparing the first novel dealing with events of the Russo-Japanese War. A Russian count, formerly adjutant of the Czar but now a leader of the revolutionary party, is the hero, and the heroine is an English girl of independent means, who has been trained as a nurse. Arrangements are being made for the simultaneous publication of the book in England and America. The author not long ago published a series of articles in the Russian language appealing to the Russian constitutional reformers to cease their internal dissensions and to unite for a common cause. He followed these up by a visit to the Continent, where he personally interviewed many of the Russian political leaders, and the inner life of the revolutionary movement, with the latest developments of which he has thus familiarized himself, forms the background of his romance.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Boston Investigator, which was founded by Abner Kneeland in 1831, and is said to be the oldest free thought or liberal newspaper in the world, has been consolidated with the New York Truth Seeker.

THE current Scottish Historical Review contains an article by A. H. Millar on "The Scottish Ancestors of President Roosevelt," and essays on "The Danish Ballads," by W. P. Ker; and on "The Mediæval Stage," by Mary Bateson.

THE September Century contains an article entitled "Hidden Egypt," by Mrs. Agnes Smith Lewis, of Cambridge, Mass., describing the adventures of herself and her sister, Mrs. Gibson, in a search for manuscripts among the Coptic monasteries of Egypt and Nitria, to which they were the first women ever admitted. Mrs. Lewis has made one of the greatest biblical discoveries of the nineteenth century—an ancient Syriac text of the four gospels.

THAT magazines occasionally indulge in a real newspaper "scoop" is shown by the enterprise of Leslie's Monthly Magazine in securing the exclusive story of the kidnapping and capture of Ion H. Perdicaris, told by himself, by getting into correspondence with Perdicaris by courier while he was still in the clutches of Raissuli, the Morocco bandit. The story, which is said to be well told and vitally interesting, will appear in the September number.

THE PROVIDENCE JOURNAL Co. have issued for private distribution "Half a Century with the Providence Journal," being a record of the events and associates connected with the past fifty years of the life of Henry R. Davis, secretary of the company. The Journal serves a wealthy and generous community and has championed many public movements. Its history and that of its several editors and many contributors, together with many portraits of great interest, make a most readable volume.

HENRY MILLS ALDEN on Tuesday, August 16, completed the thirty-fifth year of his editorship of Harper's Magazine, to which he was graduated from the editorship of Harper's Weekly, a position he had filled for six years. Mr. Alden began his life-work as a school teacher, later wrote editorials for The Evening Post and The New York Times during the administrations of William Cullen Bryant and Henry J. Raymond, and began his long connection with the house of Harper by editing for them "The Pictorial History of the Civil War."

THE September number of The World's Work is the first to be printed in Doubleday, Page & Co.'s own press rooms in their new building in East Sixteenth Street, New York. The difficulties under which the printing has heretofore been done have been great. The August number, for example, containing nearly 7,000,000 separate sheets was printed in three different places, bound in a fourth and much of the edition mailed in a fifth. Both Country Life in America and The World's Work manufacturing departments, it is hoped, will be fully installed in another month.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JOHN MURPHY Co. call attention to their very full list of Catholic Bibles and prayer-books in the "Trade List Annual" just issued.

THE EVERETT PRESS, Boston, will issue next week "Sequil," Judge Shute's continuation of "The Diary of a Real Boy," which is said to be full of genuine American humor.

RICHARD LE GALLIENNE'S new book, "Painted Shadows," will be published in the autumn by Little, Brown & Co., who recently brought out his "Love Letters of the King."

THE wide range of interest in Mrs. Wiggin's "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" is shown by the fact that it has just been added to the list of books for Crews' Libraries in the United States Navy.

BROADWAY PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York City, announce "Satan of the Modern World," by Edward Grattan Doyen; "The New Womanhood," by Winifred Harper Cooley; and "Lady Century," by Mrs. A. G. Kintzel.

ROBERT CLARKE COMPANY announce for early issue "The Crest of the Little Wolf," a tale of young Lovell and the Wars of the Roses, by Thomas D. Rhodes; and for October 1 "In-to the Yukon," by William Seymour Edwards.

ROHDE & HASKINS will issue during September "Toasts and Tributes," compiled by Arthur Gray, with decorations by G. W. Hood and title-page by H. C. Bamburgh, a very useful book for those often called upon to say the pleasant thing at festive gatherings.

J. B. HULST, 936 Fifth Avenue, Grand Rapids, Mich., has issued "Een Man des Volks," which is the life of Professor Geert Egbert Boer, compiled from his diaries and papers by Professor G. K. Henkes. He offers agents 25 per cent. and a free copy for every dozen sold.

L. S. DICKEY & Co. have just issued "Free America," by Bolton Hall, a son of the late Dr. John Hall, who has made law and real estate his life-work. He is impressed with the many dangers of our commercial system, and sounds a note of warning especially in the interests of business.

A RARE copy of the Kilmarnock edition of Burns's poems was sold at Sotheby's recently for £220. An autograph early draft of "The Brigs of Ayr" realized £169. A series of twenty-three letters from Browning to Alfred Domett, (the "Waring" of the poem,) fetched £150. A defective copy of the first Shakespeare folio was sold for £420.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on August 30 "The Hound of the North," a new novel by Ridgwell Cullom, author of "The Story of the Foss River Ranch." The scene of the story is laid in Canada and the Klondike, and it gives vivid descriptions of Canadian farming life. The author, who is at present living in London, has spent several years in the Northwestern part of Canada, and his own experiences are said to have furnished most of the brisk and stirring incidents, now utilized by him as literary "material."

THE GRAFTON PRESS announces that it has recently added a genealogical department, in charge of an expert genealogist of many years' experience. Among its publications of this nature, already issued or under way, are "The History of Ancient Wethersfield," by Dr. Henry R. Stiles; "A Biographical Memorial of Gen. Daniel Butterfield," "A Memorial of Benjamin Franklin Newcomer," "Register of the Colonial Dames of the State of New York," "The Ancestry of Leander H. Crall" and "The Life of Gen. Fitz John Porter."

THOMAS WHITTAKER announces for publication in September "Sermons on Social Subjects," delivered under the auspices of the Christian Social Union of London, and preached by prominent Church of England clergy identified with social and economic interests, including the Bishop of Rochester, Dean Stubbs of Ely, the Rev. Wilford J. Richmond, the Rev. J. Llanwellyn Davies and Canon Bristow. He has just issued King's "Classical and Foreign Quotations" in an entirely rewritten and up-to-date edition. The revision is so stringent the present edition is practically an entirely new book.

SILVER, BURDETT & Co. have among their newest and forthcoming books "The Elements of Geometry," by Walter N. Bush and John B. Clarke; "The Essentials of Algebra," by Rob. J. Aley and David A. Rothrock; "The Silver Song Series," by Leonard B. Marshall; "The Common Book of Vocal Music," an addition to the Modern Music Series by Eleanor Smith; "The Making of the Empire State," by Jacques W. Redway, in the Stories of the States Series; "An Introductory Physiology," by H. W. Conn, in the Standard Physiologist Series; and "Monday Morning Talks," by D. J. Herbert Phillips.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation for the early autumn three fine Riverside Press editions which will be welcomed by those able to indulge in the luxuries of book-buying. These comprise Boccaccio's "Life of Dante," translated by Philip H. Wicksteed, limited to 250 copies; "The Georgics of Virgil," translated by George W. Mackail, limited to 300 copies, and "Certain Sonnets," by Sir Philip Sidney, limited to 400 copies. To the same series belong the three folio volumes of Florio's "Montaigne," and the volumes of Ronsard, Petrarch, De Maistre, Southey, Lowell and others which have been issued in similar form.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co. announce for fall publication "The Island of Tranquil Delights," by Charles Warren Stoddard, with photogravure illustrations; Robert Louis Stevenson's "Story of a Lie" in twelvemo form and in their dainty series of Turner Reprints; "The Quincunx Case," a detective story, by William Dent Pitman; "Gabriel Praed's Castle," a story of an art fraud, by Alice Jones; "Professor Loodahl," from the Norwegian of Alexander Kielland, by Rebecca Blair Flandrau; "Piney Home," a story of the Maine woods by George Selwyn Kimball; and "Lyrics of Life and Love," by William Stanley Braithwaite.

W. C. & F. P. CHURCH have in press the new "Drill Regulations for Infantry," issued by the United States War Department, which will supersede the regulations now in use in the regular army, national guard and militia of the United States. It will be published, as the present drill has been published, in two editions, one containing the drill complete, precisely as issued by the Government. The other edition will contain the authorized drill with interpretations settling difficult questions that arise in the study of the drill. The latter volume, with interpretations, will be found indispensable to students of the drill, and it is well worth the small additional charge for it.

BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY are kept so busy turning out their great recent successes that they have no time to add new titles to their remarkable list of popular books. "The Castaway," Miss Rives's romantic story of Lord Byron's meteoric career; "The Yoke," Elizabeth Miller's scholarly story of the redeeming of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage; Lynde's "Grafters," Phillips's "The Cost," Miss Michelson's "In the Bishop's Carriage," and "Huldah," that sunshiny story of Texas by Alice MacGowan and Grace MacGowan Cooke, continue their satisfactory career in all parts of the land. A very rich list of juveniles for the holidays is also now ready for the trade.

MAYNARD, MERRILL & Co. have issued in their English Classic Series four of the most representative addresses of the late Henry W. Grady, edited by Edna Henry Lee Turpin. The collective title for the volume is "The New South, and Other Addresses," and it contains "The New South," delivered before the New England Club, New York, in 1886; "The South and Her Problems," before the State Fair, Dallas, Texas, in 1887; "At the Boston Banquet," before the Boston Merchants' Association, in 1889, and "Before the Bay State Club," in 1889. A biography of the orator, telling of his life, from his early attempts to run a country newspaper to his commanding position on the Atlanta Constitution, and as dictator of Georgia, forms the introduction.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION will reissue the original set of William Ellery Channing's works in six volumes, with an introduction by John W. Chadwick, and will also publish a selection from the works of Channing to be called "Discourses and Essays," the material to be reprinted under the general heads of "Social Questions," "The Religious Life" and "Controversial Theology." Other books in preparation are "The Wandering Heart," by David Starr Jordan; "John Gilley," the story of a Maine farmer and fisherman, by Charles W. Eliot; "Christianity and Religions of the World," by J. Edith Carpenter; "The Trinity and the Incarnation," by Richard A. Armstrong; "A Book of Daily Strength," compiled by W. D. Davis from well-known Unitarian writers; "The Supremacy of Jesus," by Joseph H. Crooker; and "Pillars of the Temple," by Minot J. Savage.

THE BRITISH MUSEUM "Return," or annual report, for the year ending March 31, 1904, records additions to the Department of Printed Books of 27,370 volumes and pamphlets, and 64,065 "parts of volumes or numbers of serial publications." As usual, record and brief description of the most important accessions in books, manuscripts, maps, etc., are given. Among these may be noted "Tukaio-li; or, The Two Fair Cousins, a Chinese novel from the French versions of M. Abel Remusat," published in London in 1827, in two volumes. The copy contains manuscript notes by Leigh Hunt and a few by Carlyle. Of Leigh Hunt's notes the following are quoted: "Finished the third regular reading of this curious and delightful book, September 18, 1837. L. H." "Finished my fourth reading with increased admiration and with gratitude for comfort in great distress, February 21, 1853. L. H." Does not this offer a hint to some publisher to include this "curious and delightful" book, wholly unknown to the present generation of readers, in some series of literary reprints?

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY is preparing a new edition of Dr. Edward Everett Hale's "Memories of a Hundred Years," which was so well received on its publication two years ago and is now out of print. The author has added three new chapters. One tells the story of his childhood, his boyhood, his and his brother Nathan's achievements as children, his school and college days, and his ministry at Worcester, Mass., dwelling especially upon the good causes of those days, including the Irish Immigration Movement and the Emigrant Aid Company in which Dr. Hale was especially interested. In "The History of Magazines" he tells about the starting and the early numbers of various magazines in which he was interested and about their editors. "Then and Now" is an attempt to present a contrast between the middle of the last century and 1904. In this chapter the author describes his journey from Boston to Washington in 1844, which was achieved in thirteen days and involved twenty-eight changes of carriage. The new edition will contain all the illustrations in the original issue. It will appear late next month.

AMONG useful tools for students, or for serious readers, is the blank book devised by Melvin Hix and published by Hinds, Noble & Eldredge, in which may be recorded "A Brief Outline of the Books I Have Read." The sixty-one pages contain separate sets of questions for fiction and the drama, for the essay and for lyric poetry—in all twenty-five descriptions can be written into the book. Under the heading "Fiction, Narrative Poetry and the Drama," spaces are left for the title of the book, its author, the dates of his birth and death, the time and scene of the story, principal and subordinate characters, preliminary events, "climax," concluding events, quotations, author's style, remarks, and the date of reading; under "The Essay and the Oration" are spaces marked for the title, name of author, dates of his birth and death, occasion which called forth the essay, the author's purpose, point of view, introductory arguments, conclusions, style, quotations, remarks, and when read; and under "Lyric Poetry" can be written the title, name of author, dates of his birth and death, kind of lyric, prevailing foot and line, rhyme scheme, stanza, introduction, central theme, secondary theme, conclusion, style, diction, etc., quotations, remarks, and when read. At the beginning of the volume spaces are given for the titles of the books, which are to form the "table of contents."

FOX, DUFFIELD & Co. will publish at once "The Blue Grass Cook Book," by Minnie C. Fox, with an introduction by John Fox, Jr., in which are given over six hundred recipes famous among Southern housekeepers, many of which, although tried favorites in Virginia and Kentucky kitchens, have never before been made public; "Misrepresentative Men," by Col. D. Streamer, who has followed his "Ruthless Rhymes" with a series of amusing verses on the celebrities of the world, from Adam to Roosevelt; and "The Fusser's Book," a manual of witty and satirical advice for "ladies' men," by Anna Archbald and Georgina Jones, whose epigrams in "The Fusser's Calendar" are pleasantly remembered. All the books mentioned are fully and characteristically illustrated. They announce also a reprint of that charming American classic, St. John Crevecoeur's "Letters from an American Farmer," edited by W. P. Trent, of Columbia, with an appendix containing hitherto unpublished letters from Crevecoeur to Benjamin Franklin; "Crozier's General Armory," a record of nearly two thousand American families entitled to coat armor, edited by William Armstrong Crozier; and the first volume of the transcription and reprint of "Virginia County Records," devoted to abstracts of wills, deeds, marriage license bonds, lists of Revolutionary soldiers, and like documents, of Spotsylvania County, this work, with the Crozier volume, being published by arrangement with the Genealogical Society.

A. S. BARNES & COMPANY announce a long list of books for publication during the early fall. In fiction they will issue "The President," by Alfred Henry Lewis, to be uniform with his very successful story, "The Boss;" "A Captain in the Ranks," by George Cary Eggleston; and "The Pagan's Progress," by Gouverneur Morris. In history there will be a new revised edition in two volumes of "Barnes' Popular History of the United States;" a new edition of "Battles of the American Revolution," by Brig.-Gen. H. B. Carrington; and a new volume in the Trail Makers' Series devoted to "The Journey of De Soto from Florida to the Mississippi River," told by the Gentleman of Elvas and other contemporaries, edited and introduced by Edward G. Bourne, of Yale University. To the Woman's Home Library, edited by Margaret E. Sangster, will be added "Beauty Through Hygiene," by Dr. Emma E. Walker; "House and Home," by M. E. Carter; "The Courtesies," a handbook of etiquette, by Eleanor B. Clapp; and "Correct Writing and Speaking," by Mary A. Jordan, of Smith College; and in the Lives of the Great Writers' Series the new volumes will be "In the Days of Chaucer;" and "In the Days of Shakespeare," both by Tudor Jenks. The juveniles will come a little later, and will include "The Search," a story of the old frontier, by E. P. Weaver; "The Three Prisoners," a story of the Civil War, by William Henry Shelton; and "The Island Camp," by Captain Bonehill, the opening volume of the Field and Forest Series.

A. C. McCLURG & Co have a promising array of books in readiness for the fall season. Their numerous valuable reprints of historical annals of the West will be increased by the reprint of Lahontan's "New Voyages to North America," following exactly the English edition of 1703, with introduction, notes and analytical index by Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites; and "Gass's Journal of the Lewis and Clark Expedition," reprinted from the edition of 1811, with an introduction by Dr. James K. Hosmer. "A Short History of Oregon," compiled by Sidona V. Johnson, gives a compact record of the state, from the discoveries of Lewis and Clark to the present day; and N. Dwight Harris has a thoughtful contribution to our political literature in his "History of Negro Servitude in Illinois and of the Slavery Agitation in That State, 1719-1864." Randall Parrish's new novel, "My Lady of the North;" Clarence S. Darrow's "Farmington," chronicling boyhood memories of a Pennsylvania town; and "Florence in the Poetry of the Brownings," in which the poems of Robert and Elizabeth Browning dealing with Florence have been collected by Anna B. McMahan, are likely to appeal to many readers; while for the children there are half a dozen new books—"Life Stories for Young People," giving in attractive separate volumes biographical romances of famous people; "In Search of the Okapi," a stirring tale of Central African adventure by Ernest Glanville; "The Little Giant, and Other Wonder Tales," by Thomas Dunn English; "The Wandering Twins," telling of children's adventures in Labrador, by Mary Bouchier Sanford; and "When Little Boys Sing," with words, pictures and music by John and Rue Carpenter.

PICK-UPS.

MR. CHESTERTON'S advice to Hall Caine, that he restrict his literary atmosphere to the Isle of Man, brings a metrical retort from a writer in the London Chronicle signing himself H. G.:

Hall Caine, attend! Expect no thanks
For painting "Christians" and the Pope;
Confine yourself to matters Manx—
Your island gives sufficient scope.

Corelli, cannot Avon's stream
Content your soul, but you must be Indulging in the zealous scream
'Gainst clerics and society?

Great Rider Haggard, why, alas!
At doggy horrors make us dance?
Remember old Umslopogaas,
And get to business with romance!

And Chesterton! (the moral fits)
Do not forget, whenever you write,
To knock an argument to bits
By plainly proving black is white.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

EW In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word (Cash).

EW Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THE FOREST

wherein Stewart Edward White imparts the secret—how to win warmth, shelter and food in the wildwood, and that without the aid of an overburdensome pack. These confidences of a thousand-mile canoe trip through Canada are fascinating as any novel.

THE SILENT PLACES

Mr. White's last published book is the story of a far northern man-hunt. It has been continuously in the forefront of "best sellers."

THE BLAZED TRAIL

the stirring lumbering-camp novel, that made Mr. White's fame, is still in steady demand. It is now in its eighteenth edition.

THE MOUNTAINS

will be ready in the fall. It is a book for every nature-lover, and especially for every one who has travelled the wild West, no alkali plain or snowy peak. The record of a trip through the Sierra Nevadas is made to yield invaluable camping information.

*Each Book is illustrated; The Silent Places, in color.
Each is $1.50; The Forest and The Mountains are net.*

Holding Back the Advertising

IT seems to me ill-advised to ask book-readers to buy THE PILLAR OF LIGHT in the dog days. Summer days pass so quickly that I am willing to wait. This fall, when the newspaper advertising campaign begins, I shall remind the book-readers about Louis Tracy's last great story, THE PILLAR OF LIGHT.

However, any one who wants a good story on a hot day ought to be delighted with "THE PILLAR." Tracy chooses an English light-house for the scene of his latest book and describes in his peculiarly brilliant style a mad Atlantic gale. He fairly makes one hear the wind. And he tells a charming love story too.

DICTIONARY TALK

The time has gone by when past success is considered an element of strength. In this day and age, what your grandfather did counts for far less than what you can do yourself.

FOR INSTANCE—I believe that my grandfather was a sawyer in the little town of Kerriemuir (J. M. Barrie's "Thrums"), Scotland. I too am a sawyer—that is, I have "sawed wood" and published the best Webster's Dictionary that the world has ever seen. I CALL IT WEBSTER'S IMPERIAL DICTIONARY. Better than the "Unabridged"? says an old fogy—Pshaw—why the "Unabridged" is 40 years old. "Better than the International?" says another Rip Van Winkle. Well, he's been asleep for fourteen years—for it's 14 years since the International made its appearance.

DON'T BE AN OLD FOGY. Keep pace with your day and generation. The man who doesn't is giving himself a handicap that the genius of an Edison can't overcome.

GET ABOARD.—Send for a stock of Webster's Imperial or a single copy—examination convinces.

Compare them all and the owners of Webster's Imperial will "bear away the palm" to such an extent that it will look like a procession leaving the Cathedral on Palm Sunday.

OLD AGE, YOUTH AND FROM A TO Z A COMPARISON

Webster's Unabridged, 1545 Pages,
Retail, any old price, aged 40 years.

Published by G. & C. Merriam Co.—but they seem to be ashamed to put their imprint on the title page (and justly so)—because the imprint is "PUBLISHED FOR THE TRADE."

Webster's International, 1681 Pages,
Retail, $10.00, aged 14 years.

Webster's Imperial Dictionary contains 1956 pages from A to Z, Retails for $5.00. Although born as recently as Aug. 8, 1904, it's a very husky youth.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS UNDER THE FLAG

"In times of danger and duty, the writer endeavored to do the work set before him without fear of consequences. With this thought in mind, he has felt moved, as a duty to his wife, his children and his name, to leave a record of his long professional life, which has not been without some prestige, at least for the flag he has loved and under which he has served the best years of his life."

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN

Author of "Barlasch of the Guard," etc.

THIS story, which will stand with the finest that have come from his pen, was completed some months before the author's death. It deals with an attempt upon the French throne during the Presidency of the man who afterward became Napoleon III. The period was romantic to a high degree. Many Royalists still believed that the son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette did not die in the Temple, and the author shows great ingenuity in connecting him with a mysterious French waif who, at the time of the Dauphin's supposed escape, had been picked up adrift off the coast of France, and brought up in an English fishing village. It is the son of this waif, a young fisherman with features of striking resemblance to the Bourbon type, who, eagerly accepted by Royalists as the heir to the throne of France, is the hero of this exciting tale.

A Ladder of Swords

By GILBERT PARKER

Author of "The Right of Way"

IN a wholly different vein from the author's last novel, "The Right of Way," comes this exquisite romance, delightful in conception, swift and compelling in interest, and written in the finished style of this great novelist. The story recounts the love of two Huguenot refugees, and their fugitive life on the Island of Jersey in the British Channel. Later the scene changes to England, where exciting intrigue and startling situations in the palace of Queen Elizabeth result in repeated dangers for the faithful lovers, but they finally escape the hazardous favor of the great queen and are united. The scenes on the Island of Jersey are of idyllic freshness and beauty and in the Seigneur of Rozel, the lord of the island, the author has produced a character of delightful humor and braggadocio. It is a thoroughly rounded satisfying story, written with brilliancy and charm of style. Illustrated by the Kinneys. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

By J. J. BELL

Author of "Wee Macgregor"

A NEW story in Scotch dialect that will rank with the popular Wee Macgregor stories in originality, humor, and charm. Jess is a sweet Scotch lassie, newly married to a sturdy happy-go-lucky young fellow. Various members of the little village community are eager to offer their advice to the young couple. All the village characters are highly amusing types, and their gossip abounds in the same dry humor and keen repartee which marked the author's success in Wee Macgregor. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

Josephine

By ELLEN DOUGLAS DELAND

Author of "Oakleigh."

THIS is the story of two little girls named Jo. and Georgie, who, coming to live with their cousins, create consternation in the family because they are girls and not boys as their names would indicate. But they bravely win their way into the hearts of their relatives and many interesting adventures follow. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

ETHEL FRANKLIN BETTS

200 Pages, 7½ x 9¾ Inches, Cloth

$1.50 net

A DELIGHTFUL book made from a popular play. Thousands of children and their parents have enjoyed the beautiful spectacle of "Babes in Toyland" on the stage, and every one of them will want this volume. The story is excellently told and the pictures beautifully drawn. There are eight of these in color, full pages, and many in black and white, by Miss Betts, a pupil of Howard Pyle. The whole combination—the play, the story, the pictures, the publishers' make-up—has the unmistakable sign of a "good seller."

NOTES IN SEASON.

DODGE PUBLISHING Co. will publish on Sept. 15 "A Cynic's Meditations," a volume of keen and witty epigrams by Walter Pulitzer, nephew of the editor of the New York World. These trenchant sayings touch upon many of the experiences and questions of every day life, and abound in satirical philosophy as well as in humor. The book will be bound in parchment, printed in colors, and will have twelve illustrations by Seddie Aspell.

G. E. STECHERT has just published an "anastatic reprint" of J. Bass Mullinger's important monograph on "The Schools of Charles the Great and the Restoration of Education in the Ninth Century," first published in 1877; and has in preparation a similar reprint of Bradley's "Ethical Studies." Both these works have been out of print and scarce for a number of years, bringing high prices in the second-hand market, and are in constant demand by scholars. The reprints are made by a chemical process. The change of name of the firm to G. E. Stechert & Co. is announced.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish on the 16th inst. Admiral Schley's own story of "Forty-five Years Under the Flag," telling of his long service in the United States Navy, and the experiences that have come to him in time of danger and in the course of duty. The volume is not only of great personal interest, but will have special value as an important contribution to our naval annals and especially to the "chapter of history" dealing with the Spanish-American war. This firm will hereafter publish Robert Chambers's new books, of which the first to be announced is "The New Yorker"—the third in Mr. Chambers's series devoted to the American Revolution. "The New Yorker" deals mainly with life in New York City during the closing years of the Revolution, when the Tories were in full control and the horrors of the prison ships were enacted. In one of the chapters Mr. Chambers describes the death of a character already famous in his stories—Captain Walter Butler. "The New Yorker," before publication in book form, will be issued as a serial.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on September 8 "The Castle Comedy," a story of love and adventure by a new writer, Thompson Buchanan, a young Kentuckian. The scenes are laid in England in the time of the great Napoleon, and the hero is a dashing young officer, half French, half English, distinguished for his dare-devil exploits and adventurous spirit. Disguised as a dancing-master, he enters the home of his English relatives, and there ensues a series of lively escapades in which a beautiful cousin of the hero figures. On the same date they will publish "The Georgians," Will N. Harben's new novel of Southern life, in which the shrewd, kindly "Abner Daniel" again figures; and "Imperator and Rex," a character study of Emperor William of Germany, by the well-known author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress." A holiday edition of Will Carleton's familiar poem, "Over the Hill to the Poor-house," is in preparation. This firm recently received an order from the War Department for a large edition of their "Encyclopædia of United States History," and an edition of President Woodrow Wilson's "History of the American People." The order specifies that these books are for the Civil Government of the Philippine Archipelago, for the use of the schools there.

"The letters which never reached him" were addressed to an American who was killed in the Chinese Boxer attack at Peking. They are dated from August, 1899, to August, 1900. The writer, whose name is withheld, is likewise an American. Her letters are largely descriptions of the persons she came in contact with and the events of her life while travelling on the Continent. They contain also her personal impressions of the topics of the day and were evidently written for a very dear friend. Although the correspondence was originally published in German, the present edition is not a translation, but was rewritten in English by the author, who is now dead. The volume is a memorial.

At Delhi, during the Great Durbar of 1902, an enormous diamond of fabulous price is mysteriously stolen from the tent of an Indian Rajah. It is known as "the eye of Goona," and is of a beautiful green tint. It is supposed to have been hidden by the thief in one of a dozen magnums of imperial Tokay sent to England. By a mistake the Tokay is sold, before the jewel is abstracted, and it is the hunt for each individual magnum that makes the story, which, though often amusing, is one also of crime and strange mystery.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 3, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BERNE COPYRIGHT BUREAU.

THE central office established at Berne in connection with international copyrights has become, as will be seen from the summary of its annual report printed elsewhere, an international bureau centralizing the several relations of publishers in the different countries. This function is an evolution from its original purpose and may prove to be of very large importance; for the wide world is now so narrow, the ties between nations are now so close, that in publishing, as in other relations, much is to be learned and much progress is to be hoped for from comparison of facts and co-operation of purpose.

Few countries are now without trade associations in the publishing business, although, strangely enough, this has been one of the latest trades to be so organized. The Berne Bureau is seeking to bring all these associations into touch and to provide for consideration and report upon the various themes that interest publishers. How wide this range is will be recognized in carefully reading the report.

It is to be regretted that in the United States, since the lapse of the old American Book Trade Association, there has been no comprehensive organization representing the entire trade, or even the general interests of publishers. The American Publishers' Association was organized primarily in connection with the net price system and it has kept itself closely to that line, so that it fails to cover the field of a general publishers' organization.

Partly for this lack of trade organization the American book exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition compares unfavorably with that of France and other foreign countries, being simply the individual exhibits of a minority of publishers. It is to be hoped that one result of the enkindling of a broader trade spirit throughout the world may be the broadening of our own Publishers' Association until it assumes the function of a general trade association covering the interests of book publishers.

The postponement until 1906 of the International Conference to be held at Milan gives opportunity, as the report indicates, for careful and comprehensive advance work, and American publishers should do their share in preparing for representation and co-operation in that conference. It is to be hoped that before that time some progress may be made in bringing our own copyright law into closer conformity with the practice of other civilized nations, and that this may be a first step toward adhesion by this country to the Berne Convention.

AN abuse of the net system is pointed out very fairly and moderately by the correspondent whose letter is printed in this issue. The purpose of the "net price" system is to make a uniform and fair price to the final purchaser of a book, and thus to give the dealer fair return for his investment and labor. In college and university towns it is especially desirable that there should be a good, well-equipped and well-stocked book store. Educational and other publishers have been in the habit of supplying colleges and universities who buy books in quantities, on the same terms as dealers, and when the college or university invests its money and keeps books in stock, there is a logical argument for this treatment, but if such an institution is thus to join the book trade it must be held subject to book trade practice, and certainly it is not fair that a local dealer should be prohibited from making to bookbuyers as low a price as an institution which is doing a rival business is able to make. It is desirable that the price of educational books should be as low as possible, both in the interests of education and of the book trade itself, but a book dealer should certainly not be placed at a disadvantage in comparison with an institution, which if it invests money in buying books and keeps up machinery for their distribution, is simply running a competition with the local dealer by using for trade purposes money given to it for purposes of education.

REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF THE INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF PUBLISHERS.

THE Berne Bureau, or Permanent Office, of the International Congress of Publishers has sent out a summary report of the work of its third year, ending June 30, 1904. The report, which is signed by M. Morel, "provisory administrator" of the Permanent Office, reviews various activities continued or newly begun dealing with publishers' interests in many different countries, and gives evidence of the advance of centralized effort for extension of copyright and improved publishing conditions.

During the period covered the Bureau has given less attention than during the two previous years to the routine details of sending out official circulars and announcements, but has directed its energies chiefly to the questions of maintenance of the published price of books, professional booksellers' schools, national bibliographies, and the different questions relating to copyright. The fact that the Milan session of the Congress has been deferred until 1906 has made it impracticable to conclude the investigations of these questions, as during the two years before the fifth session is held the status of these matters may be changed in some countries at least, so that investigations concluded now would be incomplete by the time the Congress is held.

Besides these activities, the Bureau has frequently been applied to for consultation and information on points of interest to publishers in all countries. It has also formed connections with the publishers of Roumania, a country which has not yet joined the Congress, through the "Société Generale des Patrons Libraires de Roumanie," recently organized in that country.

It has become more and more evident that the chief purpose of the Permanent Office consists in being a centre of information and permanent communication between the associations of the different countries, and in insuring the carrying out of the resolutions passed at the different sessions of the Congress. The more fully the affiliated associations come to regard the Bureau as a central international inquiry office the stronger will be its usefulness in that direction.

The principal items of the work done by the Bureau during the year, in matters of copyright, publishers' interests, and the book-trade were as follows:

COPYRIGHT QUESTIONS.

Joining the Union. A letter was addressed to the Swedish Government, urging it to join the Berne Convention, with result that on July 8 notice of its adhesion thereto was dispatched to the Swiss Federal Council, Sweden having thus followed the example of the other two Scandinavian countries. Effort to induce Cuba to join the Union was made through the "Syndicat des Sociétés pour la protection littéraire et artistique internationale," which was urged to ask the French government to take steps in the matter. On request of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland, investigation was made of steps which might be taken to improve the situation of foreign authors and publishers in Egypt; and the Bureau reported its opinion that present circumstances, especially the Anglo-French agreement, seemed favorable for attempts to effect an understanding with the powers that should allow Egypt to join the Berne Convention and frame copyright laws. From the Mexican government an inquiry regarding the bases of the Berne Convention was received, which was transmitted to and answered by the International Bureau of Literary and Artistic Property.

Revision of the Convention. A memorandum of the desiderata for a draft to be prepared with a view to a revision of the Convention was sent on request to the Börsenverein at Leipzig.

German-American Literary Agreement. A note was sent, on request, to the Börsenverein, stating the effect upon German works in the United States, in case the "agreement on intellectual property" existing between Germany and the United States were to be terminated.

Copyright Music. Correspondence was carried on with the Chambre Syndicale des Editeurs de Musique and M. Brunetière, at Paris, Messrs. Djuvara at Bucharest, Sokolis at Athens, and the Verein des Deutschen Musikalienhändler zu Leipzig, to the end that the best and most efficacious means might be found to fight musical piracies in Greece, Holland and Roumania, and to induce those countries to join the Berne Convention. Marked advancement toward the end desired has been made in Roumania. A circular was issued on this subject to the National Association of Music Dealers and Publishers, stating how foreign composers and publishers are at present situated in this respect in the countries mentioned and in Egypt.

Protection in the United States of foreign works written in another language than English. At the request of President Brockhaus the Bureau sent the publishers' associations a copy of the American bill of December 9, 1903, which treats of the protection granted in the United States to foreign works written in another language than English. The Bureau at the same time requested the associations to let Mr. G. H. Putnam, secretary of the American Publishers' Copyright League, know their opinion on the subject of that bill and to send to the Permanent Bureau a copy of their letters.

The following associations have responded:

The Stuttgarter Verlegerverein sent the Bureau a copy of their letter to Mr. Putnam. They state that the new bill offers no advantages worth speaking of, the unfavorable position into which German works are put by the United States is in no way modified, and Germany would have to terminate its agreement with the United States as long as the manufacturing clause should be in force.

The Leipziger Verlegerverein sent simple acknowledgment of receipt, with request for an English copy of the bill.

The Society of Hungarian Booksellers sent a copy of their letter to Mr. Putnam; it states that they look upon this bill as a first step towards a better protection of foreign works in the United States.

The Society of Norwegian Publishers made simple acknowledgment of receipt.

The Society of Dutch Publishers sent a copy of their letter to Mr. Putnam. They consider the amendment favorable to Dutch authors and hope that the Congress will adopt it.

The Syndicat des Sociétés littéraires et artistiques pour la protection de la propriété intellectuelle at Paris sent acknowledgment of receipt.

The Publishers' Association of Great Britain and Ireland stated that they had examined the bill and regarded it as superfluous to express their opinion to Mr. Putnam, as he was already acquainted with their views.

QUESTIONS CONCERNING PUBLISHING AND THE BOOKTRADE.

Professional booksellers' schools. The Bureau has finished its investigation of that question and prepared a report on actual conditions in the different countries.

Maintenance of the published price. The Bureau has drawn up a report on that question, according to information obtained from the various associations and their organs.

National bibliographies. The Bureau has been making inquiries of the associations and has begun to arrange the answers in a report. Almost every association has given the required information.

Mechanical musical instruments. The Verein der Deutschen Musikalienhaendler zu Leipzig having asked the Bureau how this question could be solved and by what means publishers could contend with the manufacturers of mechanical musical instruments, the Bureau has invited the Verein to bring the matter before the convention authorities, in order that it may appear as a topic on the order of the day of the next conference at Berlin.

RESOLUTIONS TO BE EXAMINED.

7. 8. 9. 34. Systematic classification of booksellers' catalogues. The committee will perhaps think it expedient to appoint at their next meeting a commission to prepare proposals for the Milan Session.

52. Localised editions. 82-84. Territorial subdivision of musical copyright. The Bureau will shortly attend to the carrying out of these resolutions.

53. Interchange of documents between the different publishers' associations. The Bureau will ask the associations if they would find it convenient to send a certain number of copies of their statutes, regulations and other documents to the Bureau for distribution among the associations.

66. More complete protection of copyright in educational works. It would be well to ask the committee of the Congress at Milan to charge a competent publisher with the preparation of a report on this question.

109-112. Technical libraries. To be carried out.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR: There is one abuse that we should like to have you take up in your columns, i.e., the practice of publishers to sell their books to schools and universities at as low or a lower price than to the trade. This is quite commonly done because the orders are so large. The trouble comes from their placing no restrictions as to the selling price, so that the pupils obtain the books often at a price lower than the retail dealer.

If the restrictions are made, they are disregarded, for we have had several instances brought to our attention within this month. This is in many respects worse for the dealer than the cutting of prices by department stores; for the standing of a State university is so high that the reduction is looked upon as no breaking of trade faith, but as the real price. When the pupil, having become a teacher, goes to a dealer for the same reduction, his disclaimer of ability to make it on a net book is considered extortion in the face of actual past experience.

The woman who buys one cut-rate book at a department store understands that it is a cut-rate, and she is not likely to develop into a steady buyer, as is the pupil of a normal school or university.

Of course dealers in special lines and in special localities suffer from this more than the general dealer, but if others have had an experience like ours, we think you will find interested readers of a ventilation of the subject. M. B.

P. S.—We know "there are others," for only this morning a customer from a university city in another State told us how she had to pay $3 net for a zoology that she could have bought at the university for $2.50, but wishing to give her usual dealer the benefit of the sale, found he was held to the net rate.

OBITUARY NOTES.

DR. WILLIAM RICE PRYOR, one of the most eminent practitioners of obstetrics and gynecology in the United States, died in New York City on the 26th inst., aged forty-six years. Among his best known professional works are "Text-Book of American Gynecology," 1896; "Pelvic Inflammations," 1900; and "Text-Book of Gynecology," 1903.

THE VERY REV. SAMUEL REYNOLDS HOLE, dean of Rochester since 1887, died on the 27th inst. at Rochester. Dr. Hole was born on December 5, 1819, was graduated from Brasenose College, Oxford, in 1844, and was ordained the same year. While he had great force and magnetism as a preacher, yet for twenty years or more after his ordination he was chiefly known to the public as the author of "A Book About Roses: How to Grow and Show Them." His first work was a book entitled "A Little Tour in Ireland, by an Oxonian," with illustrations by John Leech. It appeared in 1859. In 1872 he produced a book on gardening called "The Six of Spades." His "Recollections," published about ten years ago, had a large circulation in this country. Dean Hole visited the United States about ten years ago, and preached in several cities. He also delivered a number of lectures at Harvard University.

N. R. MONACHESE, well known throughout the book and stationery trade, died of pneumonia on August 17. Mr. Monachesi was born in Philadelphia, but came to New York in his young manhood and began his business life in this city in connection with F. Leyboldt, afterwards the founder of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, with which Mr. Monachesi was also connected for many years. Later he joined the staff of The American Bookseller, and was connected with it for the best part of his life and at one time was its manager. Recently he was literary and advertising manager of the literary department of the New York World, and at the time of his death was working especially for The Book and Newsdealer. Mr. Monachesi had special qualifications for making friends, and was at all times a most favored advertising agent among the publishers and stationers. His sickness was very short and his death sudden and unexpected.

PROFESSOR CHARLES WOODRUFF SHIELDS, for many years a member of the faculty of Princeton University, died suddenly at his summer home at Newport, R. I., on the 26th inst. Professor Shields was born in New Albany, Ind., on April 4, 1825, and was graduated from Princeton in 1844, afterward taking a four years' course at Princeton Theological Seminary. He became pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Hempstead, L. I., in 1849, and in the following year took charge of the Second Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia. In 1865 he was appointed to the chair of harmony of science and revealed religion in the philosophical department of Princeton College, and he held this post until the time of his death, despite the fact that in the latter part of 1898 he was ordained as a minister of the Protestant Episcopal Church. His retirement from the Presbyterian Church was voluntary, and was made mainly as a protest against the stricter tenets of some of its followers. For many years Professor Shields advocated the principles of church unity, and he maintained in his writings that the historic churches of the Reformation, such as the Lutheran, the Reformed, the Presbyterian, and the Protestant Episcopal, were generally more or less normal portions of the Catholic and Apostolic Church, and should be reunited in this country. Among his books are "Religion and Science in Relation to Philosophy," "Philosophia Ultima," "The Order of the Sciences," "Essays on Christian Unity; the Historic Episcopate," "The Presbyterian Book of Common Prayer," "The United Church of the United States," "The Reformer of Geneva," and "The Scientific Evidences of Revealed Religion."

PERSONAL NOTES.

THE many friends of H. B. Burrows, vice-president of the Burrows Brothers Company, of Cleveland, O., will be pleased to know of his appointment as one of the international jurors of award on stationery and allied lines at the St. Louis Exposition.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE September Critic contains the first instalment of a serial by the late Laurence Hutton, entitled "The Literary Life," being reminiscent and autobiographical, with interesting portrayal of Hutton's boyhood and first literary ventures.

THE September Cosmopolitan is a World's Fair number, with twenty-four articles describing the chief features of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. Each of the twenty-four articles bears the signature of John B. Walker—a striking example of "all round" editorship.

THOMAS F. MILLARD, the representative of Scribner's Magazine in the Far East on the Russian side, will contribute to the October number of the magazine his first article on the Russo-Japanese war from the Muscovite point of view. Mr. Millard will be recalled as the writer of articles about the Boer war from the Boer side.

In the World's Work for September Churchill Williams discusses the case of "Novels Versus Other Books," from information furnished by "fifteen of the largest booksellers in different parts of the country, and six of the big libraries." His conclusions are that while the demand for novels shows no diminution the demand for books other than fiction is growing more rapidly than may be explained by the normal increase of readers. There is a constantly increasing stream of new readers—people who have never been users of books and who read with the practical aims of self-education or greater efficiency in their work; besides a growing demand for "nature" books, biography, history and science. He predicts that "we are likely to have a great serving-up of books on history, biography, economics, sociology and nature, all seasoned and garnished for the delectation of literary palates."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ALEXANDER AGASSIZ, the celebrated scientist, of Cambridge, Mass., has been elected president of the International Zoological Congress, now in session at Berne, Switzerland.

MISS MARGARET NOBLE, better known as Sister Nivedita, the author of "The Web of Indian Life," is in this country, as one of the speakers at the Peace Congress. She is an Irish woman who has long lived with the Hindus.

DEAN BRIGGS, of Harvard and Radcliffe, while at his summer home at Plymouth, Mass., is putting the finishing touches on a new volume of essays entitled "Routine and Ideals," written somewhat on the same lines as his "School, College and Character."

KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN's childhood was spent in Maine, where she has made her summer home for many years. This summer the Pine Tree State honored its foster daughter through its famous old college, Bowdoin, which conferred on her the degree of Litt.D., in acknowledgment of her literary achievements.

DR. HENRY C. ROWLAND, the author of "To Windward" has just made the trip down the coast from New York to Old Point Comfort in his twenty-five foot sloop, The Celeste, with his sixteen-year-old brother acting as first mate. It has been considered an exceedingly dangerous run for small boats, as there are no practicable harbors in case of heavy weather, but Dr. Rowland reports that he has had no pleasanter, easier cruise in his experience. He will make his winter home at Hampton, Va., and the cruise was undertaken as the simplest way of taking his boat down.

MRS. FLORENCE MAYBRICK, who was recently released from serving a life sentence and is now in this country, is said to have spent much of her time in prison in the preparation of a paper on prison life in England. In this paper she discusses prison reform, the segregation of habitual criminals from first offenders, and the isolation of persons known to be afflicted with infectious diseases, including tuberculosis. A chapter is devoted to imprisonment for debt, which is still in vogue in England, where there are said to be 11,000 persons incarcerated because of inability to pay their indebtedness.

GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO has invoked the aid of the law to protect his latest play, "The Daughter of Jorio." According to the Pall Mall Gazette, the success of this tragedy attracted the attention of Scarpetta, a well-known Italian comic actor, who immediately announced the production of a play called "The Son of Jorio." Annunzio's protest was met with the question whether the playwright had a copyright on the whole family of Jorio, and why the son should not be written about as well as the daughter. After a lively correspondence and much flippancy on the part of the offending comedian, the matter has been left for the law to settle.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CALAIS, ME.—John A. Wade, of Millton, Me., has purchased the stock of books, stationery and business of the late Joseph E. Meredith from the administrator of the estate.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—I. M. Low sends word that he is now and has been for eighteen months out of business, and does not desire catalogues, lists or circulars, but requests that his name be taken off publishers' mailing lists.

DETROIT, MICH.—Miss Anna Mason, for a number of years associated with leading book stores in Detroit, opened on September 1 the Central Circulating Library, at 33 State Street, where books in fiction and other lines of literature may be secured for a small charge per day.

FITZGERALD, GA.—I. Gelders, bookseller and stationer, has sold out to H. K. Robertson & Co.

NASHVILLE, TENN.—J. P. Gist, bookseller and stationer, has discontinued.

NEW YORK CITY.—Martinus Nijhoff, of The Hague, discontinued on August 31 his branch office at 114 Fifth Avenue, opened in October, 1902. It is regretted that Dr. Martin F. Onnen, his former American representative, is prevented by ill health from continuing his services to the firm. Beginning Sept. 1, the firm's American agents will be Tice & Lynch, 45 William Street, at whose office the magnificent reproduction of Part 1 of the Breviario Grimani manuscript, for which Mr. Nijhoff is sole American agent, is on view. It is requested that all correspondence, orders, requests for quotations of prices, etc., be addressed to Martinus Nijhoff, Nobelstraat 18, The Hague.

READING, PA.—Walter G. Roland, bookseller and stationer, has discontinued.

SCRANTON, PA.—Anna J. Willcox will open "The Book Shop," in room 315, Commonwealth Building, on September 15. While all current books will be kept and an up-to-date bookselling business maintained, special features will be made of fine editions, choice old books and book rarities. The location has been selected with reference to this, rather than to the cheaper booktrade. Catalogues, lists, etc., are requested and will be gladly received.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE JEWISH PUBLICATION SOCIETY OF AMERICA will issue in September the "American Jewish Year Book 5665" (1904-1905), edited by Cyrus Adler and Henrietta Szold.

FOX, DUFFIELD & Co. have a book that will win the hearts of all children in "Babes in Toyland," a story made of the fairy tale play that delighted New York audiences last season. It has been written by the playwright, Glen McDonough, in collaboration with Anna Alice Chapin, with striking and fanciful illustrations in color by Ethel Franklin Betts, and in printing, make-up and binding is most artistic and attractive.

BENJ. H. SANBORN & Co. will publish September 1 "British Poets of the Nineteenth Century," giving in one volume of about a thousand pages all the material needed by students in the Nineteenth Century English Poetry courses. Heretofore students have been obliged to buy several books to cover the work of this period, and it is confidently expected that this single volume, at a low price, will be a boon to them.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will issue in the early autumn "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," by Anne Warner, who first introduced her creation, Mrs. Clegg, to appreciative readers in The Century Magazine last November; "Sweet Peggy," an unconventional romance of love and music, by Linnie Sarah Harris; "The Princess Thora," by Harris Burland, one of the younger English authors; and "The Nursery Fire," a collection of short stories for children by Rosalind Richards, daughter of Mrs. Laura E. Richards and granddaughter of Julia Ward Howe.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just published "The Letters Which Never Reached Him." This much-discussed book, which was first published in German, ran through sixty editions in that form. The present American edition is written in English by the author and is not a translation. The letters are supposed to be written by a young woman to the man she loved, who falls a victim in the Chinese Boxer uprising of 1900. They give vivid pictures of life in British Columbia, China, New York, Germany and elsewhere, and are rich in descriptive power, literary feeling and sentiment.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just published "Stories of Inventors," a volume of true stories by Russell Doubleday, giving the adventurous side of invention and telling of the trials and triumphs of wireless telegraphy, aerial and sub-marine navigation, automobile speeding, and other wonders of modern mechanism; "The Book of Indoor and Outdoor Games," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, which is a store house of information for home amusement and merrymaking; and "Old Voices," another volume of Miss Howard Weeden's poems and pictures of old plantation life, beautifully printed, with illustrations by Cora Parker.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. have just ready "Lord Chesterfield's Letters," in a new popular one-volume edition, and Alexander Hamilton's "The Federalist," edited by John C. Hamilton, also in popular one-volume form. They report a steady continued demand for Mrs. Voynich's dramatic novel of Russian oppression, "Olive Latham," and for "The Chaloners." E. F. Benson's new story of English life. The State Text-Book Board of Tennessee recently adopted Lippincott's Elementary Algebra for exclusive use in the schools of the State during the next five years. Worcester's Primary New School and Academic Dictionary were readopted for a second five-year term.

T. FISHER UNWIN has a work of interest for historical students in the photo-lithographic facsimile of the "Particular Book" of Trinity College, Dublin, an old journal of accounts which throws much light upon the social life of Elizabethan and Jacobean Ireland, and also upon many obscure points in the history of Oxford and Cambridge colleges. On questions of prices and details of daily life these early accounts are perfectly unsuspecting and most valuable evidence. The work has been edited by Dr. Mahaffy, to whose book on "The Struggle of the Creeds in Ireland" it forms a companion volume. Dr. Mahaffy has contributed an introduction and index, together with transcripts of some of the pages.

THE GRAFTON PRESS have ready a new trade edition of "Waes Hael: the Book of Toasts," first published in de luxe form in 1903. The book is gotten up with a "beer stein" bookmark and will make an attractive holiday publication. Among other books now ready are "The Boy and the Outlaw," a tale of John Brown's raid on Harper's Ferry, by Thomas J. L. McManus; "A Kittiwake of the Great Hills," by Charles Frederick Stansbury, who protests impressively against cruelty to animals; "Wings and No Eyes," a comedy of love by Philip Crutcher relating the maneuvers of a poor book agent to capture a wealthy novelist; and "Along the Nile with General Grant," by Judge Elbert E. Farman, who also weaves into his story a scholarly account of ancient Egypt.

ries, being "The Watchers of the Campfire," the tale of a fierce panther's hunt for man; "The Lord of the Air," the story of an eagle; "The Haunter of the Pine Gloom," the adventure of a lynx and a boy; and "The King of the Mamozekel," the life drama of a great moose. The stories have the verisimilitude and literary charm that C. D. G. Roberts' animal tales possess in such high degree, and should appeal strongly to the youthful readers for whom they are intended. They will publish on Sept. 10 a new book in the Little Colonel Series, "The Little Colonel in Arizona," which will be welcomed by the many children who eagerly follow the fortunes of Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston's little Kentucky heroine.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have acquired the American rights to the republication with editorial matter of the earliest extant autograph document written in what is now the State of New York. It is a letter dated "From the Island of Manhates in New Netherland, this 8th of August, Anno 1628," and was sent by Jonas Michaelius, the first clergyman here, to Jonas Foreest, a prominent citizen of Hoorn, in Holland. The document will be published under the title "Manhattan in 1628." The volume will contain a review of the letter, a transcript and a translation of it, a chapter on New Netherland to 1628, and forty-six spellings of the island now known as Manhattan. The edition, which will be printed at the Marion Press, will be limited to 50 copies on Imperial Japan, and 175 copies on Holland hand-made paper.

SWINBURNE's new volume of poems, "A Channel Passage, and Other Poems," which is to be published simultaneously on September 3 by Harper & Brothers for the United States, and Chatto & Windus for Great Britain, is said to be more varied in character than any of his recent volumes. The opening poem is a description of "three glad hours" spent in crossing from Calais to Dover in 1855. It is said to mark the first appearance of the steamer in Mr. Swinburne's poetry, and it will be interesting to see how the poet treats what used to be deemed an unpoetic craft. Of the other poems, some deal with the delights of swimming, some with the charm of childhood, and some are tributes to friends, to dead poets, and to dead heroes. There are several sonnets and roundels, some translations, and many patriotic and political poems, together with a series of prologues to Elizabethan plays.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., announce a novelty in children's books, entitled a "Child's Life of Christ for Little Children," illustrated from the masters and illuminated after parchments of the fifteenth century. The pictures selected from ancient and modern masters form a connected history of the leading events in the Saviour's life from the Annunciation to the Ascension. The book is made still further attractive to the little folks by the introduction of easily memorized verses—one short one for each letter of the alphabet. The pages containing the verses have beautiful top and bottom illuminations which the author, who is also an artist, has copied from rare fifteenth century missals. This firm also announces a "German Teachers' Bible" on a new and improved plan. It is arranged so that "Scripture is explained by means of Scripture through the medium of confirmatory texts." It also contains a full line of "Helps" after the manner of the English Teachers' Bibles, including eight splendid colored maps, with the names in the German language. Their "Twentieth Century Large Type Self-Pronouncing Edition of the Family Bible," which has been on the market but a short time, is reported a continuing success.

THE W. B. CONKEY CO. have nearly ready "Around the Year with Ella Wheeler Wilcox," a birthday book of selections in prose and verse from Mrs. Wilcox's works, finely printed, with half-tone illustrations and a portrait of the author, and issued, in addition to the regular edition, in an Autograph edition in full leather, with author's signature. To their long list of juvenile publications are added "A Trip with Mother Goose," verses and delightful half-tone drawings, by Ruth Prink Crosby; and two new series, Childhood Classics, in twenty-five small quarto volumes, with colored frontispieces and many illustrations, and the Nursery Series, attractive quartos of the familiar childhood stories; while numerous additions have been made to the popular Rosalind Series for Girls and 'Varsity Series for Boys. They appeal to the holiday trade also with their series of World's Best Books in Fiction, including one hundred volumes, illustrated and bound in library style; and the boxed volumes of their Dainty Books, familiar classics beautifully printed and bound in embossed leather with rich gold side ornament and gold title, round corners and red-under-gold edges, and fancy end paper linings, with illuminated title-page and frontispiece and half-tone illustrations.

THE MACMILLAN CO. announce the long-awaited new edition of Grove's great "Dictionary of Music," which for several years past has been in course of revision under the direction of J. A. Fuller-Maitland, who resigned his position as musical critic of the London Times to devote himself to the arduous duty of editing the Dictionary. The new edition will be in five volumes, instead of four, and instead of the former few and occasional wood cuts there will be a photogravure and twenty-four full-page half tone plates in each volume, besides many pictures in the text. The revision has been thorough and exhaustive; a large number of the articles have been entirely rewritten, and many new ones have been added, among them an especial abundance of material relating to American music and musicians, prepared by H. E. Krehbiel and Richard Aldrich, of New York. The first volume will be issued in November and the second probably in the Spring of 1905. After that it is expected that one volume can be issued each half year till the work is complete. This firm will have a sensational "prophetic" romance in November, in "The Unpardonable War," by James Barnes, a tale of a tremendous conflict between England and the United States some years hence in the present century.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

"This is a howling funny satire upon some modern methods of rapid money-making, and the author should be immensely proud of his clever work."—Philadelphia Item.

THE PROMOTERS

By WILLIAM HAWLEY SMITH

AUTHOR OF "EVOLUTION OF DODD," "THE NEW HAMLET," "WALKS AND TALKS," ETC.

Cloth, 12mo, 367 pages, $1.50

The Promoters is a humorous and dramatic satire of modern business life. It tells of an all but successful attempt to organize the "World Trust."

"There is a good deal of cheerful satire indulged in at the expense of the modern financier and his methods."—New York Sun.

"The plot of the book is clever and well worked out, the characters conform to the demands of the situation, and the story in every way is up to the latest date."—Chicago Chronicle.

"The complications which ensue are treated in a humorous vein and the reader will find throughout a unique and interesting plot which will hold the attention."—Boston Herald.

A Little Fountain of Life

By MARION FOSTER WASHBURN

Cloth, 12mo, 232 pages, $1.00

A fascinating story of the restoration to health of a delicate, refined, wealthy young lady through her interest and work among the poor of one of our large cities. The delightful description of places, persons, and events is a genuine literary treat.

Nelson's Publish the AMERICAN STANDARD

Revised Bible

It is a striking fact that this version of the Bible, first issued in 1901, has been pronounced by British Critics, as well as American, to be superior to any other version ever published.

"It is as far in advance of the version of 1885 as was the Authorized Version in advance of its predecessors."—Chautauquan.

The American Standard Revised Bible is now published in a large variety of sizes and bindings—text alone, text with maps, text with maps and references, teachers' edition—on ordinary paper, or the Nelson's Famous India Paper.

THE TEACHERS' EDITION contains Concise Bible Dictionary and Combined Concordance entirely new and prepared especially to conform exactly with the wording of this version.

Besides publishing the American Standard Revised Bible in a large variety of sizes and bindings, we also publish over four hundred styles of the King James Version.

CATALOGUES WILL BE SENT FREE ON APPLICATION AS SOON AS ISSUED

Up to the date of the publication of these catalogues we are disposed to sell the libraries en bloc. We would consider selling separately the so-called "Handapparat" of each library, i.e., collection of single memoirs, monographs, reprints from periodicals, dissertations, programs, etc.

For Public or Medical Libraries, as well as for scholars, this offers a rare opportunity to establish new libraries or to complete collections already existing.

WHAT IS A COPYRIGHT

From the legal point of view, a copyright, as issued by the United States, is nothing more nor less than a memorandum of a bargain between the author or proprietor as one individual and the people of the country as another.

THE BARGAIN IS to the effect that because the author furnishes to the people a more or less useful product of his brain they in their turn guarantee to pay him for his effort. The payment is not made in a definite sum of money, but in an arrangement whereby he may enjoy for twenty-eight years, with a fourteen-year renewal, all the profits coming from the sale of that which he has produced. Rights to these profits he may sell or rent to others, or make such disposition as he likes. At the end of the forty-two years the owner of the copyright has no further claim on his production, and it belongs thereafter wholly to the people, having thus been bought and paid for.

IN A SENSE, the price paid by the people is set by the author. It may be very large or very small, depending on the excellence of the work and maintained or reduced according to the demand occasioned by the caprice of the people. Examples will come to mind of publications almost trivial, so far as real usefulness is concerned, but which give the author large financial return. There are other examples of literary efforts which were epoch-making, but because they were too soon for the minds of the people, brought no financial return.

WOULDN'T YOU THINK a man was "hogging it" if he wanted to be paid twice for his work? In other words tried to keep his copyright for over fifty years? In fact for nearly one hundred years? Of course you would—so would anybody.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO. are trying to do that very thing with Webster's Dictionary. They say in effect: Yes—you may use anything Noah Webster wrote, but you must not use his name as its author. To compare—you may publish "Uncle Tom's Cabin" but Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's name must not go on the title-page as its author, because during the forty-two years of copyright we have gotten out emasculated or added to editions—consequently Mrs. Stowe's name is ours forever more. You may print what Noah Webster wrote, but give him no credit for it because we are IT—the only genuine, all wool, yard-wide Webster's Dictionary publishers, and if the power of money, the tricks of lawyers, and the gift of gab can get us a right that don't belong to us—well, we are going to get it, that's all.

NOT SO FAST, GENTLEMEN—You haven't now, and you're not going to have any such right—and the only reason you want it is because of the publication of Webster's Imperial Dictionary—just issued by the undersigned.

After nine years of labor, Webster's Imperial Dictionary, the largest literary work of recent years, was completed yesterday.

The book was compiled and printed in Chicago, and is the first dictionary ever printed in the West. Its publisher, Geo. W. Ogilvie, has expended nearly $250,000 in the issue of this book.

The book defines 25,000 more words than were contained in the last Webster's International Dictionary.

From A to Z and Antiquity

Webster's Unabridged, 1545 Pages, Retail, any old price, aged 40 years.

Published by G. & C. Merriam Co.—but they seem to be ashamed to put their imprint on the title-page (and justly so)—because the imprint is "PUBLISHED FOR THE TRADE."

Webster's International, 1681 Pages, Retail, $10.00, aged 14 years.

Webster's Imperial Dictionary contains 1956 pages from A to Z, Retail for $8.00. Although born as recently as August 8, 1904, it's a very husky youth.

FREDERIC S. ISHAM

THE BOOKMAN, of Melbourne, records that "Under the Rose," the love story by Frederic S. Isham, is decidedly popular in Australia. It has been well received in London, also. The London Morning Post says it is "thoroughly enjoyable," and the Athenaeum speaks of it as "lively, entertaining and vigorous." A new novel by the same successful author is promised for next month by the publishers. Harrison Fisher, who made the pictures for Mr. Isham's first book, "The Strollers," will illustrate it. The name of the forthcoming story is not yet announced, but it is understood to deal with "Black Friday" and the exciting times of the "corner in gold." Jay Gould appears as one of the characters.

IMPERATOR ET REX

(WILLIAM II. OF GERMANY)

By the author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress," "A Keystone of Empire," etc.

The anonymous author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress," whose unrivalled knowledge of European royalty and skill in portraiture have produced remarkable and widely read biographies of royalty, in this volume pictures Emperor William as he really is—his sympathetic character, his family, and charming home life. He is shown to be a warm-hearted and impulsive man, rather than a keen-minded and astute ruler, bent on promoting the grandeur of his empire. The book is instructive, entertaining and important.

A JOURNEY IN SEARCH OF CHRISTMAS

By OWEN WISTER

Owen Wister has written nothing about the West more delightful, humorous, and pathetic by turns than this Christmas tale. It is the story of a big-hearted cowboy's quest of a good time at Christmas, and how he found it in the acquaintance of a little city bootblack, whom he eventually took back to his mountain home.

THE CASTLE COMEDY

By THOMPSON BUCHANAN

An engaging and delightful romance of the time of Napoleon. The sprightly way in which the story is told, the dashing impudence of the hero, and the charm of the heroine, combine with the beauty of the volume to make this book unusually attractive as a Christmas gift.

THE GEORGIANS

By WILL N. HARBEN

Author of "Abner Daniel," "The Substitute," etc.

The scene of Mr. Harben's new novel is the same as in "Abner Daniel," and the popular Abner is the chief character in this new book. The story deals with the troubles of two lovers whom the girl's father endeavors to separate; but Abner, with generous impulse, ingeniously brings them together. There are several subsidiary characters, who provide a great deal of mirthful entertainment. Abner himself, with his shrewd humor, pervades the whole, which is the strongest story of Georgian life Mr. Harben has written.

Author of "Wee Macgregor"

Mr. Bell in this story has surpassed his earlier success both in interest and in delightful humor. Jess is a plucky Scotch lass of the peasant class. She marries a happy-go-lucky Scotchman, not overfond of work, who carries on a decrepit carpenter trade. She takes an interest in, and then charge of, the business, bringing the family out a successful and happy one, in spite of the dismal prognostications of the village characters, who are all novel and wonderfully amusing

A Chicago Princess

By ROBERT BARR

Author of "Over the Border," "The Victors," "Tekla," "In the Midst of Alarms,"
"A Woman Intervenes," etc.

A characteristic, breezy and humorous romance of an over-rich Chicago girl with a craze for titled personages.

The story is told by Rupert Tremorne, a former member of the English diplomatic service, who has found himself stranded in Japan by a series of curious circumstances. He becomes the secretary of the father of the heroine, a Chicago multi-millionaire, traveling in the East in his yacht. Here the story begins, and the action at once becomes as rapid as that of a Japanese campaign.

Tremorne takes the party to Korea, where the Emperor falls violently in love with the Chicago "Princess" and desires to marry her. His courtship is fast and furious and leads to many strange complications which Mr. Barr has told in his bright and vivid way.

The story satirizes certain nouveau riche American tendencies and is thoroughly original and "up to date," while the characters are all interesting. The book has above all things that merit which Mr. Barr's work never fails to possess—that of always entertaining the reader.

NOTES IN SEASON.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will publish shortly a new book by Robert Barr, entitled "A Chicago Princess," a characteristic, breezy and humorous romance of an over-rich Chicago girl with a craze for titled personages. The story satirizes certain nouveau riche American tendencies and is thoroughly original and up-to-date. The volume contains a number of illustrations.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on the 17th inst. George Barr McCutcheon's new novel, "Beverly of Graustark," which is pronounced by those who have read the work in manuscript to be fully equal in originality and interest to "Graustark." The work will have several illustrations by Harrison Fisher, printed in colors. They will bring out at the same time "The Revelation of Herself," by Mary Farley Sanborn; "Our Friend the Dog," by Maurice Maeterlinck; also, "Minnows and Tritons," by B. A. Clarke, a story for boys, brimful of adventure.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY will have ready for shipment on October 5 a new book for children, entitled "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," by Paul West, with pictures, in colors, by W. W. Denslow, the illustrator of "The Wizard of Oz" etc. The text is a weird fairy story linking a fantastic past with the present day by a fascinating chain of events. They also call attention to the following new and popular books: "The Records," by Cyrus Townsend Brady; "The Letter H," by Charles Felton Pidgin; "The Red Window," by Fergus Hume; "Jim Hickey," by George V. Hobart; also, "Rena's Experiment," by Mary J. Holmes.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just ready a new novel by Alfred Henry Lewis, entitled "The President." The novel is full of dramatic incidents, picturing striking phases of life in Washington, Wall Street and elsewhere, and revealing intrigues and sensational happenings. "The President" is more thoroughly a novel than "The Boss" in the development of love interest and in other respects. But in this, as well as in his former work, the author has drawn upon his extraordinary knowledge of the inside of political life. The volume has a number of colored illustrations by Jay Hambidge. They will bring out on the 15th inst. "The Pagan's Progress," by Gouverneur Morris, a romance of the primitive man in the days when the world was young, with some striking illustrations by John Rae.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready in the True Adventure Series a volume by Russell Doubleday, entitled "Stories by Inventors," the purpose of which is to give in a measure the adventurous side of invention—the trials and dangers of the builders of the submarine, the daring and skill of the engineer who drives a locomotive at a hundred miles an hour, etc. The story of the invention is told through the experiences of the inventor or the one who operates the invention. They have also just brought out "The Book of Indoor and Outdoor Games," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, a veritable encyclopedia of games, pastimes and entertainments, which contains not only hundreds of old favorites, but a great number of new and ingenious games which have stood the test of actual trial; "Old Voices," a new book of poems and pictures of the old South, by Miss Howard Weeden; also, a new edition of Simeon Ford's book, "A Few Remarks."

Barnes Annie Maria, ["Cousin Annie," pseud.] A lass of Dorchester; il. by Frank T. Merrill. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1904. c. 5+341 p. D. cl., †$1.25.

The place and time of this historical novel are the Province of Carolina and the year 1702. The "lass" is Miss Elizabeth Blew, of a former book, now grown up and just returned from Boston, where she had been to finish her education. She is the heroine of many stirring episodes.

Barnes Annie Maria, ["Cousin Annie," pseud.] The laurel token: a story of the Yamassee uprising; il. by G. W. Picknell. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1904. [Ag.] c. 7+347 p. D. cl., †$1.25.

A story for young people of colonial days in the Carolinas, centering about a supposedly orphan girl of eighteen, who has come from Barbadoes to make her home with her uncle. An Indian uprising forms the background of the tale.

Barnum, Phineas Taylor. Lion Jack: a story of perilous adventures among wild men and the capturing of wild beasts; showing how menageries are made. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham Co., [1904.] c. 2+9-380 p. pls., 12°, cl., $1.

Phil., G: W. Jacobs & Co., [1904. J1.] c. 12+670 p. O. cl., $2 net.

According to the introduction, the special needs of English-speaking people and those who have a fair knowledge of idioms have been kept in view. Minor distinctions of vowel sounds, especially those occasioned by the absence of accent have been ignored. Believing that the appearance of printed words should be left as free as possible from foreign or extraneous signs and characters, the most limited use of diacritics consistent with the representation of correct pronunciation of words has been made, and only those signs in general use have been given. By the author of "Handbook of pronunciation," "Synonyms."

Bell, Ja. Joy. Jess & Co. N. Y., Harper, 1904. c. 4+297 p. S. cl., †$1.25.

A humorous story by the author of "Wee Macgregor," of a resourceful girl who marries a happy-go-lucky carpenter, more interested in flowers than in the problem of daily bread. Jess takes charge of the business and makes it pay, and incidentally changes the character of her husband.

Bell, Lilian, [now Mrs. Arthur Hoyt Bogue.] At home with the Jardines. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., 1904. [Ag.] c. '02, '04. 5+322 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Mrs. Jardine was the heroine before her marriage of "Abroad with the Jimmies." The first dream of her married life is to make a home in New York. Her experiences both in a flat and in a house, with servants, janitors, agents and owners are both valuable and extremely amusing. The "Jimmies," with other characters of the previous work, add to the liveliness of the story.

Queen Elizabeth is a leading character in this story of her court, being presented in more attractive guise than history generally depicts her. She is the protector of two young lovers, French Huguenots, who have fled to the Isle of Jersey in her domain, from their persecutors in France. The Earl of Leicester, whose influence over the queen is already waning, also appears, full of envy, and intrigue. The story is a simple one of true love that finds a happy ending. The first novel Sir Gilbert Parker has written since "The Right of Way."

Scott, Hugh S., ["Henry Seton Merriman," pseud.] The Last Hope; il. by A. Forestier. N. Y., Scribner, 1904. [Ag.] c. 5+442 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The Last Hope was a schooner and the last ship ever built in Farlingford; her captain was reputed to have rescued Louis xvii. from drowning. According to the belief of many Royalists, the son of Marie Antoinette did not die in the Temple but was saved as stated above. The novel is founded on incidents of French history which were the outcome of the Royalists to elevate the son of this mysterious waif to the throne of France. Napoleon iii. and other famous persons who lived in the times of the Republic are characters in the story.

Gives in story form the history of the Louisiana Purchase. The hero is introduced as a French drummer boy in the great battle of Hohenlinden. He distinguishes himself, and instead of promotion seeks from Napoleon permission to go to Louisiana in search of his father, who had gone there three years before. He serves as valet to Napoleon, and learns of the great events that are making history. Later he is sent with secret messages to the French in San Domingo and in Louisiana.

 The author is the son of the translator who first introduced Zola to English readers and suffered even imprisonment in his earnest efforts to make a great writer known to his countrymen. He has worked many years on this biography. It is a psychological study of Zola's mental gifts and peculiar deficiencies. Gives a complete history of the twenty volumes forming the Rougon Marquart series both in their literary and sociological importance. The exhaustive account of the Dreyfus case and Zola's unremitting work to obtain justice against military absolutism makes the book of value to historians and scholars.

"COPYRIGHT CASES AND DECISIONS."

THE American Publishers' Copyright League has done an exceedingly good thing in the interests of copyright, at the initiative of its secretary, George Haven Putnam, in causing to be compiled the volume on "Copyright Cases" which Arthur S. Hamlin has prepared and which is published for the League by G. P. Putnam's Sons. As its subtitle indicates, the volume comprises "a summary of leading American decisions on the law of copyright and of literary property from 1891 to 1903, together with the text of the United States copyright statute and a selection of recent copyright decisions of the courts of Great Britain and Canada."

The volume is in four sections, the first being the present copyright law as amended to 1904, the text prepared by Thorvald Solberg, Register of Copyrights. American court decisions follow, under the respective sections devoted to: Articles entitled to copyright; Formalities in obtaining copyright; Notice of copyright; Publication and its effects; Property rights and their transfer; Infringements and unfair use; and Remedies and penalties. The third division comprises decisions of the Treasury Department bearing upon importation, under the copyright law, of books and works of art, since, as the compiler truly says, "in the absence or in advance of judicial decisions, such rulings constitute the highest authority upon the questions with which they are concerned. The fourth division comprises a selection of decisions of English and Canadian courts which have indirect bearing upon our own questions of copyright, including a number of decisions on "Who are entitled to copyright." Finally there is a table of cases and a topical index.

The compiler has not attempted to give decisions in full, but his summaries are clear, and seem to be thoroughly informing. It has not been attempted to cite all cases and decisions, but to give the latest ruling decisions from the time of the passage of the so-called International Copyright Amendment to date. For instance, in respect to the reprinting of Webster's Dictionary, the Missouri case against the Famous Shoe Company, which was marketing a reprint of an early edition, is summarized, and two other cases have references. It would be interesting to analyze from these decisions the present trend of the courts regarding copyright, but the fact that copyright decisions are made in Federal courts throughout the many judicial districts shows frequent inconsistencies which can only be rectified when appeal is made to the final authority.

In his introduction the compiler takes opportunity to express, doubtless in line with the views of Mr. George Haven Putnam, cordial approval of a suggestion that has been made more than once by authors and others interested, in regard to the necessity for a thorough revision or reshaping of our copyright statute. He is in accord "with the recommendation that the framing of a satisfactory copyright act which shall have for its purpose an equitable and adequate protection for the producers of intellectual property and which shall be so worded as to carry out that purpose effectively, should be entrusted to a commission of experts. Such a commission should comprise representatives of the several interests to be considered: producers of works of literature, of art, and of music, and publishers of works of art, of books, and of newspapers. The commission should also include a skilled copyright lawyer, and it might be in order to add some representative of the general public who would have no direct property interests in the results of such a bill as may be framed. As such a commission, possessing the requisite authority, would naturally be constituted under an Act of Congress, it would also, according to the usual routine, include representatives of the Senate and of the House of Representatives. All existing copyright statutes of the world, excepting that of the United States, have been the work of commissions of experts. The members of these commissions have had authority to summon witnesses and to take testimony, and after having devoted sufficient time to the mastery of the details of a subject which is of necessity complex and which certainly calls for expert training and for expert experience, they have presented their conclusions in the form of a report containing the specifications of the legislation recommended. The copyright laws of the states of Europe have, without an exception, been based upon such recommendations. With the co-operation of such a commission, it ought to prove practicable to secure a copyright statute which should give due consideration to all the interests involved, and which should be sufficiently consistent in its provisions to obviate the necessity of the large proportion of copyright issues that have arisen from the unnecessary complexity of the provisions of the existing statute and from the difficulty, and in some cases the impracticability, of fulfilling the obligations imposed by this statute." This is an excellent statement of the procedure which is desired by all true friends of copyright progress.

MAGAZINE WRITING AND LITERATURE.

THE complaint made by some recent critics, to the effect that the magazines have had an injurious influence upon the quality of present-day literature, has elicited from Henry Mills Alden, the veteran editor of Harper's Magazine, a rejoinder which is published, under the title of "Magazine Writing and Literature," in the September number of the North American Review. For more than two centuries there has been an intimate relation between the periodical publications of a country and its literature. The Spectator, The Tatler and The Rambler of the eighteenth century were addressed to the "town;" they contained contributions from the wits of the town, and these have become a recognized part of English literature. Later, The Gentleman's Magazine and Blackwood's conveyed to the world the productions of the most brilliant writers of the day; and the monthly magazines that followed were not behind the best contemporary literature in their literary reputation. In like manner the American magazine has always shared the glory of the best American literature. Since the time of Poe, who did the very best of his work for magazines, to the present day, our great writers have been inseparably associated with our periodical literature. Mr. Alden deprecates the servility to the traditions of the past which would raise them to the dignity of exclusive standards of excellence, and which would ignore or overlook what is admirable in new literary forms in vital sympathy with changed and changing conditions. Mr. Alden thus defines the scope of the magazine:

"In our first-class magazine nature sketches find a place, in due proportion, and in greater variety than ever before. The charge against these magazines, that they have given up their space mainly to fiction and fail to meet the wants of readers in other directions, is made perhaps without due examination. New disclosures of physical phenomena; luminous interpretations of history; revisions of old and mistaken views based upon freshly discovered material; the most recent revelations of archaeological exploration; the result of current sociological experimentation; studies of tendencies characteristic of the civilization of to-day and of imperfectly understood conditions of civilization in earlier times; studies also which are the result of travel and observation among peoples never before heard from and of the reaction of a creative imagination upon material which seemed familiar, but which for the first time yields to a new interpretation its inmost secrets—affording a fresh field of wonder; narrations of singular adventure; all this from writers the most authoritative, where first-hand authority is essential, and, as to those themes whose treatment depends for its interest upon genius, by writers acknowledged to be of the first rank, wholly apart from their contributions to magazines. In this summation of features I am not considering a magazine's contents taking a whole year into the view; a single number will contain something of nearly all this varied entertainment. The articles will not be elaborate, as in a review, but concisely comprehensive, suggestive and illuminative; they are just what cultivated readers want."

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT CONGRESS.

THE twenty-sixth congress of the International Copyright Association will be held at Marseilles from September 24 to 29, inclusive. With the exception of a meeting at Monaco in 1897, this is the first occasion upon which the assemblies held on French soil have not met in the capital. Among the questions to be dealt with will be the further revision of the Berne convention, the protection of engineering works, and the copyright of historical publications and criticisms. Other subjects for discussion will be the protection of architectural works, introduced by M. Georges Harmand; the proposed new legislation in France relating to photographs; the position of musical works, put forward by MM. Jean Lobel and Paul Wauvermans, while M. Jules Lermina will discuss the right of translation in countries where several languages are spoken.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ISIDOR KELLER, professor of German at Normal College, New York City, died August 29 on board the steamer Pennsylvania of the Hamburg-American line. Professor Keller was born in Pinne, Posen, in 1844, and was educated at the University of Berlin. In 1868 he came to this country and for four years taught German in the Hoboken Academy. He left the academy in 1878 to become president of the German-American Teachers' Seminary in Milwaukee. In 1885 he became principal of the German-American School of the Nineteenth Ward, in New York, where he remained until 1892, leaving it to go to the Normal College. He was the author of several textbooks on the German language and literature, the best known of which are "Keller's First and Second Year German."

CHARLES BARZILLAI SPAHR, editor and publisher of Current Literature, is reported to have either fallen or jumped from the deck of the steamship Prince Albert, midway between Ostend and Dover, on September 1. His body has not been recovered. Mr. Spahr was born in Columbus, O., July 20, 1860. He was graduated from Amherst College in 1881. Going abroad he prolonged his studies at Leipzig. He was later made a Ph.D. in the Columbia School of Political Science. Mr. Spahr was the author of "The Present Distribution of Wealth," a work which attracted consideration throughout the United States. He also wrote "America's Working People," essays on "The Taxation of Labor," "The Single Tax" and "Giffen's Case Against Bimetallism." He became a member of the editorial staff of The Outlook in 1886, and dissolved his connection in February this year when he secured a controlling interest in Current Literature.

MORRIS PHILLIPS, who for more than forty years was connected with the New York Home Journal, now Town and Country, died on August 30, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. E. Harby, of Huntington, Long Island, N. Y. Mr. Phillips was born in London, Eng., May 9, 1834. His father was Philip Phillips, the famous singer, who died when Morris was about five years old. The boy was then brought to America to be educated in the public schools of Cleveland, Ohio. His schooling was completed in New York City under private tutors. Then he began the study of law in the offices of Brown, Hall & Vanderpool. In 1854 he became private secretary to General George P. Morris, who with N. P. Willis founded The Home Journal. He became in 1864 co-editor with Mr. Willis, and a few years later was the sole owner of The Home Journal. He was also for a short time owner and editor of the old Knickerbocker Magazine. He has been called "the father of society news in this country." He wrote for many other publications besides those with which he was connected. In 1893 he published a work entitled "Abroad and at Home."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE citizens of Geneva, Switzerland, have presented to Stanley J. Weyman an illuminated and inscribed address and a bust of Calvin in token of their appreciation of his novel of Geneva, "The Long Night."

HENRYK SIENKIEWICZ, the author of "Quo Vadis," has prepared a trilogy entitled "On the Field of Glory," the chief hero being King Sobieski. In the first volume the author shows the king preparing for battle, and gives a picture of the splendor and bravery of the ancient army of Poland; the second volume describes the wars with the Turks, and in the third the victorious king returns to his country covered with glory and blessed by Europe, whose independence he has saved.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

FRANK WEITENKAMFF, of the New York Public Library, contributes to the September issue of The Lamp "The Literature of New Japan: a bibliographical essay."

AN important contribution to the bibliography of Petrarch has been made in the publication of Emilio Calvi's "Bibliografia Analitica Petrarcesca," (Loescher & Co., Rome, 11+102 p. 8") issued as a result of the recent Petrarch centennial observances. This supplements Jacopo Ferrazzi's Petrarchan bibliography, carrying the record from 1877 to the present day. Brief summaries are given of the contents of the works recorded. The bibliography shows a remarkable gradual increase in the number of publications dealing with Petrarch, the present rate of issue being about thirty a year.

THE WISCONSIN STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY has just published a valuable consolidated "Index to the Proceedings, 1874-1901," prepared under the editorial direction of the secretary, Dr. Thwaites, by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Haines, (399 p. 8") The index is compact, but extremely detailed, recording practically every item of information contained in the twenty-seven volumes of the separately published proceedings of the society. It is in one alphabet, printed in good type, practical and simple in arrangement. Its publication gives a complete index record to the society's proceedings, the earlier volumes being covered by the "Index to the Early Records," in the reprint edition of volume 1. of the "Collections," and the indexes for 1854-85 in the first ten volumes of the "Collections." It is proposed hereafter to publish a five-yearly supplemental index to the present work.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have just brought out "An Index to Poetry and Recitations," edited by Edith Granger. The work indexes nearly four hundred standard and popular collections of poetry and recitation-books, including dialogues, orations, drills, etc., the thirty thousand odd titles being arranged alphabetically under three separate heads, viz.: Title, Author and First Line Indexes. The Title Index being the main index, the references from the other two refer to it. There is also a Key to Symbols used in the Title Index, so that the name of the book in which the recitation occurs may be found, together with publisher and price. An appendix containing lists of selection for "special days," such as Arbor Day, Easter, etc., lists of charades, tableaux, etc., and selections relating to noted persons or special subjects, makes the book especially valuable to teachers, librarians and booksellers.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—R. B. Tippet has been appointed receiver for the Maryland Book Company.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Brentano's have discontinued the branch of their business here at 200 Wabash Avenue. The stock of goods will be brought to their New York store.

PRINCETON, IND.—J. A. Kell, bookseller, has sold out to Lamb & Stunkel.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HINDS, NOBLE & ELDREDGE, New York, have secured control of Faunce's "Mechanical Drawing," formerly published by the author.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will publish shortly another volume of sermons by the Rev. Dr. George Hodges, Dean of Cambridge, entitled "The Human Nature of the Saints."

THE Tauchnitz series now includes 3713 volumes, of which 3378 are by British authors and 335 by American authors. Forty-eight American writers are represented in this showing and 387 British writers.

THE J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING Co. announce for immediate publication a book entitled "Twenty-Five Ghost Stories," compiled by W. B. Holland, the reading of each one of which is guaranteed to cause one to shiver.

THE twenty-second annual convention of the National Association of Newsdealers, Booksellers and Stationers was opened in Liberty Hall, on the World's Fair Grounds at St. Louis, on the 6th inst., by President Thomas E. Martin, and was continued until the 7th inst.

GEORGE D. SPROUL, New York, has in preparation the Bedford edition of Thackeray's complete works. It will be in thirty-two volumes and limited to 1000 sets. Special introductions will be furnished by Walter Herries Pollock, Sir Wemyss Reid, William Archer, Andrew Lang, Austin Dobson, W. M. Rossetti, and others equally well known. The illustrations will be furnished by leading English artists.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "In Pursuit of Phyllis," a bright romance with many changes of scene, including places in England, France, China and Ceylon. The hero, ordered abroad for his health, finds a package of letters from a friend of his to an unknown girl, and on a whim tries to find the girl. They are just printing a sixth edition of the late Dr. Osgood Mason's "Telepathy and the Subliminal Self."

THE HOBART COMPANY, New York City, will publish on the 26th inst. a new book by General Charles King, entitled "Comrades in Arms." The story begins with a strange complication at a frontier post in the Black Hills of Dakota shortly before the outbreak of the Spanish-American War. The leading characters are then transported to far distant scenes in the Philippines and the closing chapters bring them and the story back to America. The book is illustrated by George Gibbs and E. W. Deming.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, have just ready a twelvemo and a sixteenmo edition of "The Story of a Lie," by Robert Louis Stevenson. The sixteenmo issue is a companion volume to the Turner reprints of Stevenson, Swift, Smollett, etc. The twelvemo edition has no photogravures. These books contain "The Story of a Lie," "The Misadventures of John Nicholson" and "The Body Snatcher," stories that are not to be had in the trade editions of Stevenson, and are found only in the subscription editions.

It is said that a volume of prose and verse by the late W. E. Henley may be prepared by Charles Whibley, with a biographical introduction giving personal recollections of the editor's old friend, and with impressions and reminiscences contributed by Walter Blaikie and others associated with Henley on the Scots Observer. Mr. Whibley is well qualified to prepare such a volume. He was not only intimate with Henley, but was associated with him in several literary enterprises, notably "The Tudor Translations," and, in fact, even modelled his style upon that of his senior.

BONNELL, SILVER & BOWERS, New York, will publish on the 20th inst. a volume entitled "Last Hours of Sheridan's Cavalry, or, Grant's Eleven Days' Campaign." The volume describes the pursuit of Lee's army after the fall of Petersburg and Richmond from March 29 to April 17, 1865. It covers the field of operations, the routes of each army corps, and a narrative of the events which led to the surrender of General Lee and his army. The narrative is sufficiently brief and popular in style and character to be of interest to the general reader, while being comprehensive and accurate as a reference for military students.

L. C. PAGE & Co. publish this week "The Cathedrals of England," by Mary J. Taber, giving an account of the distinguishing characteristics of the thirty cathedrals visited, together with brief historical and biographical sketches of their most noted bishops. The volume forms one of The Cathedral Series, and is illustrated with reproductions of photographs and decorative borders. They have also just ready Lilian Bell's charming story, "At Home with the Jardines," which is, in a sense, a sequel to "Abroad with the Jimmies," which has just gone to press for the eighth time; also, "Loyalty Island," by Marian W. Wildman, with illustrations by Etheldred B. Barry.

PAUL ELDER & COMPANY, San Francisco, announce "Yosemite Legends," a rendering by Miss Bertha H. Smith, of the Indian legends, six in number, that enrich the associations of Yosemite Valley. The myths are told in a style refreshingly simple and in harmony with the standards of the Indian character. Miss Smith has happily retained the original Indian names, the titles being "Yosem-i-te," "Po-ho-no," "Hum-moo," "Py-we-ack," "Tu-tock-ah-nu-lah," "Tis-sa-ack," and "Kom-pa-pai-ses." The volume will contain thirteen full-page illustrations, printed in color tones, with marginal, text and end-paper decorations, printed in two colors, from designs by Miss Florence Lundborg.

Public Opinion, of London, for the past five months has been making some interesting contributions to English booktrade history in a number of sketches of English publishing houses. The series thus far includes the histories of the following firms: John Murray, Smith, Elder & Co., Macmillan & Co., Longmans, Green & Co., Blackwood & Sons, Chapman & Hall, Cassell & Co., Chatto & Windus, A. & C. Black, W. & R. Chambers, Wells, Gardner & Co., Geo. Routledge & Sons, Methuen & Co., Ward, Lock & Co., Oxford University Press, A. Constable & Co., The Cambridge University Press, Blackie & Son, G. Bell & Sons, Thomas Nelson & Sons, Grant Richards, and George Newnes & Co.

CHIEF among the new books for boys and girls which the Macmillan Company will issue during the season are: Samuel Rutherford Crockett's "Red Cap Tales," retold for children from four of Scott's novels in the method of Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare;" "Sportsman Joe," by Edwyn Sandys, a worthy successor to "Trapper Jim," by the same author; Miss Georgiana King's attractive book of "Comedies and Legends for Marionettes," explaining fully everything about the children's new fad; Jacob A. Riis's answer to the question which some children asked him, "Is There a Santa Claus?;" E. Nesbit's account of "The Phoenix and the Carpet" and the five children who made wonderful journeys on the latter under the guidance of the former; and "The Ruby Ring," by Mrs. Molesworth.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just issued "The French Nobles of the XVIIIth Century," translated by Mrs. Colquhoun Grant from "Les Souvenirs de la Marquise de Crequy," an almost forgotten work in seven volumes, full of material of lasting interest. Mrs. Grant has selected with discrimination anecdotes and facts about the people whose names still play an important part in history and literature. Louis XIV., Robespierre, Bonaparte, Voltaire, Rousseau, Madame de Stael and many more were known to the old marquise, whose memories covered almost a whole century. They have also just ready two books by the English vegetarian, Eustace H. Miles, forming the first two volumes in a series of six to be known as the How to Keep Well Series, entitled "Good Digestion" and "Some of My Recipes," and a new edition of H. Barton Baker's "History of the London Stage," revised and brought down to date.

FLEMING H. REVELL Co. have a promising list of fall publications. In "The Prospector" Ralph Connor enters a new section of country for scene and plot, and sustains the dramatic interest and wholesome vigor shown in his "Sky Pilot;" Norman Duncan's first complete story, "Dr. Luke of The Labrador," shows the charm, subtlety and strong simplicity which have made his stories of New Foundland fisher folk so popular; "Denizens of the Deep," by Frank T. Bullen, is a striking volume of deep-sea lore; and in "Little Miss Dee"—issued uniform with "The Bondage of Ballinger"—Roswell Field has a delightful New England tale. "Children of the Forest" is a romantic Indian story, by Eger-ton R. Young, and books for children include a life of Christ for the young, by Margaret E. Sangster, entitled "That Sweet Story of Old." They also announce "If I Were a Child Again," by Lucy E. Keeler; and "Little Royal-ties," by Isabel McDougall.

THE SCOTT-THAW COMPANY, New York, will publish on the 15th inst. the third volume in their series of Noble Authors. The title of the work is "The Golden Ass of Apuleius," translated by William Adlington. The first edition of this now famous translation was printed in 1566, and is one of the rarest books in the English language. A modern reprint of the complete text was made a few years ago and issued in England in the series of Tudor Translations, but unfortunately the editor of that series adopted the ill-printed and late edition of 1639. The edition issued by the Scott-Thaw Company reprints the text of the first edition as faithfully as is consistent with common sense. While words have been corrected, no omissions have been made, and the volume has been in the able editorial hands of George Sampson. The edition is limited to two hundred copies only, and is embellished with a frontispiece and title-page by W. L. Bruckman.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish shortly "The Elements of English Grammar," by W. F. Webster, principal of the East High School at Minneapolis, the text of which is planned to provide work for one school year when assigned four or five recitations a week, or two years with half that number of recitations; the "Riverside Graded Song Book for Elementary Schools," in two parts, one for primary and intermediate grades, and one for grammar grades, edited by William M. Lawrence, principal of the Ray School at Chicago; "Three Years with the Poets," compiled by Bertha Hazard, principal of Miss Hazard's school at Boston, who has brought together a collection of poems which may be memorized during three school years; "Ireland's Story," by Charles Johnston, a simple narrative adapted to the needs of children in grammar school grades; also, "The Story of England's Literature," by Eva March Tappan, author of "Our Country's Story," etc.

THE CENTURY COMPANY'S forthcoming holiday books for boys and girls will include a new Brownie book by Palmer Cox, telling of the adventures of the Brownies in the Philippines; "Kibun Daizin," or, from Shark Boy to Merchant Prince," by a Japanese writer; "Lucy and Their Majesties," in which Mme. Tussaud's wax works figure, by B. L. Farjeon; "Elinor Arden, Royalist," by Mary Constance Du Bois, a story founded upon an actual incident in the life of Princess Henrietta Anne; "Baby Elton, Quarter Back," a book for boys, by Leslie W. Quirk; a new life of Captain John Smith, by Tudor Jenks, and a practical treatise on making a flower garden, told in the form of a story and in a way to interest young folks and help them in laying out a garden. The title of the latter book is "Mary's Garden," and the author, Frances Duncan, is an expert on gardening. They have also in preparation a new book by Mrs. Ruth McEnery Stuart, entitled "The River's Children," to be illustrated by Harry C. Edwards.

DANA ESTES & Co. will have ready shortly an entirely new translation of the complete works of Tolstoy, edited by Professor Leo Wiener, of Harvard University. The endeavor of the editor has been to give the text complete in every particular and absolutely true to the original, giving everything printed in Russia in the full edition of Tolstoy's works. Besides Tolstoy's writings the edition will contain a comprehensive life of the author, and a bibliography comprising a list not only of Tolstoy's own publications, but also of the books and magazine articles about him in English, German, French and several other languages. Besides this apparatus there will be a chronological table giving the main incidents of Tolstoy's life, a complete analysis of all his writings, and an alphabetical concordance to every thought and idea in Tolstoy's writings. The edition will be complete in twenty-four volumes, set in uniform style, in large, clear, well-spaced type, and illustrated with 150 pictures selected from the most authoritative sources, frequently from very rare Russian books and manuscripts, as well as most celebrated paintings.

UNDER the happy title of "After Work: Fragments from the Workshop of an Old Publisher," Edward Marston, F.R.G.S., the veteran head of the house of Sampson Low, Marston & Co., to which post he came so many years ago on the retirement of Sampson Low the elder, is to publish a volume of personal reminiscences covering a connection with the business of bookselling and publishing in Great Britain for over sixty years. It was "in the forties" that Mr. Marston went to London and was engaged by Sampson Low as an assistant, and so came into relation with Macaulay, the Pollocks, G. P. R. James, and other authors, and with the original Harper brothers, and was associated with the start of The Publishers' Circular. From 1856, nearly fifty years ago, when he became a partner in the house, he came more and more into close relations with noted authors, American and English, and some of the reminiscences, as those of Mrs. Stowe, Henry M. Stanley and others will add much to the biographical data as to those distinguished people. It will thus be seen that the book will be of particular interest to the trade and of general interest to the reading public. William Heinemann will be the English publisher, and Charles Scribner's Sons the American publishers.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY have in preparation a work by the Rev. Dr. G. B. F. Hallock, entitled "Growing Toward God," which treats of the comfort of prayer, the sympathy of Christ, etc.; "Cruising for the Cross," by the Rev. Charles A. S. Dwight, a fascinating sea story, presenting an all-around-the-world voyage in the interests of evangelistic work; "The Daily Pathway," by Margaret E. Sangster, treating of keeping one's word, a talent for living, etc.; "A History of American Revivals," by Dr. Frank G. Beardsley; "The Teachings of Jesus Concerning God the Father," by the Rev. Dr. Alexander T. Robertson, and "The Teachings of Jesus Concerning the Scriptures," by the Rev. David J. Burrell, two new volumes in the series on the Teachings of Jesus; "Nameless Women of the Bible," by the Rev. Theron Brown, who takes sixteen of the anonymous female worthies of the Bible and with graphic power tells the story of their lives; "The Religious Life of Famous Americans," by the Rev. Dr. Louis Albert Banks; "Adventures of Jack Philip, Rear-Admiral U. S. N.," based on the private journal of the doughty naval hero, with an introduction by Captain A. T. Mahan; also, "Children and the Home," by Eleanor A. Hunter, a capital book for both children and parents.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just brought out Sir Gilbert Parker's new novel, "A Ladder of Swords," illustrated by the Kinneys; "The Georgians," by Will N. Harben, the central figure of which is Abner Daniel, the kindly, shrewd old Southern farmer who gave his name to a previous story of Mr. Harben's; "The Castle Comedy," by Thompson Buchanan, the scenes of which are laid in England in the time of Napoleon I.; a new story of New England life for girls, by Miss Ellen Douglas Deland, entitled "Josephine;" "Imperator et Rex," by the author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress," who, in the present book, deals with the German emperor "as he really is;" also, a new volume of poems, by Will Carleton, entitled "Over the Hills from the Poorhouse," a sequel to the author's "Over the Hills to the Poorhouse." They will publish next week Joseph Conrad's new novel, "Nostromo," the scenes of which are laid in a South American republic, the hero being a Genoese sailor; "The Flower of Youth," a new romance by Roy Golfe Gilson, author of "In the Morning Glow," etc., who writes of the byways of domestic life rather than of the crowded highways; also, Gertrude Smith's new story for small children, entitled "Little Precious," illustrated and bound as a companion volume to the author's "Roggie and Reggie Stories," etc.

H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY, Boston, will bring out on the 20th inst. the long-promised work on physical culture, entitled "Health, Strength and Power," by Dr. Dudley Allen Sargent, director of the Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard University, etc. The author, who is a widely-recognized authority on his subject, is the inventor of most of the gymnastic apparatus now in general use; yet in the present work he has given special attention to a series of exercises that require no apparatus whatever. The book contains over a hundred half-tone illustrations from original photographs furnished by the author. They also call attention to their Red Letter Library a series of handy-volume classics which they are bringing out by arrangement with Blackie & Son. Each volume is complete in itself, and contains an introduction, biographical and critical, by such authorities as George Meredith, Alfred Austin, Frederic Harrison and others of equally high reputation. The volumes now ready are Thackeray's "Four Georges," "Select Essays," by De Quincey, Keble's "The Christian Year," Lamb's "Essays of Elia," "Imitation of Christ," Emerson's "Select Essays," Carlyle's "Select Essays," Oliver Wendell Holmes's "The Autocrat of the Breakfast-Table," "An Eighteenth Century Anthology," "Confessions of St. Augustine," "A Seventeenth Century Anthology," De Quincey's "Confessions of an Opium Eater," poems by Robert Herrick and poems by William Cowper.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co.'s fall publications include: "The History of the Standard Oil Company," by Ida M. Tarbell; "Double Harness," by Anthony Hope; "In the Closed Room," by Frances Hodgson Burnett; "The Brethren," by H. Rider Haggard; "The Mountains," by Stewart Edward White; "Blazed Trail Stories," a new volume of stories dealing with life among the lumbermen of the Northwest, by Stewart Edward White; "The House of Fulfilment," by George Madden Martin, the author of "Emmy Lou," "Far from the Maddening Girls," by Guy Wetmore Carryl; "Little Citizens," by Myra Kelly; "Debonnaire," by W. F. Payson; "Cabbages and Kings," by O. Henry; "Indian Fights and Fighters," by Cyrus Townsend Brady; "Andrea, the Tribulations of a Child," from the Danish of Karin Michaelis, translated by J. N. Laurvik; "War and Peace," by Tolstoy, translated by Mrs. Garnett; "The Little Grey House," by Marion Ames Taggart; "Granny's Wonderful Chair," by Frances Browne, with an introduction by Frances Hodgson Burnett; "The Americans," by Hugo Münsterberg; "Russian Literature," by Prince Kropotkin; "French Home Cooking," by Berthe Julienne Low; "The Secret of Popularity," by Emily Holt; "The Courtships of Queen Elizabeth," based on the official records in the British Public Record office, by Martin Hume; "The Homestead," in the Country Home Series, by E. P. Powell; "McClure's Children's Annual for 1905," also, "Monsieur Dupin," a reprint of Poe's mystery tales, with fine illustrations by C. R. Macauley.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON have just published "A Yankee on the Yangtze," by William Edgar Geil, the traveller, who crossed the entire breadth of China under the protection of the Imperial Government, ascending the Yangtze almost to its sources, crossing the great upland plains and the mountains of the Shans (wild men) to the Burman border. The opium question and other problems of the Celestials are dealt with, and a thorough study of the effect of missions on the Chinese and the difficulties they have met and overcome are given. Mr. Geil is the first American to ascend the great river on a native gunboat flying the American flag and accompanied by a mandarin specially appointed. The book is illustrated by one hundred full-page photographs, and includes a reproduction in Chinese characters of the Sacred Edict. They will publish shortly "Questions of Faith," a series of lectures on the Creed, by Principal Lindsay, Professor Laidlaw, Dr. James Denny and others, delivered last winter in the Renfield Church at Glasgow; and "Leaves for Quiet Hours," a devotional book, by the Rev. Dr. George Matheson, author of "Moments on the Mount." They have in preparation "St. Paul's Conception of the Last Things," by Rev. H. A. A. Kennedy; "The Eschatology of Jesus," by the Rev. Lewis A. Muirhead; "The Master's Questions to His Disciples," by the Rev. G. H. Knight; "The Spirit of God," by Professor Irving F. Wood, of Smith College; "A History of Preaching," by Professor A. C. Dargan, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; "Thirty Years in Madagascar," by the Rev. T. Matthews, of the London Missionary Society; a study of the Esquimaux by the Rev. Mr. Peck; also, a magnificent architectural book, entitled "British Homes of To-Day," edited by W. Shaw Sparrow, to which leading English authorities contribute. For the Christmas trade they will offer some attractive juveniles, with colored illustrations.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

WHEN I was travelling in the United States some twelve years ago I bought a book in paper cover, for 50 cents, to read on a railway journey. The tale was a singular one, of the Jules Verne type, on the X-ray subject, and I should much like to refer to the story, as at this distance of time I cannot remember the details. Its title was, I believe, the "Arc-Ray" or "Acme-Ray," or "Alpha-Ray," but I cannot remember the author's name. It described an apparatus which threw a ray of immense power on the ground and dissolved earth or rock layer by layer into invisibility, so that apparently a circular shaft existed which displayed on its sides the various geological formations through which it passed. Also I think there was something about descending to the centre of the earth, but this part I even forget if it were in the same volume. This is, however, of no importance, as it is the X-ray business that I have occasion to read again. Can any of your readers help me in tracing the book. B. M. RITSO.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

✉ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

✉ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

NOW READYTHE*Publishers' Trade List Annual 1904

This volume, as heretofore, includes the new catalogues and lists of the year—three hundred and twenty-six in all—and supersedes the previous issue. The price of this volume of over 5000 pages is $2, (cloth bound, with Denison thumb index), and there is no guide to books which furnishes so much information at so low a cost.

NEARLY READYTHE COMBINED INDEX, 1903-1904

The new Index, combining in one alphabet supplementary material for 1903 and 1904, will make a volume of nearly 500 pages, and the price, instead of $2.50 as originally announced, will therefore be $3, except to subscribers whose remittances at $2.50 are received before publication day of the Index, September 15th. This alphabet is supplementary to the original Index of 1902, and the Combined Index (covering the original 1902 Index and the Supplementary 1903-4 Index) can be had at $7—or previous to September 15th, at $6.

READY SEPTEMBER TWENTY-SIXTH

COMRADES IN ARMS

By GENERAL CHARLES KING
A TALE OF TWO HEMISPHERES

Illustrations by GEORGE GIBBS and E. W. DEMING

IN this new story by this popular author will be found a plot entirely different from anything he has previously done, but of the most intense and exciting interest. It begins with a most strange complication at a frontier post in the Black Hills of Dakota shortly before the outbreak of the Spanish War. The leading characters are then transported to far distant scenes in the Philippines, and the closing chapters bring them and the story back to America. It is in three parts:

Part I. What Happened in the West

Part II. What Happened in the East

Part III. What Happened in the End

The reader will renew acquaintance with some old friends and will be richly entertained by the experiences of men and women of army life, which none can better depict than this charming writer.

Novel

By Alfred Henry Lewis

Author of "THE BOSS"

12mo, Cloth. Illustrated in colors by Jay Hambidge

$1.50

"The President" is more thoroughly a novel than "The Boss" in the development of love interest and intrigue. But the author has drawn upon his extraordinary knowledge of the inside of political life and he tells a remarkable story. "The President" is a book that will be heard from everywhere.

The Pagan's Progress

By Gouverneur Morris

Author of "Aladdin O'Brien," etc.

12mo, Cloth. Illustrated by John Rae. Facsimile frontispiece in colors.

$1.00

Mr. Morris's originality may be counted upon for the unexpected. His story is original in that the primitive man really lives and loves in his pages. There are scenes thrilling with adventure, warfare, jealousy and fierce revenge, and there are touches of delightful humor. How the Pagan fought and loved is shown in the singularly graphic pages of this fresh and stirring romance of the days when the world was young.

A DOG'S TALE

By MARK TWAIN

This famous dog story is now published in a beautiful holiday edition, with illustrations in color by W. T. Smedley, in response to the numerous demands for it in book form. It is a powerful piece of fiction, being told entirely from the dog's standpoint, and has made a widespread appeal to all classes of readers.

THE LADY OF LOYALTY HOUSE

BY

JUSTIN HUNTLY MCCARTHY.

Author of "If I Were King."

A sparkling romance of Puritan and Cavalier days at the outbreak of the great Civil War in England, 1642. Love makes its way through all barriers of faction and strife, as the story reveals. The incidental characters are novel and amusing, and give telling effect to a series of cleverly contrived and brilliant episodes.

Post 8vo, Cloth, $1.50

THE FLOWER OF YOUTH

By ROY ROLFE GILSON

Author of "In the Morning Glow."

Mr. Gilson's new book is by far his most important work, and is written along the same delightful lines of his former successes. It is a story that can be compared only with "Prue and I." The book is full of quaint humor and sentiment, and there are many parts dealing with child-life, handled with the same simplicity and truth found in Mr. Gilson's earlier stories.

Post 8vo, Cloth, $1.25

LOVE IN CHIEF

By ROSE K. WEEKES

A new novel of English rural life, in which the heroine, Dolly Fane, though of aristocratic lineage, has been reared among the unconventionalities of the country. Dolly is all the more charming for her dainty independence and original ways. The story is full of bright and amusing conversation, and pictures the delightful ease of English country life.

THE CYCLE OF LIFE

According to Modern Science

By C. W. SALEEBY

These essays deal chiefly with the greater problems of the universe—the future fate of the sun, moon, and earth, the laws of gravity and the ether, the wonders of the nebulae, etc. Mr. Saleeby's manner is fascinating, and his attitude open-minded, making his volume one of the most readable and inspiring books of the day.

The name and address of each contestant should be clearly written on their communications.

Does it Pay to Advertise in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY? I say, and say emphatically, Yes, It Does Pay!

Do you wish to know why? Well, I'll tell you. On August 8, 1904, I received from the binder the first copy of WEBSTER'S IMPERIAL DICTIONARY, which had been advertised in this paper almost exclusively. On September 3d, in less than 30 days, the entire first edition had been sold—long before the binder could turn it out complete—and we had to begin cutting our shipments down to let everyone have some. In cases where orders for 100 copies received any, about 25 were shipped, and so on throughout the list.

Never before in the history of book making could a publisher of a dictionary make such a statement honestly.

The second edition is now in process and will soon be finished, but send in your orders promptly because "history repeats itself," and we are likely to be out of it again before the Third Edition is off the press.

I am most grateful to the Trade for the flattering reception accorded to the latest Webster—the authentic Webster—thoroughly revised and brought to date, and I hereby thank you heartily for the same, also the numerous letters of encouragement and good cheer which have been received on the completion of this monumental work.

We will fill your orders as soon as we can—probably by September 26th to 30th at the latest.

SCRIBNERSReady September 17OUR BIG GAMEUniform with "Our Feathered Game."By DWIGHT W. HUNTINGTON. With 16 full-page illustrations from photographs. $2.00 net (postage 15 cents).

The cordial reception which the public gave to Mr. Huntington's "Our Feathered Game" has led to the preparation of a complementary volume, carried out on the same lines and dealing with "Our Big Game," from the point of view of the sportsman who is also a lover of nature. The work is divided into four books treating respectively of the individual members of the Deer Family, the Ox Family, the Bear Family and the Cat Family. As in the case of the earlier volume, the appendix contains the technical information likely to be useful to a big game hunter. The author has shot nearly all of the animals he describes and his stories of the chase and his accounts of the habits of the various wild animals are both entertaining and instructive. The illustrations are for the most part from photographs of wild animals in their natural haunts.

Ready September 24THE SOLDIER of the VALLEY*By NELSON LLOYD. Illustrated by A. B. Frost. 12mo, $1.50.

THE FOOD OF THE GODSBy H. G. WELLS. 12mo, $1.50

Several novels by H. G. Wells have shown his extraordinary power of vividly realizing the most daringly-imagined conditions. No reader of "The War of the Worlds" or "When the Sleeper Wakes" is likely to forget the strange and powerful pictures of a possible future there created, or the ingenuity which presented his conceptions with such attraction. "The Food of the Gods" is a surpassing example of these powers; and in it Mr. Wells combines them with a curious but always very telling addition of humor and pathos.

NOTES IN SEASON

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish shortly a volume entitled "Art Crafts for Beginners," by Frank G. Sanford, director of the Arts Craft Department of Chautauqua. The book describes in detail design, woodworking, pyrography, sheet-metal working, leather work, bookbinding, clay modeling, basketry and bead work, and has the indorsement of many leaders in the Arts and Crafts movement. Another book of practical interest, soon to be issued by the Century Co., is "Mary's Garden," by Frances Duncan, really a practical treatise on the making of a flower garden told in the form of a story.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will publish at once a new novel by Rose N. Carey, entitled "At the Moorings," a love story of to-day, which in the opinion of the publishers is likely to appeal to her special audience even more strongly than anything the author has thus far written; "New Samaria," a new work of fiction by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell; "A Conspiracy Under the Terror," by Paul Gault, author of "Love and Lovers of the Past," a historical narrative, founded on contemporary records, of the many plans of escape and the romantic attempts made to rescue Marie Antoinette and the royal family, illustrated with facsimiles, etc.; also, the works of Rabelais, translated into English by Sir Thomas Urquhart and Peter Antony Motteaux, with illustrations by Louis Chalon.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready Mark Twain's "A Dog's Tale," with illustrations, in color, by W. T. Smedley. They will bring out next week—on the 22d inst.—"The Cycle of Life," by C. W. Saleeby, an Englishman whose articles in Harper's Magazine, the London Academy and other periodicals on some of the scientific subjects covered in this book, have attracted wide and favorable notice; Justin Huntly McCarthy's new novel, "The Lady of Loyalty House," the scenes of which are laid in 1642 at the outbreak of the trouble between the King and Parliament; "Riverland," Robert W. Chambers's new nature book for children, with eight full-page pictures by Elizabeth Shippen Green; also, "The Story of the Candlesticks," the famous tale of the Bishop and Jean Valjean, from Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables," a new volume in the dainty Wayside Series. The publication of Joseph Conrad's new novel, "Nostromo," has been postponed to the latter part of September.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready a new volume by Dwight W. Huntington on "Our Big Game," complementing the author's volume on "Our Feathered Game." The volume is divided into four parts, treating of the individual members of the deer family, the ox family, the bear family and the cat family. The sixteen illustrations which accompany the text are for the most part from photographs of wild animals in their natural haunts. They have also just ready a new and cheaper edition of Richard Harding Davis's celebrated dog story—"The Bar Sinister"—with all the colored illustrations. They will bring out on the 24th inst. "The Soldier of the Valley," by Nelson Lloyd, a story of a quiet rustic neighborhood of the Pennsylvania valley, with illustrations by A. B. Frost; also, "The Food of the Gods," in which the author, H. S. Wells, combines the ingenuity and imagination displayed in his "War of the Worlds," etc., with a curious but always very telling addition of humor and pathos.

Ames, Jos. Sweetmen. Text-book of general physics for high schools and colleges. N. Y., Amer. Book Co., [1904.] c. 768 p. O. cl., $3.50.

This book was begun with the intention of having it serve as a revision of the "Theory of physics," written seven years ago. It was soon discovered, however, that this plan was not possible; and so the new book was written without any reference to the former one. The idea that guided the preparation of both are the same, however. The author still believes that the most important element in a course of instruction in physics is "a text-book which states the theory of the subject in a clear and logical manner so that recitations can be held on it."

Until thirty years ago earthquakes were regarded as "formative geologic forces of nature, whose origin was mysterious, but which accomplished important structural results." Recent study and investigation by means of instruments which measure force and motions have made clear the fact that they are "pure effects of geologic forces . . . an electric vibration of the earth-mass." In the light of this "new science of seismology," Major Dutton treats of earthquakes in their various manifestations arising to bring them within the range of popular science.

The "red window," which gives the story name, was, according to legend, used during the English Parliamentary wars to warn loyal cavaliers of danger; it was situated in a tower of an old manor house in the Essex Marshes. In the present novel the window was to have been used as a signal that the owner of the old hall had forgiven the heir, whom he had disinherited in anger. A relative, however, with designs on the estate, uses it as a means of luring the heir into a trap; almost all the characters, notably the heroine, are concerned in proving his innocence and in unravelling the mystery which thwarts even skilful detectives.

All matter, whether for the reading matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SELLING FROM SAMPLES.*

COMPARED with the representatives of other trades, the travellers for most publishing houses in this country are at a disadvantage in so far as they are not able to show complete or satisfactory samples of their latest lines. Indeed, it has at times seemed to us, looking at the subject from the drummer's point of view, as though the American booktrade was approaching its latter end, and was to be carried off on a "stretcher." The business of bookselling in this respect threatens to be fast lapsing into desuetude, and the traveller is obliged more and more to rely for the success of his trips—as the retailer is for his sales to the public—upon the color and showiness of sample covers rather than upon their contents; so far has this got to be the fact that books are not to any great extent shown even by advance sheets, but simply foreshadowed in sample covers made together in long strips that peel out like an accordion under the significant title of "stretcher." In rare cases a dummy is available, and this very likely is made up only of one signature of text, with an illustration or two, and enough pages of blank paper to show the probable thickness of the finished book. In such cases, more frequently than not, the cover itself is without lettering or decoration.

Under present international copyright requirements, making necessary simultaneous publication here and in England, and owing to other circumstances that subject the publication, especially of a book of foreign origin, to more or less delay, it may not always be possible to provide travellers with completed copies of forthcoming books. Whatever may be the cause, the effect certainly is well nigh disastrous to all concerned. The traveller in bringing such books to the attention of the retailer is obliged to depend upon generalities rather than upon arguments which he should be able to re-enforce with ocular proof. In the case of new customers, or those with whom the traveller may not yet be closely acquainted, he is to a certain extent without a point of contact so far as those books are concerned of which he is able to show only the covers or a dummy containing simply a signature or two of text. There is certainly room here for reform—a reform that will benefit seller and buyer and relieve the intermediary of a great deal of strain, the release from which would enable him to give more time and better attention to the canvass of his other books.

The necessity for carrying samples of one's lines is every year becoming more evident, and, wherever the business warrants it, it is advisable and even highly essential, that as much stock as possible should be carried and shown. When a buyer has an opportunity of testing what he is buying it will do much more towards convincing him than the most perfect illustrations or flowery descriptions. Not only will the carrying of samples be likely to result in more business, but the oftener a traveller handles his wares the more familiar does he become with their nature and characteristics, and, as a consequence, the better able he is to speak of them. Moreover, the time occupied by the buyer in looking at samples is of great value to the salesman, in so far as it enables him to gain, as it were, a little breathing time in which to gather his forces and prepare for attack.

By a curious lapsus our editorial in the issue for September 3, on the Berne Copyright Bureau, confused utterly two quite different, though co-ordinate institutions. The Bureau International de l'Union pour la protection des œuvres littéraires et artistiques, established some years ago in connection with the Berne Copyright Convention, is in no way connected with the Permanent Bureau of the International Congress of Publishers, except that they share the same headquarters and that M. Morel is the active executive of both bureaus.

CATHOLIC CHOIR BOOKS.

No part of the Catholic liturgy has been more the subject of controversy than the official liturgical choir books, which by order of the Sacred Congregation of Choir Rites under Pope Pius IX. were edited by a commission of the Holy See and were approved as Libri Chorici Ecclesiae.

A thirty years' privilege to publish these typical service books was given to Frederick Pustet & Co., the well-known Catholic publishing house of Ratisbon, Rome, New York and Cincinnati. In these books for the first time all texts of the liturgy contained in the Roman missal and breviary, pontifical and ritual, are to be found with Gregorian melodies. This privilege of Pustet & Co. expired on January 1, 1901, and new editions will be printed by the Vatican press. The following statement was sent out recently by Pustet & Co. to the Roman Catholic clergy:

Being aware of the interest manifested in the "Plain Chant" question, we are prepared to state that the Holy Father recently received in audience the members of the commission charged with the preparation of the new "Plain Chant" editions, which will be printed by the Vatican press, and which may be reprinted as fast as issued by other publishers. The firm of Pustet will be one of the first to make use of this privilege, and as soon as the official copy of the "Graduale" (to be followed by the "Vesperale"), now in preparation, is issued we hope to bring out editions of these books and excerpts therefrom.

In the meantime, and until the new typical editions in question are ready, the Chant Books now in use may be maintained. We quote the words uttered by the Holy Father at the session of the recent Liturgical Congress and repeated by Monsignor Foucault, Bishop of St. De France, in this connection.

"Until this new typical edition has been issued all dioceses may continue the use of the Chant Books they now possess."

It is then a settled fact that the Solesmes Chant Books will not be declared the official Chant Books, but that an entirely new edition, based probably upon the researches made by the Benedictine Fathers, will be brought out by the Vatican press. As editors of the same the Benedictine Fathers have been designated.

"During the generation that Pustet & Co. have had the privilege of printing the typical service books," according to a writer in the New York Tribune, "there has been a great deal written for and against these editions, but the Holy See has at different times recommended to the bishops and all those to whom is intrusted the care of church music the edition of the 'Graduale Romanum.' And this the more as he has been very anxious that everywhere and in all dioceses unity with the church should be sustained, not only in other parts of the liturgy, but also in choir singing. In the many controversies, especially in France, in regard to the official choir books, the Sacred Congregation of Rites has often defended the authentic edition, which the congregation approved. Criticism of the liturgical choir books has been continued in recent years by the adherents of the so-called traditional Gregorian songs. It is urged that the only right and authentic Gregorian melodies are those which from the ninth to the eleventh century were collected from different manuscripts in Europe by a branch of the Benedictine order, whose headquarters are in Solesmes, with branches in Belgium, Germany and Austria.

"Regarding the authorized chant a well known Catholic clergyman said recently:

The new decree of the Sacred Congregation of Rites, dated January 8, 1904, is a logical consequence of the motu proprio of the Supreme Pontiff on sacred music. It is a law to which there is to be no exception. The Patriarchal Basilicas of Rome, even the Lateran Basilica itself, must forego all the privileges and exemptions they have hitherto enjoyed and bow to the new regulations. The last interminable Gloria in Excelsis has been sung in Rome, and vespers three hours long will no more be heard in its churches.

The authorization of the Ratisbon edition of the Gregorian Chant has been definitely cancelled from the statute book. The Ratisbon edition may not be freshly introduced anywhere, and where it is already in possession leave is given to continue its use only for such time as may be required to replace it with an edition drawn from the ancient manuscripts.

The codices that have come down to us in the monastic libraries and ecclesiastical archives agree substantially in their reading of the Gregorian melodies, though many minor differences exist between them. It is possible that some of these differences may be perpetuated in the editions that may now come into vogue under this new disciplinary law. The object of the new legislation is not to bring about that absolute uniformity in every liturgical note that was aimed at by the official recommendation of the Ratisbon edition. Its main purpose is to take up the old traditional chant in the advanced stage of development in which it is found in the old documents, and bring it once more into universal use.

"Some twenty years ago Father Hermesdoff made up a gradual, or Liber Usualis, from ancient manuscripts preserved chiefly in the Diocese of Treves, and this edition was used in that diocese by special leave of Leo XIII. until Monsignor Korum, the present bishop, with a desire to conform to the general use of the church, ordered the Ratisbon edition to be adopted. If this Hermesdoff edition were again restored to use it would satisfy the requirements of the new law.

"But the edition that will naturally come into general use is the well-known publication of the Solesmes Benedictines, who have labored so long, strenuously and so successfully for the present reform. It is the result of much critical study, it is ready to hand, and has practically no rival in the field. The Holy Father himself has shown his preference for this edition by honoring the Benedictines with the commission to prepare the books used by the grand choir of students of the national colleges in Rome at the Papal mass celebrated in honor of the thirteenth centenary of St. Gregory the Great. However, I have good authority for stating that there is no intention of granting an exclusive authorization to any one particular edition."

COMMUNICATIONS.

GEORGE W. OGILVIE'S DEFENSE OF THE USE OF THE WORD "WEBSTER."

CHICAGO, Sept. 10, 1904.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Referring to the editorial entitled "The Webster Controversy," in your issue of August 27, 1904, you are quite right in regard to your conclusion that the use of the name "Webster" is not in itself in contravention of copyright law. You are also right in making the statement that it is meaningless except as a catchword on any dictionary which is not a continuation of and a part of the work of Noah Webster. Such a book Webster's Imperial Dictionary is.

I quite agree with you that "the crux of the present controversy" between G. & C. Merriam Co. and myself is whether there was used in Webster's Imperial Dictionary copyright matter taken from Webster's International Dictionary, but I cannot agree with the statement, which was doubtless made inadvertently, that, in the litigation now in process between the Merriam Co. and myself, they are seeking to prove that I used material copyrighted by them. So far as I am aware they have made no such claim of wrongful use of their copyright matter, and should they make one it can be successfully denied. I started that litigation, not Merriam. It became necessary to do so because of Merriam's threats to sue "all along the line" every one who made or sold a dictionary bearing the name of "Webster" as part of its title. That exclusive right is not Merriam's, and I for one do not intend to be frightened by the threats, nor do I intend to permit such threats to long interfere with my business. Webster's International Dictionary was not used as a source of copy for Webster's Imperial Dictionary, but Noah Webster's original work was used as its basis, just as it was used as a basis for Webster's International Dictionary.

Referring to the regret expressed in your editorial because I used the name of "Webster" in connection with the dictionary that I am publishing, I would say that while I am not what might be called "a stickler" for the proprieties, I do think that any man who uses as much Webster material as I did in the preparation of Webster's Imperial Dictionary should give to him who wrote it full credit. Noah Webster's own work was used as a basis for Webster's Imperial Dictionary. Where it was correct it was permitted to stand, where because of changes in the language there are added meanings or variation of any sort from what was a proper definition in Webster's time, changes were made, and such omissions as there were, because of the growth of the language, were duly inserted in their proper place and defined in a creditable manner.

I very much regret that distance makes it impossible for me to either call upon you with a batch of the original editorial copy, or that you cannot call here where all of it could be examined, and thus have you ascertain by personal examination just what was done in an editorial way in the preparation of Webster's Imperial Dictionary. I would welcome such an examination, as I shall also any proceeding that will again definitely settle the question as to my own rights and those of G. & C. Merriam Co. I have taken action, the result of which will establish my rights, and I await confidently the decision of the courts. Having been threatened as long ago as June, 1903, by the G. & C. Merriam Co. that they would use every legal means in their power to prevent the publication of Webster's Imperial Dictionary—after such a threat of interference—I trust that the trade generally will give me credit for being possessed of enough common sense to do only that which I had a right to do.

It is pre-eminently proper that the courts should in all cases protect copyright matter. I am the owner of a great many copyrights myself, and I desire to have them protected to the fullest extent of the law. I have no objection whatever to the same protection being extended to every other publisher, and am always glad when a decision is rendered preventing a publisher from doing that which he has no right to do, or confirming in him his constitutional right to do that which he has a perfect right to do.

GEO. W. OGILVIE.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE REV. DR. GEORGE CLAUDE LORIMER, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, at Madison Avenue and Thirty-first Street, New York, died on the 8th inst. at Aix les Bains, France. Dr. Lorimer was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1838. His father died when Dr. Lorimer was still a baby. His mother afterward was married to the manager of the Theatre Royal and the boy went on the stage. At fourteen he went to sea and sailed before the mast in the Baltic. Returning later to his home he took up the study of medicine and then of law. Abandoning these pursuits he again took up the stage and came to this country in 1855, going to live in Louisville, Ky. While there he became interested in the Walnut Street Baptist Church, which he joined. He soon entered Georgetown College. Before being graduated he began his career as a preacher. At the beginning of the war between the States Lorimer returned to Louisville and became pastor of the Walnut Street Church. In 1870 he was called to the Tremont Temple in Boston, and while there became editor of The Watchman. In 1879 he accepted a call to the First Baptist Church in Chicago. In 1881 he organized the Immanuel Baptist Church. In 1890 he returned to the Tremont Temple and in 1901 he came to New York. Among the books from his pen are "Isms Old and New," "The Galilean," "The Great Conflict," "The Argument of Christianity," "Messages of To-day for Men of To-morrow," "Jesus, the World's Savior," "Studies in Social Life," "Christianity in the 19th Century," and "Christianity and the Social State." His last book, "The Master of Millions," a novel, attracted considerable attention when it was published last year.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

"It can hardly by this time be a secret," says The Book Monthly, "that Miss Jeannette Gilder is the author of that inviting little book, 'The Jessica Letters.'" Miss Gilder, however, denies the authorship.

THE pamphlet entitled "Mr. Roosevelt and the Presidency, by a Spectator," first published by the American News Company and later by G. P. Putnam's Sons, was written by Frederick W. Whitridge, a well-known New York lawyer.

THE poet laureate has a new work in press, made of prose, with here and there a bit of verse. It will be called "The Poet's Diary: Edited by Lamia," and will embrace the chapters of Italian impressions contributed to The National Review.

THE new novel which Henry Harland has just finished is said to deal with American life, returning to the scenes of his first stories, "The Yoke of the Thorah" and "Mrs. Peixada," written when he was a clerk in the Surrogate's Office, in the New York County Court House.

AN amusing mix-up of names has misled certain critics to credit Joseph Conrad, who wrote "Romance," with the authorship of a book bearing the title "The Second Mrs. Jim." Joseph Conrad, many years ago, wrote a tremendously powerful book called "Lord Jim," and possibly the reviewers may believe that it is about time for his lordship to have buried one wife and taken another, and for Mr. Conrad to have written a story about this second matrimonial venture. Joseph Conrad has not done so, and quite another Mr. Conrad—a Stephen Conrad—is responsible for this book.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE London Athenaeum in its issue for September 3 prints a review of Continental literature from July, 1903, to September, 1904. Belgian literature is reviewed by Paul Fredericq; Bohemian, by V. Tille; Danish, by Alfred Ipsen; French, by Jules Pravieux; German, by Ernst Heilbron; Dutch, by H. S. M. van Wickevoort Crommelin; Hungarian, by Rosika Schwimmer; Italian, by Guido Bagi; Polish, by Adam Belcikowski; Russian, by Valerii Briusov; and Spanish, by Rafael Altamira.

THE leading article in the September issue of The Printing Art is by Theodore L. De Vinne, on the subject of the "Sizes of Books." He gives some interesting details regarding a few old books, showing the origin of the names applied to the sizes, such as octavo and twelvemo. Forms and sizes of book pages and sizes of writing and printing papers are fully set forth. He comments upon the tendency of modern practice in manufacture for system in the gradation of sizes, and supplements his remarks with a table of figures recommended by the American Library Association. The article on the "Use of Paper Labels in Bookbinding," by W. A. Bradley, is also of timely interest.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, Boston, has prepared a consolidated index to the first fifty-two volumes of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, which was established in February, 1847. The printing of the index will be begun as soon as subscriptions sufficient to cover the cost of publication are secured. It is proposed to print in paper-covered parts, of from 96 to 128 pages each, similar to the quarterly number of the Register, four of the parts to a volume, which subscribers can bind to match their sets, the society furnishing covers when wanted. The price per part will depend wholly upon the number of subscriptions received. A careful estimate of the cost of publication has been made, which shows a probable cost of $5 per part to 200 subscribers, $2.50 per part for 400 subscribers and $1.67 for 600 subscribers. It is inexpedient to print unless at least 200 subscriptions are received, and it is hoped that fully 600 will be secured.

MANKATO, KAN.—L. J. Gould has disposed of his book and stationery business to Mrs. J. W. Keyes.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—The Preston Book Company has been forced into involuntary bankruptcy.

NEW YORK CITY.—George H. Richmond, the well-known dealer in rare books, will remove shortly to the Knickerbocker Trust Company Building, at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, the entrance being on the street side.

NEW YORK CITY.—Mrs. H. Williams has removed her periodical business to 927 Broadway.

PALMER, MASS.—F. R. Root has sold his book and stationery store in the Hampshire House Block to Lynn B. Gates, of Northampton.

PEORIA, ILL.—The Richardson Book and Stationery Company, 19 South Adams Street, are going out of the book business and will at once begin to close out their large stock of city and county school books. This change is being made by the firm in order to install an entirely new and complete printing and engraving plant, which they hope to have in operation by October 1.

PUEBLO, COLO.—W. H. Haines has succeeded to the book and stationery business of Bonney & Haines.

PULLMAN, WASH.—B. O. Driver, bookseller, has sold out to Clark & Co.

RED OAK, IA.—O. B. Hanson, bookseller, is succeeded by the City Book Store.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

H. B. BURROWS, vice-president of the Burrows Brothers Company, of Cleveland, O., has been appointed one of the judges of awards on stationery and allied branches at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

MRS. J. H. SHORTHOUSE has edited the correspondence and papers of her late husband, and these are to be published this fall by the Macmillan Company, under the title of "Letters and Literary Remains of J. Henry Short-house."

GEORGE D. HURST, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, has just brought out the following three books by Max O'Rell: "Jonathan and His Continent," in half leather; "A Frenchman in America," and "John Bull & Co.," both bound in cloth.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., will bring out shortly "Boss Tom," an anonymous tale of the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania, dealing with the dangers and excitement surrounding a mining village during a strike.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on October 1 Professor Charles G. D. Roberts's new romance, "The Prisoner of Mademoiselle." They announce that the title of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's forthcoming book, which has been in hand for some time, will be "A Woman of the World."

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have become the publishers of "Despotism and Democracy," by Foxcroft Davis, a novel of Washington society and politics which roused a good deal of interest on its publication by another firm a year or two ago. This fall the book will appear in a new edition.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has in press a study of the relation of Whittier to religious sentiment entitled "The Mind of Whittier." The author is the Rev. C. J. Hawkins, a New England divine. Mr. Whittaker has also in preparation "The Church's Lessons for the Christian Year," by the Rev. Dr. Alfred G. Mortimer.

CHAPMAN & HALL announce a tiny edition of Dickens's Christmas books in five volumes, each no bigger than an ordinary watch. Most of the original illustrations will be produced. They also announce "The Feminine Note in Literature," a series of critical studies, by W. L. Courtney, of the works of Mrs. Humphry Ward, Mrs. Craigie, Miss Mary Wilkins, Mrs. Voynich and others.

CHARLES D. RAYMER, the well-known bookseller at 15 Third Street, Minneapolis, according to the Minneapolis Daily News, discovered in a leather-bound volume, printed in London in 1704, "a real right specimen" of a bookworm, "with four horns on the head end and a COUPLE ON THE TAIL." The monster ought to be mounted and set up in the Smithsonian Institution.

CHARLES DEXTER ALLEN, author of "American Book Plates," etc., has been appointed a member of the International Jury of Awards at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, in the section dealing with books, bindings, fine printing, illustrations, etc. Cyril Davenport, of the British Museum, is also present in St. Louis at this time as a member of the same jury.

THE C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, will bring out this fall a new novel by Dwight Tilton, entitled "My Lady Laughter," a story of Boston in the days of the Revolution; also, a new book by Frances Parker, the author of "Margie of the Lower Ranch," entitled "Hope Hathaway," which also deals with ranch life, with illustrations by Charles M. Russell, the cowboy artist.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will bring out shortly a fifth edition of the first series of "Home Thoughts," by Mrs. James Farley Cox. The reception accorded the two volumes bearing this title has surpassed the expectation of the publishers. It is worthy of note that many Western States, including Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota, have officially recommended these books for use in the public school libraries.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish shortly "Dar-ul-Islam," by Mark Sykes. This is the record of a journey through ten of the Asiatic provinces of Turkey. It deals with the characteristics of the Turkish Empire. An appendix has been provided by John Hugh Smith and an introduction by Professor E. G. Browne, Adams Professor of Arabic at Cambridge. There will also be a number of maps and illustrations.

THE VILLAGE PRESS, at Hingham, Mass., has in preparation "The Ninety-first Psalm," with initials, in red and black, by Mr. Gouchy; "The Hollow Land," a tale, by William Morris, with decorations by Mr. Gouchy and a decorative frontispiece by Walter J. Enright; "Emerson as Seer," an address delivered by Charles William Eliot, at the Emerson Centennial in Boston in May, 1903; also, "Rabbi Ben Ezra," by Robert Browning, with illustrations on wood.

THE stationers of the United States are invited to take part in the organization of the National Association of Stationers and Manufacturers at a convention to be held in Chicago from October 3 to October 5. The Chicago Stationers' Association will meet delegates and visitors at their headquarters, at the Grand Pacific Hotel. A. E. Riddle, 115 Dearborn Street, will be pleased to give further information. The Stationers' Board of Trade will be pleased to appoint as delegates any who may desire to attend.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "Memories of Jane Cunningham Croly, ('Jenny June,') a volume of tributes to this famous author and club woman, prepared by a committee of the Woman's Press Club of New York; "Earthquakes, in the Light of the New Seismology," by Major Clarence Edward Dutton, U. S. A., a popular treatise in the Science Series, on the interesting subject of seismic disturbances; also, a handsomely illustrated volume on "Narragansett Bay," by Edgar Mayhew Bacon, describing the unique beauty and the historic and legendary charm of Rhode Island's great bay.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS has just published a translation, by Dr. Earley Vernon Wilcox, of Dr. Robert Ostertag's "Handbook of Meat Inspection." The volume contains also an introduction by Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the Pathological Division of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry. It discusses the best modes of procedure with the meat of diseased animals, and contains chapters on the preservation and sterilization of meat, as well as on its poisoning and adulteration. The volume has 260 illustrations and one colored plate.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have in preparation "Man's Journey to God," by M. D. Petre. The book is made up of extended notes or spiritual essays, planned in the form of a Christian's progress from "God as a Beginning," through "Christ as Way," to "God as End." They announce that the task of selection from such a mass of material as the correspondence of twenty-four years represents has been found so heavy that there is no prospect of any portion of "The Letters of Queen Victoria" being published during the present year.

"THE LITERARY YEAR-BOOK" has been transferred by George Allen, of London, to George Routledge & Sons, Ltd., who will publish the ninth annual volume, 1905, early in January next year. The new issue is now in active preparation, and Messrs. Routledge intend to introduce several new features. They intend to simplify the information in the second part of the year-book by combining certain articles in order to avoid cross references. The whole annual will be brought completely up to date, and the material will be presented in a thoroughly practical form.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have ready this week George Horace Lorimer's new book, "Old Gorgon Graham." This is a distinct departure from the author's "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son," although it is a sequel to that book. The young man is now married, consequently the theme of the letters principally concerns domestic economy and kindred topics. They have also just ready "A Belle of the Fifties," being the memoirs of Mrs. Clay, of Alabama, edited by Ada Sterling, describing social and political life in Washington and the South from 1853 to 1866, with anecdotes of most of the notabilities of that stirring quarter-century.

THE OLIVER DITSON COMPANY, Boston, have just brought out an interesting book for music teachers and students in C. A. Alchin's treatise on "Ear Training for Teacher and Pupil." This work does not aim to take the place of a textbook on harmony, but is designed rather, through training the sense of hearing, to teach the pupil to think in tones, so that he may sing, name, write and play what he hears; to harmonize melodies at sight, to improvise accompaniments, and to recognize and appreciate not only the melodic effects in music, but the harmonic and rhythmic as well. Discriminative hearing is indispensable to a musical education, and our need is not so much for the composers as for intelligent listeners, students and teachers.

THE DODGE PUBLISHING COMPANY will bring out at once "A Cynic's Meditations," a collection of bright sayings, by Walter Pulitzer, son of the founder of the New York American and nephew of the proprietor of the World. Personally he is a young man of charming manners, savoir-faire, and refinement. Born in New York 1878, he has a wide circle of friends. Under the cultivating influence of his mother—an English woman of birth—he has lived in an environment well calculated to aid his natural bent of mind. They have also nearly ready a collection of poems of unusual beauty and strength by Edith Hall Orthwein, a well-known society leader of Kansas City and St. Louis. The advance demand has been so large that the publishers have been compelled to make the first edition 10,000 copies.

JAMES POTT & Co. will publish this fall a new book by Frederick A. Ober, entitled "Our West Indian Neighbors," which covers the entire field of the vast archipelago lying between the two Americas. It includes every island of importance in the Greater and Lesser Antilles, and several, perhaps, which are of no importance at all. In the author's estimation, however, those islands, taken collectively, present an attractive field for investigation, even at this late day, when nearly the whole world has been explored, mapped out and tramped over by travellers and tourists. He regards them as in every sense important to the continued development of our country, and as his acquaintance extends over a period of nearly thirty years, and his experiences include the adventures of a naturalist, in search of rare birds, an historian engaged by the World's Columbian Exposition to ferret out the literary and actual remains of Columbus, general tourist, traveller and prospective colonist, they take a wide range and ought to present results attractive to every reader. The volume contains fifty-four illustrations.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will bring out on September 22 an interesting reprint of a classic series of fairy tales bearing the title "Granny's Wonderful Chair." The volume was a favorite with Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, and, in fact, the first book she ever possessed, and she writes a "truly" fairy story as an introduction to it, telling how wonderfully the book came into her possession, disappeared, and magically turned up again many years later. The stories are unusual in their style and in their imaginative quality, but are written so simply that the smallest child can understand them. The book is illustrated with pictures in color. They will bring out at the same time "The Little Grey House," a story for young folks by Marion Ames Taggart, author of "The Wyndham Girls," etc. This story recounts the adventures of the delightful children who inhabited "The Little Grey House," and tells how they managed to make sunshine for themselves even when misfortune struck their little home, and how they managed to get the best of their ill-luck. It has a good deal of the quality of Miss Alcott's work.

WILLIAM HEINEMANN, London, will publish at once the translation of the complete works of Heinrich Heine, which Charles Godfrey Leland did not live to finish, but which has been completed by Thomas Brooksbank and "Margaret Armour." The four new volumes will contain Heine's poetical works. Mr. Heinemann has in preparation three books of memoirs, widely different in character. The first to appear will be the recollections of Edward Marston, the veteran publisher, entitled "After Work," and his intimacy with Sir Henry Stanley and many other authors of first-class importance during the second half of the nineteenth century will certainly render this book one of particular interest. The second book will be the "Memoirs of John Wilson Murray," who unravelled the celebrated Birchall case, and laid open the great American bank note forgery case, in which no fewer than $1,000,000 of forged notes were circulated. In all there were no fewer than sixty cases which his detective department dealt with successfully. The third book will be the "Recollections of Sarah Bernhardt." These will hardly be out before the turn of the year.

THE IMPERIAL GERMAN COMMISSIONER to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition requested the firm of F. Volckmar, of Leipzig, as representatives of the Deutsche Buchgewerbeverein, to prepare a German library for exhibition in the German House. The result is a library, arranged in eight cases, representative of seven different branches of science and literature, namely: (1) belles lettres, classics, complete works, novels, poetry, dramatic works, selections; (2) art, music, geography and ethnology; travel, history, biography, history of literature; (3) medicine, pharmacy, veterinary science; (4) natural science, mathematics, astronomy, agriculture, forestry, horticulture, housekeeping; (5) technology, photography, engineering; (6) law, economics, commerce; (7) theology, philosophy, philology, linguistics, pedagogy, educational works, archaeology. The price of the entire collection is 22,100 marks. The volumes are bound in the most artistic manner, and appeal especially to booklovers and collectors of éditions de luxe. Orders for the entire collection or for duplicate volumes will be filled by G. E. Stechert, 9 East 16th Street, New York, who will furnish catalogues on application.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have ready this week an original story entitled "The Affair at the Inn," which is the joint work of Kate Douglas Wiggin and three of her friends, Mary and Jane Findlater and Allan McAulay. The events in this breezy love story take place at a quiet country inn on Dartmoor in Devonshire. Each author is responsible for the point of view of one of the four characters, so there is a four-fold originality in the presentation which adds distinctly to the pleasure of the reader. The volume has a number of illustrations in tint by Martin Justice. They have also just ready "Journalism and Literature, and other essays," by H. W. Boynton, most of whose work will be familiar to readers of the Atlantic; "The Works of Koheleth," by John Franklin Genung, which deals with the Great Preacher and his writings, which are more generally known as the Book of Ecclesiastes; the De Monarchia of Dante, translated, with introduction and notes, by Aurelia Henry; "The Elements of English Grammar," by W. F. Webster, in the Webster-Cooley Language Series; a new Riverside edition of the works of Tennyson, in seven volumes; also, "A Book of Little Boys," by Helen Dawes Brown, stories full of human sympathy for children, and alive with the possibilities for good which lie ready to be developed in children by thoughtful and loving treatment.

D. APPLETON & COMPANY published twelve juvenile books this week, two by Ralph Henry Barbour entitled "On Your Mark" and "The Arrival of Jimpsion;" "The Fight for the Valley," by W. C. Stoddard;" "Old Put, the Patriot," by Frederick A. Ober;" "The Land Hero of 1812," by Chauncey C. Hotchkiss;" "The Vinland Champions," by Ottilie A. Liljencrantz;" "The Deadwood Trail," by Gilbert Patten;" "The Boy Anglers," by Charles F. Holder;" "Three College Graces," by Gabrielle E. Jackson;" "Everyday Girls," by Julie M. Lippmann;" "In the Reign of Queen Dick," by Carolyn Wells; and "Teddy Baird's Luck," by Kate D. Sweetser. They will bring out in October a new story by Ellen Thornycroft Fowler, entitled "Kate of Kate Hall," in which she has had some collaboration from her husband, Mr. Felkin, to whom she was married about a year ago. Miss Fowler's last book was "Place and Power." She achieved her first success in this country with "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," of which about 50,000 copies were sold. It was followed by "A Double Thread" and "The Farringtons," both of which had large sales. "Place and Power" was among the successful books of a year ago. "Kate of Kate Hall" is an English story, and readers will not fail to discover in it the constructive skill of charm and dialogue which have been notable in Miss Fowler's previous books. They will bring out at the same time Joel Chandler Harris's new book of verse, entitled "The Tar Baby, and Other Rhymes of Uncle Remus." Mr. Harris, in his prefatory note, says that, with the exception of two stories, the folklore tales embodied in this volume are new, "having come into my hands from various sources during the last ten years." The Tar Baby story, already familiar in its prose version, "has been thrown into rhyme for the purpose of presenting and preserving what seems to be the genuine version." It will have full-page illustrations printed in colors, colored decorations and border designs.

AUCTION SALES.

SEPTEMBER 27-29, 3 P.M.—Miscellaneous, including some rare items. (959 lots.)—Anderson.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Mother Stork's Baby Book

It is freely admitted that this book has no equal as a baby's biography. Verses by Eugene Field and Stevenson, twelve hand-colored pages, illustrations by Mrs. Wheelan—these are a few of the good points.

Cloth, $2.00; full silk, $3.50

Another book the trade is taking a lively interest in is Walter Pulitzer's clever collection of epigrams

A Cynic's Meditations

The advance orders for this book prove that it has made the hit of the season for a novelty.

Parchment, 75 cents

Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln's new cook book covers the subject of "Luncheon" in a most thorough and satisfactory manner. It is a comprehensive, attractive, practical volume. He is a wise man who orders this book liberally, for not only will he please his customers but fill his pocket-book also.

What to have for Luncheon

Fully illustrated with photographs. Our advertising will boom the sale.

Old Gorgon Graham

We publish on Thursday what should be the most widely circulated book of 1904: George Horace Lorimer's new series of Letters From A Self-Made Merchant to His Son. The latter young gentleman is now a manager in the business instead of a clerk and "Old Gorgon's" inimitably funny and shrewd advice relates to larger business problems. The fact that nine countries have called in advance for separate editions of "Old Gorgon Graham" shows the universality of its appeal. (Illustrated, $1.50.)

A Belle of the Fifties

Mrs. Virginia Clay-Clopton (the wife of Senator Clement C. Clay, of Alabama) was a leading figure in the brilliant circle of Washington society during the two decades preceding the Civil War. Her memoirs, collected and edited by Ada Sterling, are full of most entertaining anecdotes of all the notabilities of that quarter century—social, political, musical, literary, theatrical. It is a fascinating and sprightly narrative by a typical Southern woman. With twenty-four portraits, two in color, from rare photographs and daguerreotypes, net $2.75 (postage, 28c. extra).

Germany

We have just ready a new edition of Mr. von Schierbrand's sterling work on the German empire, its people and ruler. The volume is already the standard modern work on the subject. Net, $1.00 (postage, 10c. extra).

TO THE TRADE

An unusual book, even by an unknown author, will surely reach its audience. When a story is "remarkable, dramatic and exciting," when the style is restrained, and the plot out of the ordinary in matter and style, a dealer is safe in recommending it.

Such a book is The Interloper, a story not unlike and not unequal to Lady Rose's Daughter for interest and distinction.

One firm ordered 500 copies on August 21st, re-ordered 100 more on the 30th, 110 on the 7th of September, and 100 more on the 11th.

Have you had it? Try a small supply at first, give it to your most critical people, and we vouch you will give them satisfaction and us re-orders. Use the order blank below.

THE ORDER FOR

The Pillar of Light

by the author of "The Wings of the Morning"

First, a good story by an author who has made a hit—gained friends—established a style all his own. Next, the advertising. Then, the sales.

It is easy if there are no "ifs." Louis Tracy's new book "THE PILLAR OF LIGHT" is such a royally entertaining story of adventure—with plenty of romance tucked in—that you will sell many copies.

More People ask for

THE CHALLONERS

the new novel by E. F. BENSON

Author of "Dodo"

than for any novel published this Autumn. So say the English booksellers. In this country THE CHALLONERS is one of the Six Best Selling Books. On the same list is the new novel by E. L. VOYNIOH, author of "The Gadfly" and "Jack Raymond."

A Daughter of the Snows

By JACK LONDON

as in big demand in England.

THE FLIGHT OF A MOTH

By EMILY POST

The author of "The Flight of a Moth" has taken as the heroine of her book an attractive young American widow who has secured liberty to do exactly as she pleases. She has an enthusiastic, pleasure-loving temperament, and has very little chance for either in her childhood, and none at all in her married life.

At the point where the book opens she has just laid aside her mourning for her husband, who exacted even further obedience to conventionality than had her relatives, and for the first time in her life finds herself in the position where she can do as she pleases. The idea of her own liberty seems too wonderful to be true, and she packs up her things and starts off for Europe with no one but her maid. She feels free and reckless, and cares for nothing but to make up for lost time and amuse herself to the extent of her ability.

The things she does and sees and thinks; her great social successes, and what happens to her in the end, is, of course, the plot of the book.

IMPORTANT

This book will sell, anyway. But, to gain time, we shall introduce this clever story to the public by special methods, as the author is unknown.

THE LOVES OF MISS ANNE

By S. R. CROCKETT

Author of "The Lilac Sunbonnet," "Strong Mac," etc.

The Loves of Miss Anne do not make a serious story. But then a serious story is sometimes dull, and there is nothing dull about The Loves of Miss Anne. A good many men fall in love with her, and the man who wins her has a very steep and difficult path to tread. There is not a dull page nor an unpleasant thought in the story, and it is as breezy and wholesome as the Highlands themselves.

NEW NOVEL

OF
G R A U S T A R K

By the Author of
"Graustark," "Castle Cranecrow," etc.

The Mail and Express, in a long review of this book, makes the statement, "that of all the current stories by favorites of the 'best-selling-novel' period, this is by far the best and most entertaining;" that the book is eminently readable, and that it is superior to Graustark. This is also the judgment of many others.

Early orders indicate that this book is to be one of the great successes of the year.

GOD'S GOOD MAN

A SIMPLE LOVE STORY

THE NEW NOVEL BY

MARIE CORELLI

*Author of "A Romance of Two Worlds,"
"The Master Christian," "Thelma," etc.*

Ready September 24th

The English publisher writes:

"The book promises an extraordinarily large sale. Our country orders actually exceed those of any previous work of the author. After having read the book we believe it is just the kind of story which will be thoroughly appreciated by the general public on both sides of the Atlantic."

The novel is much on the lines of "Thelma."

By ROSE CECIL O'NEILL

With over Sixty Illustrations by the Author. Beautifully bound, 12mo, cloth,
$1.50 postpaid.

Just PublishedOrder At Once

THE two "Loves of Edwy" are his bosom friend and his sweetheart, and the fortunes of all three are woven into a romance of surpassing interest. Pathos and humor are exquisitely blended in this story. There is not a dull page in the book, and it may be confidently asserted that nothing so original has been produced in this country in many years. The sixty-four pictures by the author (who is well known as an illustrator) add very greatly to the book's value.

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS AND THEIR FRIENDS

By MARGARET SIDNEY

Author of the Famous Pepper Books "LITTLE MAID OF CONCORD TOWN,"
"SALLY, MRS. TUBBS," Etc.

Eight Illustrations by EUGENIE M. WIREMAN. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

THERE were so many interesting friends of the Five Little Peppers, whose lives were only the faintest of outlines in the series ending when Phronsie was grown up, that a volume devoted to this outer circle has been written to meet the persistent demand.

Herein the author records many happenings that long ago Ben and Polly, Joel and David, told her. And even Phronsie whispered some of it confidentially into the listening ear.

LONG BRIDGE BOYS

By W. O. STODDARD, Author of "AHEAD OF THE ARMY," "JACK MORGAN," Etc. Four Illustrations by I. B. HAZELTON. 12mo, cloth, $1.25 postpaid.

[T tells the story of an actual attempt made by the Confederates of Virginia, just prior to the outbreak of the Civil War, to seize the city of Washington by force of arms and make prisoners of President Lincoln and other high government officials.

LOOKING FOR ALICE

By WALTER BURGESS SMITH. With over Forty Illustrations by C. HOWARD. 4to, cloth, $1.25 postpaid.

A LITTLE girl named Harriet descends through an old well into the land of dreams, to look for Alice of Wonderland, and meets with adventures no less astonishing than those of Alice herself.

DORIS FARRAND'S VOCATION

By ("PANSY") Mrs. G. R. ALDEN. Four Illustrations by ERNEST FOSBERY. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

DORIS is a college girl who tries to be of use to others, and with this aim in view introduces into her family, as student help, a poor young man who is working his way to a higher education. In the end Doris's protégé helps her to make the right decision in a great moral crisis, and she finds that he, and not her worldly-minded fiancé, is her true affinity.

Two Famous Authors

NOAH WEBSTER L. FRANK BAUM

AUTHOR OF

It may be of interest to the trade to know that the new issue of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary has sold beyond our most sanguine expectations. It has been the policy of the publishers not to make announcement of the number of copies sold of their various publications, but we may say that if the Unabridged shipped since it came out in its new form were forwarded all at one time it would require two big freight trains to haul them. If piled one on another they would make the Eiffel Tower look like a pigmy. It would take one press, printing sixteen pages at a time and running night and day, two years to print the books. This may give you some idea of the success of the venture.

This New Edition of the Unabridged should not be confounded with Webster's International, which is generally known as the leading authority in the English language. The Unabridged has been modernized and enriched by a New Supplement (copyright 1903), which brings the work well up to date and adapts it to those who require a dictionary at once of high quality and low price.

If each printed page brought in a ten dollar bill there would be a nice profit in the business, but such is not the case. As a matter of fact, the Unabridged is sold in a very thin margin, which enables the public to procure a good working dictionary at a price formerly paid for the spurious reprints.

The second year of the New Edition of the Unabridged has begun with the field fairly clear of the old and unreliable competition. It will be of interest to all to know that the standard of manufacture, prices and terms remain the same. Dealers are handling the book at a good profit and find it pays to keep the Unabridged—the book they were "brought up on"—in stock. It retails at just the right price—exactly meeting the popular demand.

LEE & SHEPARD'S NEW BOOKS

An Interesting Colonial Novel

The Knitting of the Souls

A Romance of 17th Century Boston

By MAUDE CLARK GAY

Six Illustrations in colors by Frank T. Merrill. 375 pages, $1.50

While Virginia and its neighboring States have been so freely drawn upon in the field of Colonial fiction, the impressive early history of Boston has remained undeveloped by novelists of sufficient power, with the exception of Hawthorne, to do it justice. Maude Clark Gay has found here a triumphant opportunity, and her book will at once take rank with the strongest American fiction of recent years, and is in a number of respects worthy the high claim of being better than any previous Colonial novel. The hero is Kenneth Brooks, foster-son of Governor Bellingham; the heroine Lady Virginia, the fair and noble wife of an unworthy commissioner sent by Charles II. to suppress the too rapidly increasing self-government of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Ten years elapse between the banishing of Brooks for his fearless championing of right and the honorable attainment of his soul's desire, sternly held in check by the power of a Puritan conscience. King Philip's War, with all its horrors, is interwoven with the climax of the story, and enables the hero to vindicate himself, as well as reach his great happiness. Various well-drawn side-plots add to the intense interest of the book, which abounds in dramatic situations, and compels attention by its force and feeling, and pleases by its accurate historical grasp, its graceful diction, and the unusual attractiveness of its illustrations, which are not only the best work of Mr. Merrill, but are put in colors by a process far superior to ordinary color printing.

A Book for Everybody

Daily Cheer Year Book

Compiled by M. ALLETTE AYER

Introduction by Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D. 366 pages, over 800 selections. Portrait frontispiece, laid paper, cloth with gold, gilt top, price $1.00, net; postpaid, $1.10. Edition de Luxe, burnt leather binding, all handwork, price $2.00, net; postpaid, $2.10.

Each day in the year is provided with a page of wonderfully well chosen extracts from the best writers. Nothing to compare with the bright good cheer and good sense running through this book has ever before been prepared, even though there have been a number of books along similar lines. On account of its fine binding and general appearance, it will be in great demand as a gift book suitable for all.

By EDWARD STRATEMEYER. Illustrated. Price, $1.00.

This is a plain tale of every-day life, written especially for boys and girls who do not care particularly for stories with an historical or geographical background.

JASON'S QUEST.

By D. O. S. LOWELL, A.M., M.D., Master in Roxbury Latin School. Illustrated. Price, $1.00.

Nothing could be happier than Professor Lowell's way of telling this famous world-story, and the many excellent drawings have lent great spirit to the narrative.

HELEN GRANT'S FRIENDS.

Second volume of the "Helen Grant Stories." By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS. Illustrated. $1.25.

Although a complete story in itself, this continues the life of the heroine from "Helen Grant's School-days."

AN HONOR GIRL.

By EVELYN RAYMOND. Illustrated. $1.25.

A bright helpful story of a girl who, as the valedictorian and "Honor Girl" of her class at high school, wins a scholarship which would take her through Wellesley College.

A LASS OF DORCHESTER.

By ANNIE M. BARNES. Illustrated. $1.25.

The "Lass" is "Little Betty Blew" of a former book, now grown up and just returned from Boston, where she has been to finish her education.

THE LAUREL TOKEN.

A Story of the Yamassee Uprising.

By ANNIE M. BARNES. Illustrated. $1.25.

The story centers about a beautiful girl, left an orphan, as is supposed, in Barbados, who goes to live with her uncle, a leading man in the flourishing "Goose Creek" colony, in the year of the Indian uprising, 1714.

RANDY'S GOOD TIMES.

By AMY BROOKS. Fifth volume of "The Randy Books." Illustrated. $1.00.

All the favorite characters of former books reappear, and the story is full of fun and gaiety, and of love and loyalty as well.

DOROTHY DAINTY AT SCHOOL.

By AMY BROOKS. Third volume of "Dorothy Dainty Series." Illustrated. $1.00.

The school life proves very entertaining, and mostly very pleasant. The rescue of Nancy Ferris, who disappeared in the last story, forms an important and very interesting feature.

THE MAKING OF MEENIE.

By EDITH L. GILBERT. Illustrated. $1.00.

"The Frolicsome Four" won immediate favor last year by its bright naturalness. The same entertaining family of two brothers and two sisters appear in this book.

THE CHILDREN ON THE TOP FLOOR.

By NINA RHOADES. Illustrated. $1.00.

No more pleasing books for children have been written in recent years than those by Miss Nina Rhoades.

THE TAMING OF BETTY.

By CALLY RYLAND. Illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth, $1.00. Betty is as bright as can be, but a thorough romp. Love subdues her after sternness fails.

HOW A LITTLE GIRL WENT TO AFRICA.

Told by Herself.

By LEONA MILDRED BICKNELL. Fully illustrated. $1.00.

A bright little girl of unusual opportunities in the way of travel has, at the age of ten, written a book to tell other children of a journey of remarkable interest.

STORIES OF BRAVE OLD TIMES.

Some Pen Pictures of Scenes Which Took Place During the American Revolution.

By HELEN M. CLEVELAND. Profusely illustrated. $1.25.

A few unsigned articles in "Youth's Companion" first attracted attention to Miss Cleveland as a portrayer of the dramatic in history. The late Daniel Ford said of them, "fresh, vigorous, dramatic, and picturesque." These words most aptly describe her ripper work in this book.

Some Interesting Revell Book News for the Coming Season

THE PROSPECTOR—the new work by the popular author of "The Sky Pilot," promises to be the book event of the season. Entering a new section of country for plot and scene, the author fully sustains his reputation, and undoubtedly will add to his already large number of admirers.

Ralph Connor
$1.50

DOCTOR LUKE OF THE LABRADOR—the first complete novel by Norman Duncan retains all of the charm and subtlety which have made his magazine stories of the Newfoundland folk so popular. Strong, simple, sincere, it goes to the "human heart by which we live."

Norman Duncan

LITTLE MISS DEE—in uniform style with "The Bondage of Ballinger," is a delightful New England tale which exhibits a development in Mr. Field's power as a moralist. It makes an appeal alike to heart and mind; yet, so simply is the story told, that it contains all the elements of great popularity.

Roswell Field
Illustrated, $1.25

CHILDREN OF THE FOREST—a story of Indian love by one whose name is intimately connected with life among the Indians of the Canadian provinces, ensures not only a work of thrilling interest but one full of reliable character study. His earlier works, "My Dogs in the Northland," "On the Indian Trail," etc., have already won much favor.

Egerton R. Young
Illustrated, $1.25 Net

THAT SWEET STORY OF OLD—A Life of Christ for Young People, is a well-illustrated volume, containing the ever new life of Christ retold. The large expectation created by this favorite author's name on the title page is fully sustained in the work itself. It is a charming narrative for all readers, young or old.

Margaret E. Sangster
Illustrated, $1.25

IF I WERE A GIRL AGAIN—is a volume that will appeal strongly to feminine readers. The book has tinted border designs throughout, and is a handsome gift book, similar to Margaret E. Sangster's "Winsome Womanhood," which has attained such great popularity.

Lucy E. Keeler

Crowell's New Books

Messages of the Masters

By AMORY H. BRADFORD, D.D. Silent Times Series. Illustrated. 16mo, plain edges, 65 cents; gilt top, 85 cents net. Postage, 8 cents.

This book of appreciations of great paintings and their lessons has proved so helpful and popular since it was first issued a few months ago that a cheaper edition has been deemed desirable. The present edition, however, is printed from the same plates and pleasingly bound. The illustrations are in half-tone.

Dames and Daughters of the French Court

By GERALDINE BROOKS, author of "Dames and Daughters of Colonial Days." Illustrated. 12mo, gilt top, $1.50 net. Postage, 15 cents.

Many interesting and picturesque figures cluster about the throne of France, and not a few of these "dames and daughters" exerted a wide effect upon history. The treatment of this attractive theme could not be in better hands than Miss Brooks's.

Ruskin Relics

By W. G. COLLINGWOOD, author of "The Life of Ruskin." Illustrated. 232 pp., large 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50 net. Postage, 25 cents.

Mr. Collingwood was Ruskin's biographer and friend. This is an important supplementary volume of reminiscences, chatty anecdotes, Ruskin drawings, and other "relics" of interesting nature. The work is one of value in collecting fugitive material of Ruskin not before given to the public.

The Greek Poets

An anthology edited by NATHAN HASKELL DOLE. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.00; half calf, $3.50; limp seal, $4.50.

Mr. Dole's mature, scholarly work on "The Persian Poets" is here worthily followed by a highly important study of the place and value of all the Greek poets, with full examples of their writings, in the best English translation. The volume contains biographical sketches, notes, and indices; it commends itself at once as a much-needed text-book and work of reference.

The Life of Frederic William Farrar

Sometime Dean of Canterbury. By his son, DR. REGINALD A. FARRAR. With new portraits and illustrations. 360 pp., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.00 net. Postage, 20 cents.

Among the interesting life-stories now in great demand the present volume takes prominent place. Dean Farrar was one of the strongest personalities in England for more than half a century. This biography by his son is replete with material never before published. The Outlook says of it: "This will rank among the important biographies of our times. It is a noble picture of a sincere, stainless, strenuous life that filial reverence has here presented—that of a rich-hearted man, beloved both as a teacher of boys and as a teacher of men; a rich-minded man, affluent in the treasures of learning and the gifts of imagination."

Synopses of Dickens's Novels

By J. WALKER McSPADDEN. Handy Information Series. 250 pp., 18mo, cloth, 45 cents net. Postage, 5 cents.

A companion volume to "Shakespearean Synopses," and a work of no less practical utility. Each novel of Dickens is synopsized, and complete lists and index of characters are given for the first time.

Crowell's New Books

Finding the Way

By J. R. MILLER, D.D. 16mo, plain edges, 65 cents net; cloth, gilt top, 85 cents net. Postage, 8 cents.

A Western paper says tersely and truly: "Dr. Miller's writings are read because he has something to say, and says it." Above a million copies of his works have been issued, some of them being translated into German, French, Hungarian, Japanese, and other languages.

Poetical Works of William Morris

Selected and edited by PROF. PERCY R. COLWELL, with introduction, notes, bibliography, and photogravure portrait. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.00; half calf, $3.50; limp seal, $4.50.

Morris's life and work extended over the better part of the nineteenth century. His work as decorative designer and maker of art volumes, or his position in public life, would have sufficed to bring him forward, independent of his writing. As a poet he ranks with Swinburne and Rossetti among the chief ornaments of the Victorian era. These carefully selected poems will show him at his best, and will widen his circle of American readers.

Twenty Famous Naval Battles

By E. K. RAWSON, U. S. Navy Department. Illustrated with plans, old prints, maps, and portraits. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

In answer to a general demand from readers this well-known book of battles, from Salamis to Santiago,—a "Creasy on the sea"—is now available in a single-volume edition, well printed and illustrated.

The Wealth of Nations

By ADAM SMITH. Condensed edition, with introduction, notes, and index by HECTOR MACPHERSON. 260 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. Postage, 10 cents.

For more than a century and a quarter this great economic work has remained a classic—the one high authority in its field. "Few books in the world's history have exerted a greater influence," says one specialist. The present condensed edition in a single volume is of practical value. Smith's own language has been preserved, the omissions being in the nature of anecdotes and local color no longer essential. It is fully indexed and summarized.

A Bachelor in Arcady

By HALLIWELL SUTCLIFFE, author of "Mistress Barbara." With frontispiece and title in colors. 326 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

A delightful novel of nature which has elicited whole-hearted praise from critics and readers everywhere. One of the most prominent and dispassionate reviews says: "The season will probably bring forth no better book of its kind than 'A Bachelor in Arcady.'" Its quiet philosophizing and kindly humor are of singularly restful type.

Minute Marvels of Nature

By JOHN J. WARD. With 185 illustrations. 272 pp., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $1.60 net. Postage, 15 cents.

The author, an expert naturalist, here gives us a series of peeps through his powerful microscope at forms of plant and animal life. Large pictures on plate paper reinforce simple and absorbingly interesting descriptions. The language is nowhere technical, and the book is of unique and stimulating character.

A series by the best authors. Copyrighted and fully illustrated.
Separate cover design for each book.

Dorothy's Spy; A Story of the First Fourth of July

By JAMES OTIS. Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

Describes the scene in New York when Washington assembled his troops to listen to the Declaration of Independence. A small girl named Dorothy Dean gets mixed up in the procession, helps unwillingly to pull King George's statue down, and incidentally gets her best frock spoiled. A fine historical story for children.

Little Metacomet

By HEZEKIAH BUTTERWORTH. Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

"Little Metacomet" was the son of the Indian King Phillip; he was deported, although good John Eliot tried to save him. His life in the woods with the small animals and birds of New England is picturesquely set forth.

It All Came True

By MARY F. LEONARD, author of "How the Two Ends Met."

Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

"It All Came True" is another story of neighborliness by this pleasing writer. A poor little rich girl, having no one to play with except her governess, envies some happy children across the street, and they in turn call her a captive princess. How the princess is rescued from her lonely life is the theme of a delightful story.

Stories of the Good Greenwood

By CLARENCE HAWKES, author of "The Little Foresters."

Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

The children will be glad to follow this entertaining story-teller again to the woodland. He tells of woodcraft; of tracks in the snow and how to tell them; of a pet coon that grew wild again; and many other things that one wants to know about. The book is even better than "Little Foresters."

CHILDREN'S FAVORITE CLASSICS

NEW VOLUMES

Among the many books written for young people, few possess a greater merit, or have a wider popularity, than the 43 volumes comprised in this series. This new uniform style, containing many illustrations and additional features not contained in any other edition, is the most attractive form in which they have ever been issued. For those desiring wholesome books to put in the hands of children, no better series than this can be found. New style of binding. Fully illustrated, including colored frontispiece and vignette title. Printed wrappers. 16mo. Per volume. $0.60

Stories of King Arthur. By U. WALDO CUTLER.

Robin Hood. By J. WALKER McSPADDEN.

Two of the best known themes in all literature, for young and old, are those of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table; and Robin Hood and his Merry Outlaws. New, entertaining versions of these classics, copyrighted by us, are worthy of attention.

A Splendid New Novel by the Author of "The Strollers" and "Under the Rose"

The speculative convulsion in New York at the time of Jay Gould's gold corner and the volcanic eruption of the Paris Commune are the two great dramatic events which Mr. Isham has chosen for the moving forces of his new story.

Some of his characters are drawn from imagination; others are life-like studies of the master people of the time. There is marvelous charm in the romance that shows the author at his best throughout.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY
PUBLISHERS, INDIANAPOLIS

IMPORTANT NEW BOOKS

FICTION.

Fata Morgana

By Andre Castaigne.

A novel of American art students and others in Paris. Illustrated by the Author.

A striking and unhackneyed narrative, romantic, picturesque, dealing with a fascinating phase of Parisian life and also with a certain charming and heroic myth of one of the little countries bordering on the Adriatic. Mr. Castaigne's illustrations, of course, are of notable interest.

(12mo, 450 pages. Price, $1.50.)

The Staying Guest

By Carolyn Wells.

Illustrated by W. GRANVILLE SMITH.

A charming tale, this, of a quaint and startling but loving and lovable child, easily one of the cleverest child characters in fiction. It is a book for young and old.

(12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Ellen and Mr. Man

By Gouverneur Morris.

With frontispiece by LEON GUYPON.

This is a delicious tale of a sweet girl and her two lovers, one a fine young Frenchman, the other a little lad who speedily holds the center of the stage and wins the largest share of the reader's affections.

(12mo, 200 pages. Price, $1.25.)

The Gray World

By Evelyn Underhill.

This is an unusual story, the remarkable narrative of a London slum child's reincarnation. How the memory of the "gray world" influenced all this second existence is well told.

(12mo, 350 pages. Price, $1.50.)

The River's Children

By Ruth McEnery Stuart, Author of "Sonny," "Napoleon Jackson," "Holly and Pizen," etc.

Illustrated by HARRY C. EDWARDS.

This is a story of the men and women who live along the Mississippi and who love and fear the Great River as a mysterious, insatiable, relentless, merciless power. It is an idyl of the Great River, of delicate and delicious humor, of rare sweetness and tenderness.

(16mo, 175 pages. Price, $1.00.)

Sonny: A Christmas Guest

By Ruth McEnery Stuart.

With fourteen illustrations by FANNY Y. CORY, and an initial for each chapter.

The atmosphere is the same that has always enveloped Mrs. Stuart's work, and there is the same pervading sweetness of spirit and the same delicate humor, always wavering on the narrow border between laughter and tears.—Bookman.

(12mo, 135 pages. Price, $1.25.)

The Youth of Washington: Told in the Form of an Autobiography

By S. Weir Mitchell, Author of "Hugh Wynne," etc.

"The Youth of Washington" is neither bald history nor pure fiction; the larger historic facts are true, the fiction a daring form of commentary.

(12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.)

The Madigans

By Miriam Michelson, Author of "In the Bishop's Carriage."

Illustrated by ORSON LOWELL.

The Madigans are six of the most active, daring, original, and clever youngsters that ever stirred up a household. A few chapters from this story of their doings are enough to enliven the dullest day.

(12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Paths of Judgment

By Anne Douglas Sedgwick, Author of "The Rescue," "The Confounding of Camelia," etc.

This is a dramatic character study; and the four chief characters are unusual and fascinating men and women.

(12mo, 346 pages. Price, $1.50.)

ART.

Italian Villas and Their Gardens

By Edith Wharton, Author of "The Valley of Decision," etc.

With fifty illustrations in color and in black and white, by MAXFIELD PARRISH, and from photographs.

This is a sumptuous and almost an ideal book, containing full and vivid descriptions of all the most notable Italian villas, the illustrations being of rare beauty and interest. It is the art-book of the year.

(Printed in two colors on special plate paper. Royal octavo, 275 pages. Price, $6.00 net; postage, 27 cents.)

VERSE.

Poems and Verses

By Mary Mapes Dodge.

This collection is representative of the choicest and ripest work of this favorite author.

(16mo, 250 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage 8 cents.)

ESSAYS, BIOGRAPHY, ETC.

Thackeray's Letters

TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY.

With an introduction by LUCY W. BAXTER.

Perhaps the most charming of all Thackeray's letters are these, making a volume, with its facsimiles of manuscripts and drawings by the author, which every Thackeray lover will treasure.

(Octavo, 193 pages. Price, $1.50 net; postage, 10 cents.)

Presidential Problems

By Grover Cleveland, ex-President of the United States.

Just what the title and the author's name would promise—a clear, vigorous discussion of some of the vital questions which pressed upon Mr. Cleveland for settlement during his years in the White House.

(Octavo, 300 pages. Price, $1.80 net; postage, 16 cents.)

Modern Methods of Book Composition

By Theodore L. De Vinne.

This book, the work of the head of living printers, is invaluable for every writer, printer, and editor. (12mo, 477 pages. Price, $2.00 net. Postage, 15 cents.)

The Art Crafts for Beginners

By Frank G. Sanford, Director of the Chautauqua Arts and Crafts Department. Illustrated by the Author.

This book should prove invaluable as a suggestive little manual for all interested in art crafts.

(Square 12mo, 250 pages. Price, $1.20 net. Postage, 9 cents.)

A Transplanted Nursery

By Martha Kean.

Illustrated with over sixty photographs.

The story of a most unusual and rather audacious experiment which proved to be a complete success: how an American mother decided to take her three little lads for a summer sojourn in Brittany instead of making the usual pilgrimage to the Maine coast. Snap-shots and pen-pictures have recorded this delightful summer abroad.

(12mo, 275 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage, 11 cents.)

The American Constitutional System

By W. W. Willoughby, Associate Professor of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University.

With chapters on "The Nature of the Federal State," "The Power of the United States to Acquire Territory," "Citizenship," etc. A book of great value to every citizen.

(12mo, 320 pages. Price, $1.25 net.)

City Government in the United States

By Frank J. Goodnow, Eaton Professor of Administrative Law and Municipal Science, Columbia University.

A practical book for Americans interested in the improvement of the government of cities. Chapters on "The City as a Social Fact," "State Control of Cities," etc.

(12mo, 320 pages. Price, $1.25 net.)

The Principles of Economics

By Frank A. Fetter, Ph.D., Professor of Political Economy and Finance, Cornell University.

This survey of the field of economics is intended primarily to serve as a text for the use of college and university students, but it presents also to the citizen and general reader a summary in one volume of the latest contributions to economic study.

(Octavo, 300 pages. Price, $2.00 net.)

The Awakening of Japan

By Okakura Kakuzo, Author of "Ideals of the East."

The remarkable story of how Japan has awakened from her mediæval slumbers. All readers of this entertaining volume will echo the author's epigrammatic utterance that "the Yellow Peril" is a white lie. The distinguished author is at present connected with the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

(16mo. Price, $1.40 net. Postage, 10 cents.)

NEW ISSUES IN

THE THUMB-NAIL SERIES.

Exquisite little volumes in embossed leather bindings designed by Blanche McManus Mansfield.

As You Like It

Following the Cambridge text, and with an interesting frontispiece portrait of Shakespeare.

Romeo and Juliet

Following the Cambridge text, and with an interesting frontispiece portrait of Shakespeare.

An Old English Christmas

With frontispiece portrait of Washington Irving.

(Size 2¾ by 5½ inches. Price, each, $1.00, in box)

JUVENILES.

The Brownies in the Philippines

Verse and pictures by Palmer Cox.

Perhaps the best and funniest of all these jolly Brownie books. (Square, 144 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Baby Elton, Quarter-Back

By Leslie W. Quirk.

A rattling good book for boys. (Illustrated. 12mo. Price, $1.25.)

Lucy and Their Majesties

By B. L. Farjeon.

Just the prettiest, jolliest book for healthy youngsters written in many a day. (12mo, 350 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Mary's Garden and How It Grew

By Frances Duncan.

A practical treatise on making a flower-garden, interestingly told in the form of a story. (Square 12mo. Price, $1.25.)

Elinor Arden, Royalist

By Mary Constance Du Bois.

A charming tale founded upon an actual incident in the life of the Princess Henrietta Anne. (12mo, 283 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Kibun Daizin; or, From Shark-Boy to Merchant Prince

By Gensai Murai.

The stirring story of a popular Japanese hero. (12mo, 175 pages. Price, $1.25.)

Captain John Smith

By Tudor Jenks.

A book which should become the standard history of Captain John Smith for young Americans. (12mo, 259 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage, 11 cents.)

INDEX TO FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In this list publishers' announcements are indexed by author, title or subject and series. Titles already recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY have been generally excluded.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds." particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

Fuller information of the books announced will be found in the publishers' advertising pages, index to which is given on page 373.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT

SEPTEMBER 24, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FALL OUTLOOK.

STANDING at the threshold of another fall season the conviction grows that the outlook upon business in general is hopeful rather than otherwise. In every direction there is a better feeling in most branches of trade, and, basing their prophecy upon statistical comparisons, the two most important commercial agencies in this country—Dunn and Bradstreet's—predict much better conditions for the second half of the current calendar year than existed during the first half. Liabilities and insolvencies are shrinking, railway earnings are increasing, crop prospects are decidedly improving, much of the work that has been held back by strikes and other causes is being carried forward, many new enterprises are under way, and, in general, the nerves of the business community are steadier than they have been for many years. As for the bugbear of the presidential election, that promises to have but little effect upon the business world this year.

The publishing world this fall is large with promise—indeed, if all the books of which we have had word, and which we are presenting in our Index to Fall Announcements in this issue, are brought out between now and next February, the booktrade must prepare to face a deluge. Fortunately, many of the books announced will, for one reason or another, as usual, have to lie over for another season; but there will be enough left to cause the buyer many an uncomfortable and anxious moment.

From a commercial aspect the books announced show possibilities of no mean order. The country is interested as never before in its own history, and a number of publishers have gone deeply into valuable works dealing with the sources of American history. A presidential election makes the large number of books—dealing with the candidates and with all the problems of finance, imperialism, tariff, capital and labor and trusts that will require their executive word—good stock from one end of the Union to the other. The war in the Orient interests the world, and the many books on the two opposing nations, on the attitude of the great powers of the world towards the questions to be settled, on the practical maintenance of great armies and the great progress in shipbuilding for warfare will surely be sought for.

From a literary standpoint the best is not so easily selected. Fiction seems less in number and American authorship of the highest grade is a feature in its announcements. Religion and ethics have come more to the front than in recent years, and the departments of history and biography fairly bristle with great names and cover some of the most interesting periods of the world's history. In pure literature the essay has again been given an important place, and criticisms of one living author upon another stir expectation.

Publishers have shown courage and discrimination; booksellers must therefore show the same spirit, tempered by the same good judgment, and general prosperity and ever-widening interest will bring the readers of America to make many of the forthcoming books successful investments as well as lasting educational factors.

MAY CONTROL SCHOOL PUBLICATIONS.

ANDREW S. DRAPER, Commissioner of Education of the State of New York, at Albany, on the 19th inst. upheld the right of the authorities of a school to exercise control of the policies and business management of a publication which is held to represent the school.

The matter came before him for decision on an appeal of Helen Clark from the action of the Board of Education of Monticello Union Free School District No. 1, in the town of Thompson, Sullivan County, in sustaining the action of the principal of the school in suspending from school Mrs. Clark's son, Matthew J. Clark, who was the leading spirit in the publication of The High School Mirror. Young Clark had refused to submit when the principal of the school directed him to turn over the management of the paper to an organization of the pupils, alleging that the publication was a personal affair.

Commissioner Draper says that he was in error here, as the paper stood for the school, and thus was not a private affair, but subject to public authority.

COMMUNICATIONS.

HINTS AS TO BILLING PROTECTED NET BOOKS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Will you kindly call the attention of publishers to the necessity of billing their protected net books to dealers in such manner that they may recognize them without having to consult bibliographies? In the busy season there is no time for doing so. Such books should either be charged on special bills, clearly designating the fact that these books are to be sold at full price, or by distinguishing marks, to be generally introduced, plainly marked as protected net books, otherwise dealers cannot conform with the rules of the Publishers' Association and may unwittingly break their agreement to do so.

Another unbusinesslike proceeding is the omission of the retail price on many publishers' invoices. The dealer's time can be more profitably employed than by looking up prices in catalogues. Few publishers add authors' names to the titles, which is very annoying also.

L.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ELIZABETH LUTHER CARY in the October Scribner's Magazine gives an interesting sketch of the work of Henry James, the novelist.

It has just been made public that George Barr McCutcheon, the author of "Graustark," etc., is the author of "Brewster's Millions." The forthcoming new issue will bear the author's name.

SIDNEY LEE writes to the London Athenaeum, saying: "I read in both English and American newspapers that I am engaged in writing a life of George Eliot. There is no truth in the statement, and I am at a loss to understand how it has come into circulation."

PROFESSOR EDWARD GAYLORD BOURNE, of Yale University, is engaged upon some important and peculiarly distinctive historical work in the interests of A. S. Barnes & Co.'s notable Trail Makers Series, which is under the consulting editorship of Professor John Bach McMaster.

THE REV. CHARLES WAGNER, author of "The Simple Life," etc., arrived in New York on the 17th inst. He will deliver a series of lectures while in this country. He is a delegate to the Peace Congress at Boston, and will not start on his tour until the congress is over. He is now already booked for twenty lectures for the month of October, beginning October 7.

GEORGE WHARTON JAMES, author of "Indians of the Painted Desert Region," published a year ago, is at work on a book on the Colorado desert. Professor James has established a desert home where he and his artist make their headquarters. Nearby his "shack," located in the canyon, there is a hot spring with water constantly flowing at a temperature of about 107 degrees. With pack burros Professor James and the artist start off on their frequent trips over the desert, exploring every part.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

GEORGE D. HURST, New York, has just brought out an edition in half-leather binding of "The Stowmarket Mystery," by Louis Tracy, author of "The Wings of the Morning."

THOMAS WHITTAKER is about to bring out "Day by Day Duty," a new volume of short, practical sermons by the Rev. H. J. Wilmot Buxton, whose homilies are widely known to lay readers both here and abroad.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, will publish on October 15 "Broke of Covendon," by J. C. Snaith, of which they have secured the American rights. This book has been hailed by the English critics as a masterpiece and Mr. Snaith as one of the coming writers.

HENRY E. LEGLER, of Milwaukee, Wis., has just reprinted in separate form, from the Transactions of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters, (vol. xiv.) his very interesting sketch of "A Wisconsin Group of German Poets," to which is added a bibliography.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have just ready an idyl of boyhood life by Clarence S. Darrow, entitled "Farmington." Mr. Darrow is well known as an active figure in law and politics, but this book is said to be far away from anything of this kind, and is in fact full of charming fancy and wholesome humor.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION will reprint this fall the original six-volume edition of the works of William Ellery Channing, as prepared under the supervision of Channing himself. A biographical and critical introduction has been prepared for this edition by John W. Chadwick.

THE PRESS OF "THE ROSE JAR" will publish on October 1 "The Confessions of an Old Maid," a humorous narrative by Lou Lawrence. It is described as "a pure story of the life of an unmarried woman of to-day and strips the sham sentiments, which are common to humanity as well as to old maids, of much of the veil which enshrouds them."

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, Ohio, have in preparation a new story by Frank E. Kellogg, author of "Four Boys on the Mississippi," which will be entitled the "Boy Fisherman." It is equally full of the spirit of the woods, being an account of the obstacles encountered by two boys who set out to earn their own living by fishing on the Mississippi.

THE ROBINSON, LUCE COMPANY, Boston, will publish about October 15 "Little Burr, the Warwick of America," a tale of the old Revolutionary Days, by Charles Felton Pidgin, author of "Blennerhassett," etc. They also call attention to the "Letters from a Son to His Self-Made Father," by Charles Eustace Merriman, which, though published nearly a year ago, is still selling steadily.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have in preparation a new book by Mary Caroline Crawford, author of "The Romance of Old New England Roof-trees," entitled "The College Girl of America." Miss Crawford is herself a Radcliffe graduate, and is thus enabled to write with an intimate personal knowledge of college life, its aims, its pleasures, and its influence on womankind. The book will contain many full-page illustrations taken from photographs of various colleges, types of college girls and representative college scenes.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish at once a new volume of stories and sketches by Charles Battell Loomis, under the title of "More Cheerful Americans," with illustrations by Florence Scovel Shinn, Fanny Y. Cory and others; "Divine Fire," a story by May Sinclair, the scenes of which are laid in London and at various English country houses, where the hero, a Cockney poet, meets a woman of sincerity, humor, tolerance and penetration; also, Carl Bruneck's "Prince Henry's Sailor Boy," a story for children, translated by Mary J. Safford.

THE CENTURY COMPANY announce a novel by André Castaigne, the well-known Parisian painter and illustrator. The story will be entitled "Fata Morgana," and will draw much of its material from the artist and student life of Paris. They will bring out next month "Baby Elton, Quarter-back," a story of college athletics, by Leslie W. Quirk, a University of Wisconsin man, who writes of sports from a Western standpoint. His intimate knowledge of sports and his ability to describe them he gained while following the various athletic teams of his university during his college course for a local paper.

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY have just ready a new novel by George Barr McCutcheon, entitled "Beverly of Graustark." The volume is illustrated in colors by Harrison Fisher; "The Revelation of Herself," by Mary Farley Sanborn; "Our Friend, the Dog," by Maurice Maeterlinck, author of "The Life of the Bee," etc., illustrated by Paul J. Meylan, and painted decorations by Charles B. Falls; "Minnows and Tritons," by B. A. Clarke, an illustrated story for boys; also, a new edition of "The Practice of Charity," by Edward T. Devine, Ph.D., general secretary of the Charity Organization Society of the City of New York.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co., of Philadelphia, now print their Family Bible in six different languages, in styles that will appeal to the most modest as well as the most fastidious taste. They have just ready a new German Teachers' Bible, with newly engraved maps in colors and with the names in German. Their new Pronouncing Bible, both for the general reader and the teacher, and their Linear Parallel Bible are meeting with favor wherever introduced. They have also just ready a "Life of Christ for Little Children," by Mary Mein Carter, with illustrations from the great masters of painting, and illuminated after parchments of the 15th century.

GEORGE D. SPROUL will bring out in October an edition of the Bible in five folio volumes with one hundred illustrations from original drawings by Abbey, Alma-Tadema, De Brouck, Sir Edward Burne-Jones, Benjamin Constant, Walter Crane, Gérôme, Israels, Max Liebermann, Morelli, Villégas, Puvis du Chavannes and others equally prominent. The reproductions have been made in photo-gravure, (11 x 14 inches,) by Lemer cier, of Paris. The text is that of the St. James version, without addition or omission. An edition of the work is also issued in Latin, and will be imported on order.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY announce "Among the Burmans," by H. P. Cochrane, describing the land, people, customs and religions of Burma, with illustrations from photographs taken by the author; "Tom Keenan, Locomotive Engineer," the autobiography of a veteran railroad man who assisted in building up the railroad men's Y. M. C. A.; also, "Little Royalties," by Isabelle McDougall, stories of ten little kings and queens, which are sure of a welcome by young people. They have just issued on Index Volume to the twenty-eight volumes comprised in the New Testament section of "The Biblical Illustrator."

JAMES POTT & Co. have just published a volume of critical and biographical studies entitled "Studies of a Booklover." The author, Thomas Marc Parrott, Professor of English in Princeton University, attempts to indicate for Matthew Arnold, for example, a place beside Tennyson and Browning, and to explain the limitation of Gray's genius. Among the biographical essays are sketches of Dr. Johnson and Goldsmith. Essays from Milton's works have been selected and arranged in such fashion as to permit the poet to give his own account of his life. There is a brief note on the romanticism of Scott, and the volume concludes with a paper on certain aspects of Browning.

ROHDE & HASKINS, 16 Cortlandt Street, New York, announce for early publication "Friends for the Friendly," by Annie M. Jones, in Japanese vellum binding, gold-stamped; also, "Books and My Food," by Elizabeth Luther Cary, author of "The Rossettis," "Browning," etc. They will bring out shortly "Toasts and Tributes," compiled by Arthur Gray, who has also edited "The Little Tea Book" and "Bathrobes and Bachelors," etc. Mr. Gray's new book aims to be more complete than most of its predecessors in the same field, and contains a chapter on "The Duties of a Toastmaster," by Allan Forman. Sixteen pages at the end are left blank to be filled in by purchasers with original or selected toasts.

CLIFFORD & LAWTON, 19 Union Square, New York, will publish on October 15, under the title of "Interior Decoration," a portfolio containing fifty-five views of interiors, mostly contemporary and mostly American, classified by decorative periods, ranging from Egyptian to Art Nouveau, interesting and useful to all who are concerned in decorating or redecorating houses. The plates are carefully reproduced in half-tone and printed in superb photo-brown tint. They have just ready "The Rug Primer," describing 143 oriental rugs, and containing a colored map of the oriental rug countries. Persons interested in oriental rugs who wish to know a little more about them will find in this booklet just what they want stated succinctly and clearly.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY will publish early in October the "Life and Adventures of Jack Philip, Rear Admiral U. S. N.," by Edgar Stanton Maclay, with an introduction by Captain Alfred Thayer Mahan, U. S. N. This work first appeared in 1903 as a memorial volume, having among its contributors many distinguished naval officers and civilians. The new work has been entirely rewritten so as to be in continuous narrative form. One of its lasting features is Philip's own story of the Santiago sea fight, told in a modest, simple, unaffected style which cannot fail to enlist the interest and admiration of the reader. No officer of the navy occupies a larger place in the affection of the American people than the hero who, in the flush of victory, exclaimed: "Don't cheer, men, those poor devils are dying."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on October 4 Rudyard Kipling's new book, "Traffics and Discoveries." This is the first volume of collected Kipling stories brought out since "The Day's Work." The book contains one long story, "The Army of a Dream," hitherto unpublished, embodying a remarkable picture of the British army; the remarkable story "They," which has aroused such wide discussion; also, "Wireless," "Mrs. Bathurst," "Their Lawful Occasions," "The Bonds of Discipline," "The Captive," "The Sahib's War" and "Below the Mill Dam." They will bring out at the same time "The Recollections and Letters of General Robert E. Lee," edited by his son, Captain Lee. The work reveals intimately, for the first time, in letters to his family and old-time war comrades, General Lee's attitude after the war.

THE JOHN W. LUCE COMPANY, a new publishing firm, at 209 Washington Street, Boston, have secured from the Robinson, Luce Company "The Foolish Dictionary," by Charles W. Towne, ("Gideon Wurdz") of which a third edition is now ready. By arrangement with Robinson, Luce Company they will issue on October 15 "Fires of St. John," a drama by Hermann Sudermann, translated into English by Charles Swickard. This play had its first presentation in English last season by Nance O'Neil in Boston, and was described as the strongest work of this German author. They will publish on November 1 the second volume in their Foolish Series, entitled "Stealthy Steve, the Six-Eyed Sleuth," with the sub-title of "Quest of the Big Blue Diamond." This satirical detective story ran serially in the Boston Post last year, and the book-rights are secured by arrangement with the Post and the author, Newton Newkirk.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "At the Moorings," Rose N. Carey's new novel; "A History of the World," in which Charles Morris has condensed the principal facts of history, together with such interpretations as to serve to bring them within the comprehension of younger readers; "Loves and Lovers of the Past," by Paul Gault; "Shakespeare's Town and Time," a new book by H. Snowden Ward and Catherine Weed Ward, authors of the very popular volumes "Carlyle Country" and "The Dickens Land," published last year; "Memoirs of Emma, Lady Hamilton," edited by W. H. Long, with a large number of illustrations; also, a book about cats by Miss Sarah E. Trueblood, entitled "Cats by the Way," which deals with cats of every kind—not the aristocratic animal of the bench show, but the pussy of the fireside, the kitchen, and the sitting-room cushion, with scores of little pictures of the cat scattered through the book.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on October 1 a new book by Ernest Thompson Seton, entitled "Monarch, the Big Bear of Talac," which will contain eight full-page wash drawings and nearly one hundred of Mr. Seton's characteristic line marginals to illustrate the story, which is the longest animal story the author has yet written. They will publish shortly "By Conduct and Courage," a rattling story of the glorious days of Parker and Nelson, the last of the celebrated Henty books ever to be published; an exquisitely illustrated edition of Mary Mapes Dodge's well-known book, "Rhymes and Jingles," to which the author has added no fewer than eighteen new poems, which will be gotten up uniform in style with Riley's "Book of Joyous Children," with illustrations by Sarah Stillwell Stillwell; also, "Boys of St. Timothy," by Arthur Stanwood Pier, who has written an excellent story of American school life with an engaging humor and a sympathetic regard for boy nature. They will publish about October 1 Henry James's new international novel, entitled "The Golden Bowl."

FRANK W. CROWNINSHIELD, until the 1st inst. publisher of The Bookman, resigned that position to take charge of the business department of The Metropolitan Magazine. Mr. Crowninshield is well and favorably known to the publishing trade here through his connections with the Putnams and Dodd, Mead & Co. Born and educated abroad, his first venture in business was with G. P. Putnam's Sons in 1891, starting in their retail department as clerk, and being shifted around in nearly all the departments, including the art, manufacturing and publicity departments. In 1896 he joined the forces of Dodd, Mead & Co. After The Bookman was started Mr. Crowninshield became the head of its publishing department, and to his originality and persistent effort the periodical owed much of its success. Besides managing the business affairs of The Bookman, Mr. Crowninshield was also the manager of the advertising department, always a trying position, but in which he made a host of friends through his thoroughly business-like methods and a charming personality that made even a "No" seem a favor.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co have just ready "The Apology of Ayliffe," by Ellen Olney Kirk, an enjoyable love story, the scenes of which are laid in New York and a fine country place in Long Island Sound; "Compromises," by Agnes Repplier, which will appeal especially to lovers of wise and witty essays; "Where Does the Sky Begin?" by Washington Gladden, dealing with such subjects as the fulfillment of life, the permanent and the transient, the education of our wants, how to be sure of God, etc.; "The Rider of the Black Horse," by Everett T. Tomlinson, a stirring story for boys of the Revolutionary war, with illustrations by Seymour M. Stone; "The Flower Princess," by Abbie Farwell Brown, a delightful collection of stories for children, with six full-page illustrations and decorations; "A Third Century of Charades," by William Bellamy, of whose first books twelve and five editions, respectively, have been sold; also, the "River-side Graded Song Book for Elementary Schools," edited by William M. Lawrence.

LAIRD & LEE, Chicago, announce the following: "Turk," a striking romance of love and chivalry, by Opie P. Read, with a colored frontispiece and eight illustrations; "Santa Claus' Candy Circus," by Olive Aye, a lively animal book for children; "The Tale of a Tail," classic stories in rhymes, for children, by Annetta S. Crafts; "Glimpses of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition," giving full description of the great world's fair, of which 20,000 copies were sold in twelve days; "Uncle Bob and Aunt Becky's Strange Adventures," a humorous description of the St. Louis fair, with 105 comic illustrations; "Yellow Beauty," by Marion Martin, a story of cats, with illustrations by Madam Ronner; "Last Days of Lincoln, and other lyrical sketches," by John Irving Pearce, Jr., a collection of poems for students of character and lovers of nature; "Henry and Hora's Modern Electricity," a popular manual giving all the information on the subject that the artisan, apprentice and student desires to know; also, the sixth annual edition of "Laird & Lee's Diary and Time Saver," a vade mecum of general information.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish on October 8 a new book by Thomas E. Watson, the Populist candidate for President, entitled "Bethany, a Story of the Old South." In this volume Mr. Watson tells the story of his own people and his own neighborhood. It is founded on facts which came within his knowledge, the hero having been an uncle of his. The book is valuable as a picture of life in Georgia just before and during the early years of the Civil War. It is most notable in what it sets forth as to the minds and feelings of people who remained at home during the conflict. They have arranged to bring out a limited autograph edition of Admiral Schley's "Forty-five Years Under the Flag." Only 100 copies will be sold, and of these a large number have already been subscribed for in advance of publication. These copies will be bound in half morocco, with gilt top. They are now sending through the press at a rapid rate Hall Caine's "The Prodigal Son." The book itself will differ materially from the story as serialized. Not only has Mr. Caine carefully revised the entire manuscript, but the book will be at least one-third longer than the serial. "The Prodigal Son" is divided into seven parts and each part into seven chapters. Each part has as a motto a quotation from FitzGerald's version of "Omar Khayyâm."

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS have ready an entirely new series of Oxford Teachers' and Scholars' Bibles, with new and up-to-date helps, arranged under one alphabet, with new illustrations. They have also a line of text, reference, concordance and teachers' 16mo editions of the Bible, in large black-faced brevier type, printed on Oxford India paper, $6\frac{1}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$ inches in size, and only one inch thick; also ten new editions of Prayer Books and Hymnals, printed on fine white and Oxford papers, and in an Oxford Elongated Red Rubric edition. A handsome new edition of the Altar Service, beautifully printed on Oxford white paper, is also among their announcements. In other lines they announce new and cheaper issues of the Oxford Edition of the Poets, each being in one volume, the Fireside edition of Charles Dickens's works in 22 crown octavo volumes with over 600 illustrations by Cruikshank, Phiz and others; the Oxford India Paper edition of Dickens's works in 17 volumes, fully illustrated; a new edition of the "Letters of Horace Walpole," edited by Mrs. Paget Toynbee, in three editions, in 16 demy octavo volumes, on hand-made paper, in eight double volumes, crown octavo, on Oxford India paper; and in 16 crown octavo volumes on ordinary paper; also, a miniature edition of Shakespeare's plays in one volume, and the Ellen Terry Miniature Shakespeare, in 40 volumes, bound in leather, divinity circuit.

SPON & CHAMBERLAIN have in preparation the following new books and new editions: the authorized revised seventh edition of Thompson's "Dynamo Electric Machinery," vol. 1; "Continuous Current Machinery," rewritten and considerably enlarged; Crotch's "Elementary Telephony and Telegraphy," in Finsbury's Technical Series; Bowker's "Practical Construction of Electric Railways," also, a work on the "Management of Electric Tramways and Light Railways;" Buchanan's "Foundry Nomenclature;" a third edition of Matheson's "The Depreciation of Factories," revised and enlarged; the second edition of Brown's "Organization of Gold Mining Business," revised and enlarged; a second edition of Goldingham's "Design and Construction of Oil Engines," revised and considerably enlarged; a second revised and enlarged edition of Jennings' "Paint and Color Mixing;" a sixth enlarged edition of Sexton's "Boiler Maker's and Shipbuilder's Pocketbook;" the twenty-fifth revised and enlarged edition of Molesworth's "Engineer's Pocketbook;" the second edition of Thompson's "Polyphase Electro Currents and Alternating Current Motors;" the ninth thousand of Watson's "How to Run Engines and Boilers;" the fourth thousand of Redwood's "Practical Ammonia Refrigeration;" a new and enlarged edition of Jordan's work "On Dry Docks;" also, new editions of Butler's "Manufacture of Portland Cement," Buckley's "Irrigation Works in India," and Collett's "Water Softening and Purification."

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready "Debonnaire," a bright novel of America in Colonial days, by William Farquhar Payson, the author of "John Vytal." Mr. Payson's story is laid in Quebec and New Amsterdam. The hero is one Louis de Cadillac, known as Louis le Debonnaire because of his blithe spirit, who is really a relative of the royal Louis of France. The story tells how he made a wager with his messmates that he could win the hand of the fair Irene de Cadillac, belle of New Amsterdam and betrothed to Mynheer Van Bruch, governor of the Dutch city, and how by his wit and his cleverness with his sword he won the maid and his wager, too. They have also just ready Mrs. Garnett's translation of Tolstoy's novel, "War and Peace." This book, which has been long delayed on the press through the illness of the translator, is the third in the series which now already contains "Anna Karenin" and "Ivan Ilyitch." The aim is to put into the hands of English readers a translation of the great Russian master's works which shall present in an adequate manner not only the words, but the spirit of the originals. They have in preparation a volume that will surely be welcomed by all devotees of the automobile in "The Complete Motorist," by A. B. Filson Young, one of England's most noted automobile experts. The book is an account of the evolution and construction of the modern motor car, and gives a history of it from its very beginning in an awkward steam vehicle to its modern latest manifestation in the noiseless, mile-a-minute, eighty-horse-power machine. The book is a sparkling, interesting and enthusiastic piece of history writing, not a dry treatise on mechanics; a piece of literature imbued with the spirit and speed and exhilaration of automobilism. It contains a chapter contributed by Rudyard Kipling, and one by the author of "The Lightning Conductor" on the open road. It is a practical book on the selection, use and maintenance of the motor carriage and the mechanical facts concerning its engine and its maintenance.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish about the middle of October "The Practice of Self-Culture," by Rev. Hugh Black, the author of "Friendship" and "Culture and Restraint." The volume deals with the practical ways in which the self can be equipped for service. It contends that self-culture is not in itself a complete ideal for human life, but has its place as the necessary education to make a man's contribution to the world worthy. Some of the chapters deal with culture of the body, the mind, the imagination, the heart, the conscience, and the spirit. They will bring out at once "Doctor Tom: the Coroner of Brett," the first novel by Dr. John Streeter, who wrote "The Fat of the Land," and who in this new field gives a vivid account of a mountain feud in Kentucky; also, "Mass and Class," by W. J. Ghent, author of "Our Benevolent Feudalism," which is full of enlightening and suggestive distinctions between the various parts of the social body according to their several functions. They will publish towards the end of October a volume of short stories, entitled "Players and Vagabonds," by Miss Viola Roseboro, who is already well known for her fine, natural, human and delightful stories of player-folk; also, "Atoms of Empire," a new book by C. J. Cutcliffe Hyne, the creator of "Captain Kettle." Some time during November they will bring out the new volume by Daniel Gregory Mason, the author of "From Greig to Brahms." "Beethoven and His Forerunners" tells in untechnical fashion the story of the development of instrumental music up to its first great culmination in the work of Beethoven. In particular it sets forth the contributions made to pure music by Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. In method it is partly historical and psychological, partly biographical. They will also publish during the fall a translation, by Professor Augustus Trowbridge, of Wisconsin University, of Professor Augusto Righi's latest and most important scientific work, under the title of "The Modern Theory of Physical Phenomena (Radioactivity, Ions and Electrons)." Professor Righi has read the translation and made certain corrections, so that it accords precisely with his present views.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just ready in The Woman's Library, edited by Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster, Dr. Emma E. Walker's new book, "Beauty Through Hygiene." In her introduction Mrs. Sangster says: "Dr. Walker insists that beauty in women is to be obtained, heightened and held for a lifetime, through the instrumentality of hygiene. Here is the fabled fountain of youth and everyday reality." They will also publish this fall a volume entitled "In the Days of Chaucer," which will inaugurate an important new series on lines radically different from those of the conventional biographies. The aim is a picture of personality and environment. This life story of Chaucer sketches not only the daily life of the great poet, but also the England of his time and the manners, customs, institutions and happenings that helped to make him what he was and are reflected in his poems. The author, Tudor Jenks, has made a special study of the lives of certain of the greatest writers from the point of view of personality and human interest, and he is said to have succeeded in picturing a living personality instead of the abstraction outlined in conventional biographies. It is understood that "In the Days of Chaucer" will be followed by a similar picture of Shakespeare's life and times. They will publish in October "A Captain in the Ranks," the new novel upon which George Cary Eggleston has been engaged for a long time. This is not a novel of the Civil War, but aside from its romantic interest it pictures the building of the Middle West which went on so dramatically after the release of the armies by the closing of the war. Mr. Eggleston himself after serving in the war went to the Middle West, and was an actual part of a most striking phase of American life, full of picturesque material for the novelist. They will also publish shortly William Henry Shelton's new story, "The Three Prisoners," a true tale of adventure in the Civil War, in their popular East and West Series for younger readers. Mr. Shelton was a participant in the war. His story is said to tell the adventures of some boys and a schoolmaster who became involved in the war and all manner of hairbreadth escapes in spite of themselves, and made their way out after many thrilling experiences by dint of ingenuity and pluck. Another promising book for younger readers which A. S. Barnes & Co. will issue this autumn is "The Island Camp, or, the Young Hunters of Lakeport," by that most popular juvenile writer, Captain Ralph Bonehill. This will be the first volume in Captain Bonehill's new Outdoor Series, which will be handsomely illustrated.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS call attention to their various editions of the American Standard Revised Bible. This version of the Scriptures may be had with or without teachers' aids in sizes ranging from twenty-fourmo in minion type to a long primer type, quarto size. All the editions may be had printed on fine white paper and also on Nelson's India paper, which ranks among the thinnest printing papers in the world. A pulpit edition is now in preparation, and will be published in November. Besides the American Standard Revised Bible they have also the King James version in over four hundred styles. Among these the leader is Nelson's Teachers' Bible, with concise Bible dictionary, concordance and indexed Bible atlas, forming a complete biblical library in a single volume. The Nelson's Sunday-school Scholar's Bible, with practical helps and a new Bible Catechism especially designed for young people, is also a particularly attractive volume. Their Prayer Books and Hymnals are put up in every imaginable style of binding and printed on white paper and on Nelson's India paper, with or without illustrations. Some new styles in white calf, white morocco and ivory have been designed for bridal and confirmation gifts. The oblong editions are dainty and unique. They have also "Altar Services" in imperial octavo, set in great primer type, conforming to the standard Prayer Book of 1892, and arranged with special regard for the convenience of the celebrant. Among miscellaneous books their New Century Library, printed on Nelson's India paper, takes the lead. This admirable series now contains the complete works of Dickens, Thackeray and Scott, and selected works by a number of the best authors. They have also a series of Pocket Dictionaries known as the E. F. G. Series, issued under the general editorship of G. F. Barwick, of the British Museum. The volumes are dainty forty-eightmos, (2¾ x 4 inches,) bound in linen, Venetian and Mosaic Persian. The volumes now ready include English, French and English, German and English, Italian and English, Spanish and English and "The Pocket Remembrancer." They also announce a line of Devotional Books, including "The Imitation of Christ," "Gold Dust," "Steps to the Altar," etc., and a line of Birthday Books, seventeen volumes, containing quotations from Browning, Burns, Shakespeare and other famous authors. For children they will have a line of Colored Toy Books at prices ranging from two cents each for a nicely-printed paper-covered book with colored illustrations to $2.25 for an exquisite edition of a popular fairy book with twelve full-page and numerous other illustrations.

LITTLE BROWN & Co.'s fall fiction includes the following: "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," a book of original character drawing, quaint humor, and homely philosophy, by Anne Warner, author of "A Woman's Will;" "The Princess Thora," an imaginative tale of a North Pole expedition, by Harris Burland, author of "Dacobra;" "Painted Shadows," a collection of new stories by Richard Le Gallienne; "The Wolverine," a romance of early Michigan, by Robert L. Lawrence; "Sweet Peggy," a summer idyl, by Linnie Sarah Harris; and a new popular edition of "The Golden Windows," Laura E. Richards's book of fables for young and old. Their illustrated holiday books include a limited edition of Rembrandt's etchings, with 50 full-page facsimile reproductions in photogravure of Rembrandt's most notable etchings, printed on Dutch hand-made paper, with descriptive text by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, and a complete annotated catalogue, introduction, and notes by Campbell Dodgson, of the British Museum; a handsome new edition of "The Poems of Dante Gabriel Rossetti," annotated by his brother, William Michael Rossetti, printed from new type, at the Astolat Press, on hand-made paper, and illustrated with 20 full-page photogravure reproductions of paintings by Rossetti; "Roma Beata," letters from the Eternal City, by Maud Howe, co-author of "The Story of Laura Bridgman," etc., with illustrations from drawings and photographs; a new illustrated edition of "The Old Masters and Their Pictures," by Sarah Tyler, with 20 full-page plates; a new illustrated edition of "The Intellectual Life," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, with nine plates. Their fall juvenile list is always a strong one, and this year includes eleven new titles, as follows: The last of the series of Anna Chapin Ray's "Teddy" books, entitled "Nathalie's Sister," a sequel to "Ursula's Freshman," published a year ago; "Irma and Nap," a story for younger girls, by Helen Leah Reed, author of the "Brenda" books; "The Boy Captive of Old Deerfield," beginning a new series of Colonial stories, by Mary P. Wells Smith, the well-known author of The Young Puritans Series, etc.; "The Story of Rolf and the Viking's Bow," by Allen French, author of "The Junior Cup," etc.; "The White Crystals," a story of the adventures of two boys, by Howard R. Garis; "In the Miz," by Grace E. Ward, consisting of seven fanciful and humorous stories, illustrated with eight full-page pictures in color, and numerous cuts in the texts, by Clara E. Atwood; "Little Almond Blossoms," by Jessie Juliet Knox, a book of stories of Chinese boys and girls, illustrated from photographs; "The Nursery Fire," by Rosalind Richards, profusely illustrated by Clara E. Atwood; "The Alley Cat's Kitten," an amusing book for children who love cats, by Caroline M. Fuller, fully illustrated; and "The Child at Play," little stories for the youngest readers, by Clara Murray, illustrated in color. Their miscellaneous books include "The Younger American Poets," a book of literary criticism, by Jessie B. Rittenhouse, with 12 portraits; "The Fires of St. John," translated from the German of Hermann Sudermann by Charlotte Porter, with illustrations from Nance O'Neil's production of the play; "The Little Book of Life After Death," translated from the German of Gustav Theodor Fechner, by Mary E. Wadsworth, with introduction by Professor William James; "Morning Thoughts to Cheer the Day," quotations selected and arranged by Maria H. LeRow; "The Monroe Doctrine," by T. B. Edgington, M.A., of the Memphis Bar; "The Expansion of the Common Law," by Sir Frederick Pollock; "Prayers Offered in the Senate," by Dr. Edward Everett Hale; and a new edition of "Kennel Secrets," by "Ashmont."

PICK-UPS.

AMONG a list of biographies ordered by one of our country customers was "Botherwell's Life of Jonathan." He expressed himself as exceedingly anxious to secure this work. R.

Two gentlemen in passing through a Western bookstore stopped in front of a pile of G. Stanley Hall's "Adolescence, its Psychology." One of them remarked to the other, "What is that?" The other replied, "Don't you know? Why Adolescence was a famous psychologist, and this work tells all about his system of psychology." The other replied, "I think you are wrong. I cannot tell exactly what it means, but it seems to me that 'adolescence' means 'hairy,' and I take it to be the psychology of the head." R.

ANOTHER customer mysteriously asked the book clerk for an unexpurgated edition of Mrs. Hemans's poems.

Henry Holt and Company's September Fiction

Published at 29 West 23d Street, New York

Sinclair's DIVINE FIRE $1.50

When the Divine Fire strikes a Cockney, that most material of men, the results are bound to be interesting. The Cockney of this story becomes a real poet, and meets many people of all sorts, chiefly in London and in English country houses. The publishers are advised that the author shows sincerity, humor, tolerance, penetration and wide acquaintance with the life described.

Theodore Winthrop's MR. WADDY'S RETURN . . . $1.50

Edited by BURTON E. STEVENSON.

A story with a strong love interest. The scenes are principally in Boston and Newport before the war. The tale centers about Mr. Waddy, his family traditions, his experiences in love, and his successful bid for a fortune in India. This novel not having been revised by the author was not included among his books which appeared shortly after his death. Mr. Stevenson, with the sanction of the author's sister, has endeavored to do for the book what the author would have been likely to had he lived.

Loomis' "MORE CHEERFUL AMERICANS" . . . $1.25

With illustrations by FLORENCE SCOVEL SHINN, FANNY Y. CORY, F. R. GRUGER, and MAY WILSON WATKINS.

Another volume in the vein of the author's "Cheerful Americans" which is already in its seventh impression. In this new book he tells of Americans who succeeded against heavy odds, and of others, including tramps, who were cheerful even in Suburbia; and he gently satirizes many matters of to-day, including popular songs, golf, labor unions and nature study, winding up with a merry paper on "How to Write a Novel for the Masses."

Canfield's FERGY THE GUIDE, and his Moral and In- structive Lies about Beasts, Birds and Fishes . . . $1.50

Illustrated by A. D. BLASHFIELD.

These "lies" do not stretch the credulity much harder than some of the serious stories of animal intelligence. Some fifty sketches by Albert D. Blashfield ably assist the author in smashing the verities.

Bacon's (J. H.) PURSUIT OF PHYLLIS . . . $1.25

A genial, humorous romance of travel, in England, France, China and Ceylon. The hero, ordered abroad for his health, finds a package of letters in a hotel bureau drawer, and on a whim tries to find the girl to whom they are addressed. H. Latimer Brown contributes pictures of pursuer and pursued.

Two Stirring Stories of Naval Adventure for Boys

Bruneck's PRINCE HENRY'S SAILOR BOY . . . $1.50

Freely translated and adapted by MARY J. SAFFORD. Illustrated by GEORGE ALFRED WILLIAMS.

Bruneck might be called the German Henty. This is the story of Claus Erichsen, whom Prince Henry is supposed to save in the Baltic Sea. The duties, perils, fun, and frolic of a lad in the German navy are faithfully described. He has many adventures, crosses the Equator, passes through the Suez Canal, visits Japan, China and Africa.

* * This is to be followed in October by

Costello's NELSON'S YANKEE BOY

A vivid story of Trafalgar and of our own War of 1812. Strikingly illustrated by W. H. DUNTON. $1.50.

DOUBLE HARNESS

Anthony Hope, in this novel of married Londoners, draws a tremendous picture of smart society in the center of the world. It's as sparkling as "The Dolly Dialogues," and as romantic as "Zenda." Besides, it shows "a knowledge of character and motives that is beyond the reach of mere cleverness," says the London Bookman. A high-minded young girl marries a man, not much better nor much worse than most English society men. They can't see things the same way. And their trouble forms an intense human drama.

Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

THE BRETHREN

Rider Haggard, who startled the English-speaking world with his romances of adventure, "She" and "King Solomon's Mines," gives, in this story of feudal England and the crusades in Palestine, a generous measure of adventure, of romance, and of "startle." "The Brethren" are two English knights who love the Sultan Saladin's niece, Rosamund. They follow her to Palestine. Strange and exciting are their encounters with the fearful Lord of the Assassins, and with Saladin, as noble a Pagan as ever drew sword.

Sixteen illustrations by H. R. Millar. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

IN THE CLOSED ROOM

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett has written here her first tale of child-life in ten years, and it is the tenderest, gentlest story imaginable. It is a "real" story, yet it contains the most exquisite spiritual fancy. Judith, a sweet little flower blooming in a dingy tenement, suddenly finds herself in a fine great house near the Park, in which there is a forbidden Closed Room. How she enters it, and how a delightful land of mystery is opened to her, Mrs. Burnett tells with the delicacy and simplicity that made "Fauntleroy" a joy to millions.

Eight sympathetic illustrations in color by Jessie Willcox Smith. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

WAR AND PEACE

One of the best novels of Tolstoi's earlier and more popular period, translated by Mrs. Garnett so admirably that it seems naturalized into our language. Uniform with "Ivan Ilyitch" and with "Anna Karenin."

THE MOUNTAINS

Most everybody knows by now that Stewart Edward White is "good company" on any trip through wild country and pioneer life. And this journey is an exciting one, over the great Sierra Nevadas, from alkali plain to snow-line. You learn a lot about appreciating the big outdoors, and about camping, packing, cooking, horses, and other things that most people have to learn by experience.

THE FOREST

is probably at this moment the best-read book of north woods life that's published. It's no wonder when you think of the fresh charm about these confidences of Mr. White's 1000-mile canoe trip; the pleasant freedom from any set story or essay-form; the invaluable

BLAZED TRAIL STORIES

Breathing the incense of the forest, the hot air of the mesa, the storm of the Western mining camp, there are heroes. Pioneers, simple, unconscious of their heroism; rude, dangerous vicious even; still they are heroes, and when you read these lightning frontier dramas by Mr. White you're glad that they exist, and that he has seen them battling with evil forces of nature and of man, and has written of their struggles with such wealth of local color and sharp detail. It's a book that makes you sit up and tingle.

THE HOUSE OF FULFILMENT

Another girl-heroine from the author of "Emmy Lou"! And that famous little girl was no sweeter or finer than Alexina, whom Mrs. Martin shows from childhood to womanhood seeking "The House of Fulfilment" of her desire, and finding it finally through a true love. In her romance, and that of several couples less ideal; in the ever-fascinating contrast of Northern and Southern types in Kentucky and Louisiana around Civil War time, Mrs. Martin has had a chance to write a genuine novel of human sympathy and joy. We think she has done it.

LITTLE CITIZENS

Myra Kelly's stories of the humors of school life east of the Bowery have been a leading feature of McClure's Magazine during the past year. From the first, letters poured in to Miss Kelly, asking for more about Morris Mogilewsky and Ignatius Aloysius Diamantstein and all the queer little Italian and Jewish and Irish children whose odd dialects and crazy mistakes kept readers in screams of laughter. In this volume, the stories are collected, revised, and amusingly illustrated by W. D. Stevens.

HISTORY OF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Miss Ida M. Tarbell's story of the greatest modern industrial struggle and the greatest "trust" of all time, appearing in McClure's Magazine, exerted a wider influence and excited more editorial comment than any other magazine feature of the century. Now, in these two handsome octavo volumes, it is seen to be a permanent and important contribution to history. Miss Tarbell tells of Rockefeller's gigantic plan to control the entire oil production of the United States; of how this came to include also oil distribution; of the death-struggle with the independents, and of the secret rebates and rate-cutting by which, at fearful expense, they were finally crushed; of the many legal attempts to break up the trust, and their failure.

Yet the book is not controversial. Every important statement, every contention, is backed by documentary evidence.

After years of patient and brilliant research, resulting in an immense amount of hitherto unpublished material; after extended investigations in the Oil Regions, her birthplace, where she learnt the story of the war with "Standard" from the old fighters themselves, many of them her friends; Miss Tarbell, with much expert assistance, has produced a narrative which the Chicago Tribune calls "more exciting and more marvellous than any fiction ever written."

Many illustrations, portraits, and figures. Cloth, 8vo, 2 volumes, net, $5.00

THE AMERICANS

Hugo Munsterberg's big book isn't the globe-trotter's kindly reminiscences of a pleasant visit, so painfully familiar nowadays,—a sort of literary "bread-and-butter letter,"—no, it's a frank and brilliant analysis of our country and ourselves, written in German for the Germans by the Professor of Philosophy at Harvard. So worthy and entertaining it proved that it had to be translated into English. It is the finest criticism of us since Bryce's "American Commonwealth."

Cloth, 8vo, about 600 pages. Postpaid, $2.65; net, $2.50

INDIAN FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS

Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady's fourth volume in the "American Fights and Fighters Series" tells of our Indian wars and of the heroes who won them. Many of the old soldiers, Generals Miles, Hughes, Forsythe, and others, have personally revised the articles. There is much original material, as in the Appendix, which is an important and final contribution to the discussion as to whether or not Custer exceeded his orders at Little Big Horn. THE COURTSHIPS OF QUEEN ELIZABETH

Major Martin Hume, custodian for King Edward of the Spanish State Papers and others, has shaken the dust of centuries from his musty documents, many of them hitherto unknown, and shows the blazing, fascinating pageant of a Queen who was "supremely vain," to whom, in her glittering court, came many splendid suitors. There was the sighing Frenchman, Alençon, "the poor frog;" and black curled Walter Raleigh, satined and jeweled at the Queen's desire; petted, spoiled Leicester; finally, 19-year-old Essex, scornfully running away from his mistress of 52. The trained historian's searching and weighing of internal evidence never obscures the romance, particularly in the two chapters added to this edition, dealing with the personal, non-political side of Elizabeth's amours.

THE COMPLETE FRENCH HOME MOTORIST COOKING

A. B. Filson Young has written the Chauffeur's Bible. Himself an expert amateur, he gives for amateurs "an account of the evolution and construction of the modern motor-car," with thorough rules for the management of French, German, and American, as well as English cars. The book is full of headings such as "Difficulties of the beginner;" "The poor man's problem;" "The cow, the dog, and the hen;" "Being one's own mechanic." Among the contributors are Rudyard Kipling, Lady Jeune, and the authors of "The Lightning Conductor."

Sixty full-page illustrations, and 150 in the text, net, $3.50

French cooking, and money saved—but you won't believe it until you read Berthe Julienne Low's handsome, well-illustrated volume. It teaches the economy, the variety, and the little distinctive tricks in cooking that make the French the best-fed nation in the world. From the marketing—and Mrs. Low, who has lived on this side, allows for the difference from French markets—up to the spicing and serving, the book is full of precise, practical directions for preparing the tantalizing menus given. And there are hundreds of valuable recipes.

SELLING TO BEAT THE BAND

*A List ofHARPER & BROTHERSFall PublicationsTrue Bills. By George Ade, author of "Fables in Slang."

This is a new collection of George Ade's latest fables, recounting for the most part humorous business and political situations. George Ade's fables in slang are always welcome and too well known to need comment. This new volume shows our modern Æsop at his best. Under his genial humor and irony lurks hard common-sense. He holds the mirror up to nature in a unique and highly entertaining manner. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

The Sorrows of Sap'ed. By James Jeffrey Roche, author of "Her Majesty the King."

The author relates in reverential style the troubles of an Oriental monarch with his successive wives. The story is peppered with innumerable wise maxims on matrimony and other matters which are wont to vex royalty, and which keep the reader laughing throughout the book. Illustrated in color. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

A Young Man in a Hurry. By Robert W. Chambers, author of "In Search of the Unknown."

This volume contains Mr. Chambers's latest short stories, which are among the very best he has written. They possess in a more generous measure the vivacity and humor and piquant sentiment for which this author's book is noted. Illustrated. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

History and ScienceThe American Nation: A History. From Original Sources, by Associated Scholars. In 27 Volumes. Edited by Albert Bushnell Hart, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of History at Harvard University.The History.

This work is the greatest, most authoritative, and only exhaustively complete history of America that has ever been undertaken. The work is under the editorial supervision of Albert Bushnell Hart, Professor of History at Harvard University, in consultation with advisory committees appointed by the Massachusetts, Virginia, Texas, and Wisconsin Historical Societies. The history will be complete in twenty-seven volumes, each the work of an acknowledged scholar of history who is a specialist in that period of our nation's history of which his volume treats. Each writer has spent years of study in preparing for this great work, and has searched all records and historical data. The names of these scholars are an assurance of the authority, finality, and permanence of this great work. The plan of the narrative is chronological, the volumes following each other in close sequence, and its scope a critical, political, biographical account of the events and forces which have been vital in the making of our nation. The series will include a set of unexcelled maps in color and in black and white. These maps alone are equivalent to an expensive American Atlas, and are, moreover, the result of the very latest topographical work. Each volume is indexed and a general index volume to the whole series will be prepared, thus making the whole group useful for ready reference. Accompanying each volume is a chapter of bibliography suited to the further needs of the general reader.

Five volumes are now completed and the remaining volumes will follow quickly. This first group of five is complete in itself.

- Vol. I. THE EUROPEAN BACKGROUND OF AMERICAN HISTORY, by Professor E. P. Cheyney, University of Pennsylvania. It deals with the condition of European civilization at the time of the sailing of Columbus and just after, which led to his voyages and other journeys to the American continent.
- Vol. II. BASIS OF AMERICAN HISTORY, by Professor Livingston Farrand, Columbia University, deals particularly with the conditions of our continent in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, Indian civilization, climate, topography, etc.
- Vol. III. SPAIN IN AMERICA, by Professor E. G. Bourne, Yale University, deals with the period of Spanish colonization between the years 1450 and 1580.
- Vol. IV. ENGLAND IN AMERICA, by Lyon G. Tyler, President of William and Mary College, deals with the early English colonies in Virginia and New England.
- Vol. V. COLONIAL SELF-GOVERNMENT, by Professor Charles M. Andrews, Bryn Mawr College, deals with the early self-government of the Spanish, French, English, and Dutch Colonies.

Each volume is illustrated with frontispiece and maps in color and black and white. Crown 8vo, polished buckram, leather labels, with gilt lettering, gilt tops, uncut edges, five volumes in box, net, $9.00.

Russia. By Hugo Ganz.

This book is an inside study of Russian Finances, Socialism, Dissenters, Bureaucracy, Public Opinion, the Czar and his Powers, the Courts of Justice, the Students, Plehve the all powerful minister, Russian Politics, the Press, the "Impending Crisis," and the Jewish Question, by a man thoroughly fitted to give a clear exposition of these subjects. The book was very recently written and is the last word on the subject of Russia. Dr. Ganz spent some time of the present year in Russia, bringing his observations and studies of this land of paradoxes entirely up to date. Taken as a whole the book answers many of just those questions that intelligent people are now asking about Russia. Dr. Ganz is a trained journalist with a very acute mind, who had unusual opportunities for getting at the heart of matters in Russia. His book is an intensely interesting story of present conditions there. Crown 8vo, net, $2.50.

The Cycle of Life. By C. W. Saleeby.

These essays deal chiefly with the greater problems of the universe, the future fate of the sun, the moon, the earth, the laws of gravity and the ether. Mr. Saleeby presents his material in a fascinating manner. His breadth of view, his clear language, his open-mindedness towards the yet undiscovered make his volume one of the most readable and inspiring books of the day. Crown 8vo, $2.00 net.

Biography and MusicImperator et Rex. By the author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress."

This charming biographer of the Emperor and Empress of Austria has here devoted her facile pen and unrivalled knowledge of the subject to the portraiture of the German Emperor as he really is, of his charming home life, and of his sympathetic character—presenting him as the warm-hearted and impulsive man rather than as a keen-minded, astute ruler bent on fostering the grandeur of his empire. Illustrated, crown 8vo, deckel edges, gilt top, $2.25.

Phases of Modern Music. By Lawrence Gilman.

In this volume Mr. Gilman writes of various important phases of the music of to-day in a manner congenial to the general music lover, to whom a merely technical consideration of music would not appeal. Among the subjects treated in the book are Richard Strauss, Mascagni, Edward MacDowell, Edvard Grieg, Wagner and his relation to Verdi, "Parsifal" and its significance, realism in music, women as composers, etc. 16mo, cloth, uncut edges, gilt top, net, $1.25.

PoetryThe Complete Poetical Works of Algernon Charles Swinburne.

The want of a complete library edition of the works of this great poet has long been felt. The whole of Swinburne's Poetical Works are included in these Six Crown 8vo Volumes, handsomely printed on fine paper. The first volume Mr. Swinburne has prefaced by a long Introductory Letter to his friend, Theodore Watts-Dunton, in which he relates for the first time how he came to produce the works upon which his fame rests. The contents of the six volumes are as follows:

Vol. I. POEMS AND BALLADS. First Series.

Vol. II. SONGS BEFORE SUNRISE—SONGS OF TWO NATIONS, including A SONG OF ITALY.

Vol. III. POEMS AND BALLADS, Second and Third Series—SONGS OF THE SPRINGTIDES.

Vol. IV. TRISTRAM OF LYONESSE (the Arthurian Poems)—THE TALE OF BALEN—ATALANTA—ERECHTHEUS.

Vol. V. STUDIES IN SONG—A CENTURY OF ROUNDELS—SONNETS from the volume "Tristram of Lyonesse"—POEMS FROM TRISTRAM—THE HEPTALOGIA (with additions).

Vol. VI. A MIDSUMMER HOLIDAY—ASTROPHEL, and Other Poems—The Contents of the New Volume, A CHANNEL PASSAGE, and Other Poems, which is now in the press.

Six volumes. With latest portrait of Swinburne and autograph. Crown 8vo, library binding, uncut edges, gilt tops, net, $12.00.

Essays

The Common Way. By Margaret Deland, author of "Old Chester Tales."

During the past two years Margaret Deland has written for Harper's Bazar a series of essays for women, so vital, so strong, so human that there has been a great popular demand for their preservation in book form. The first title of the series was "Twentieth-Century Talks to Women," and this title well describes the luminous common-sense papers Mrs. Deland has written on subjects of "Motherhood," etc. Every woman will be not only interested in Mrs. Deland's essays, but definitely helped by them. 16mo, cloth, gilt top, uncut edges, net, $1.25.

Gift Books

The Castle Comedy. By Thompson Buchanan.

An engaging story, written along comedy lines, of the time of Napoleon. The sprightly way in which the story is told, the dashing impudence of the hero, and the charm of the heroine, combine with the beauty of the volume to make this book unusually attractive as a Christmas gift. With illustrations in color and marginal decorations by Elizabeth Shippen Green. Uncut edges, gilt top, in box, net, $2.00.

Over the Hill to the Poor-House. By Will Carleton, author of "Farm Ballads."

This is the poem that first made Will Carleton famous. Its appeal to the best in human nature is of enduring quality. The author has written a preface especially for this edition, in which he tells some interesting things about the early vogue and criticism of this poem, and its authenticity as to facts. Illustrated. Marginal decorations in color. Square 8vo, in box, net, $2.00.

A Journey in Search of Christmas. By Owen Wister, author of "The Virginian."

Owen Wister has written nothing about the West more delightful, humorous, and pathetic by turns than this Christmas tale. It is a story of a big-hearted cowboy's quest of a good time at Christmas and how he found it in the acquaintance of a little city bootblack, whom he eventually took back to his mountain home. Illustrated. Printed in black and tint, decorated borders. Uncut edges, gilt top, in box, $2.00.

A Dog's Tale. By Mark Twain.

This famous dog story is now published in a beautiful holiday edition, with illustrations in color by W. T. Smedley, in response to the numerous demands for it in book form. It is a powerful piece of fiction, being told entirely from the dog's standpoint, and has made a widespread appeal to all classes of readers. With illustrations in color by W. T. Smedley. Cloth, $1.00.

The Luxury of Children. By Edward S. Martin.

With a genial charm and humor akin to that of Charles Lamb, Mr. Martin has written a series of essays which have to do with the many sweet, loving phases of child-life in the home. Among the chapter headings are: "Other People's Children," "Some Children in Particular," "Parents," "Strong Points of Infancy," "Naughtiness," "Children as an Incentive," "A Proper Place for Grandparents." The book will delight all fathers and mothers, and its quiet good humor and charming style make it a beautiful tribute to home life. Eight illustrations in color by Sarah S. Stilwell. Marginal decorations by Miss Stilwell, printed in tint. Square 8vo, ornamented cloth, uncut edges, gilt top, net, $1.75.

The Story of the Candlesticks. By Victor Hugo.

This is the famous story of Jean Valjean and the bishop's silver candlesticks, from Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Misérables." The episode is a complete story in itself, and the scene between the bishop and the ex-convict is one of the most impressive in all literature. "Wayside Series." Square 16mo, bound in gray-and-white cartridge paper boards, $1.00.

Red Hunters and the Animal People. By Charles A. Eastman ("Ohiyesa").

The author of these stories is a Sioux Indian, now a graduated physician and a worker among his people. His stories are not legends, but real tales of what may be called the human side of animal life. In some of the stories the hunter plays a part, but in most of them the animals themselves are the interesting figures. Many of the stories are intensely dramatic and all are written in a vivid, poetic style. Post 8vo, net, $1.25.

London Mews. By Catherine Janvier.

This volume consists of brief verses about cats and cat-life that will please the little folks. The rhymes are quaintly illustrated in colors by the author. Oblong 4to, net, $1.50.

JuvenilesRiver-Land. By Robert W. Chambers.

This is the latest volume of the series of nature books, each chapter dealing with the experiences of Peter and Geraldine and with some tree, animal, or fish growing beside or living in the streams. This has proved a capital plan for instilling natural history into children's minds. Uniform with "Orchard-Land" and "Outdoorland." With eight full-page illustrations in color by Elizabeth Shippen Green. Cloth, net, $1.50.

Josephine. By Ellen Douglas Deland.

This is the story of two little girls named Jo and Georgie, who, coming to live with their cousins, create consternation in the family because they are girls and not boys, as their names would indicate. But they bravely win their way into the hearts of their relatives, and many interesting adventures follow. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

Little Precious. By Gertrude Smith.

This is a companion volume to "The Lovable Tales of Janey and Josey and Joe" and recounts the further adventures of these charming little people. Miss Smith's stories for children are decidedly original and have been highly successful. With sixteen full-page colored illustrations and pictorial cover design in colors. Square 8vo, net, $1.30.

The Blue Dragon. By Kirk Munroe.

Kirk Munroe went to China especially to write this book of adventure and travel for boys. The heroes are an American boy and a Chinese boy who become fast friends at an American school. Later the scene is transferred to China, and the siege of the foreign legations at Peking plays an important part in the narrative. A delightful story, full of information about the great Chinese Empire. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

In Camp at Bear Pond. By Henry Edward Rood.

A rattling good story of the adventures of two boys who spend a month camping out in the woods in the bear country of Pennsylvania. The lads have many exciting adventures on the lake and in the forest, suffering a shipwreck, an encounter with a wild cat, capturing a pair of bear cubs, and incidental fishing and hunting. They also discover a spot where Indian relics are concealed. The book contains a great deal of wood-craft in which boys always delight, and exact information as to tents, utensils, and tools necessary for camping out. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

The Song of Our Syrian Guest. By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. Revised and enlarged edition, with illustrations. 50 cts. net.

The story has delighted many thousands of readers. Nearly 13,000 copies of this little book were called for during December, 1903, principally by people who had read it in The Congregationalist, or seen it in the hands of friends, as it was advertised but little. We have now prepared a handsome illustrated edition, with title, cover design and full-page drawings by Mr. Charles Cope-land. The author has drawn much new material from his notes on Syrian shepherd life, and has lengthened the story to bring out new shades of meaning in the words of the Twenty-third Psalm.

Bound in cloth, cover design in white and gold, text of psalm in thirteenth century missal letters, with illuminated initials and captions.

We also have the original edition in pamphlet form at 5 cts., 50 cts. per dozen, and a better edition in cardboard covers at 10 cts., $1.00 per dozen.

Sword and Plowshare. By WILLIS BOYD ALLEN. pp. 266. $1.25.

This is the fourth in the series of Colonial and Revolutionary stories by the well-known author of "Son of Liberty," "Called to the Front," "Pine Tree Flag," etc., and is as full of interest as those that precede it. After following our old acquaintances through many of the stirring events of the latter part of the war, we are introduced to the peaceful domestic life of those early days.

The Testing of Sidney Dean. By Mrs. IDA T. THURSTON. In press. $1.25.

Tells of the various experiences, both good and bad, of a young fellow in making a start in life. His loyalty, when business prospects look dark, to the man with whom he has taken only a temporary position, his devotion to "gran," to whom he is not related, but who is badly treated by those who are under obligations to care for her, his straightforward, manly integrity in all the trials which beset him, and the success which finally crowns his efforts—all make interesting reading which will be helpful to other lads.

Autumn Announcement

True Henry Clay

By JOSEPH M. ROGERS

The new volume of the "True Biographies," which have been the most successful series of their kind ever published. Mr. Rogers, formerly editor of McClure's Magazine, was born and reared in the Clay country. He has made a lifetime study of Clay and his environment. He had access to all the private Clay papers now in possession of the Clay family. His book is notable for its wealth of anecdote and for its portrayal of Clay as a man. It contains twenty-four illustrations, most of them from photographs made especially for the work.

Illustrated. 12mo. Decorated cloth, $2.00 net; half morocco, $5.00 net.
Postage 14 cents extra.

Love's; Labour's Lost

By HORACE HOWARD FURNESS

The new volume in this most scholarly of all editions of Shakespeare's plays. It contains the same large number of foot-notes, annotations, and comparisons of text which have been a feature of the other thirteen volumes of a monumental work.

Modern Industrial Progress

By C. H. COCHRANE

A new volume which describes in plain, practical, and yet accurate manner what has been done in the last few years, especially in the fields of invention and mechanical construction. The book tells of the making of sky-scrapers, of armor-plate, of the great guns, etc.; of the discovery and application of the principles of wireless telegraphy; in fact, it covers the whole field of industrial progress. The book is profusely and beautifully illustrated with reproductions from accurate photographs.

Over 400 illustrations. 12mo. Decorated cloth. $3.00 net. Postage extra.

On Holy Ground

By REV. WILLIAM L. WORCESTER

An interesting presentation of the stories of the Bible so arranged and introduced that they appeal directly to the young reader. Dr. Worcester has not attempted to modify or change the language of the Bible, but has prefaced each story with sufficient explanation to make its meaning and its relation to the other stories entirely plain. The book is illustrated with 300 superb reproductions from photographs of the most interesting spots in the Holy Land.

Illustrated. 8vo. Cloth, $3.00 net. Postage extra.

Cats by the Way

By SARAH E. TRUEBLOOD

All about cats,—the kind of cats every one knows; not the aristocratic animal of the bench show, but the pussy of the fireside, the kitchen, and sitting-room cushion. There are scores of little pictures of the cat scattered through the book, which has a pussy-cat cover as well.

Illustrated. 12mo. Decorated cloth, $1.25 net. Postage 8 cents extra.

Diseases of Society

By G. FRANK LYDSTON, M.D.

The most direct, forceful and out-spoken study of social conditions in this country which has yet been put into print. Dr. Lydston considers not only the police criminal, the anarchist and the sexual pervert, but also that vast number of offenders against the moral and physical laws whom the courts do not reach. He deals with the oppression of wealth, the rights and wrongs of organized capital, and labor, the negro question and the crimes which have grown out of it, and with the offences of "society" at large. His book is written in the most trenchant and brilliant style. His statements cut to the bone; and he tells the truth without fear or favor. As a physician, physiologist and student of social conditions he has wide experience for many years. For the special study of the criminal classes his official positions have given him unusual opportunities, including access to the police records and photograph galleries of many cities, and to the registers of asylums for the insane.

Illustrated. 8vo. Cloth, $3.00 net. Postage extra.

Business

By L. DeV. MATTHEWMAN

A book of epigrams, by the author of "Crankisms," in an entirely new vein. They are smart, snappy observations on business, its principles and lack of principles; its paths to success and its pitfalls; its sophistries and its practical lessons. The book has fifty full-page drawings and many smaller sketches by Tom Fleming, and has decorated covers.

FICTION

The Challoners

By E. F. BENSON

"Mr. Benson's latest novel, 'The Challoners,' is probably the best thing he has done so far. In 'The Challoners' his happiest faculty, that of putting smart society on paper, is shown to its best advantage. He is at home with English people, and when he attempts to picture the heights and depths of a father's despair when he sees his children taking what is to him a plunge into moral perdition, his work is deft and true and commendably sincere. An entertaining, well-written story, with deep feeling in it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Kitty of the Roses

By RALPH HENRY BARBOUR

A charming little love story in which a young architect and the mistress of a rose garden are the two figures. The whole story breathes summer sunshine, the fragrance of flowers, and the alluring uncertainties of love making. The book is daintily illustrated, and has, besides, the decorations on each page and the attractions of artistic printing and binding, which make it especially suitable as a gift book.

Sign of the Cross

By WILSON BARRETT

A new illustrated edition, with eight pictures that are reproductions of actual scenes taken from the play.

Illustrated. Cloth, 75 cents.

Never-Never Land

By WILSON BARRETT

Mr. Barrett's last book is a dramatic and adventurous love story of to-day. It is likely to appeal to a much larger audience than did his famous "Sign of the Cross," and it will be put upon the English and American stage in the near future. No reader will have to complain of a lack of action or incident.

An Angel by Brevet

By HELEN PITKIN

A love story of New Orleans, which will at once recall George W. Cable's "Old Creole Days." Miss Pitkin, who is widely known throughout the South for her writings, has blended the lazy charm, the passion, and the superstitious strain which characterize Creole society, with the picturesque setting of old aristocratic life of New Orleans, and her story is dramatic and surprising.

Frontispiece by RENNELL. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

Chronicles of Don Q.

By K. and H. PRICHARD

This romance of adventure and humorous experience compares favorably with the popular "Adventures of Captain Kettle." Appearing serially in Pearson's Magazine, it excited wide interest. Something happens on every page of the book, and the character of Don Q. is a unique blend of sardonic humor, courtly grace, and unflinching courage. He is, in effect, a modern bandit, and stops at nothing to attain his end.

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT OF NEW - - PUBLICATIONS AND NEW EDITIONS

THE LACE BOOK.

By N. HUDSON MOORE. Author of "The Old Furniture Book."

Nearly every woman has in her possession, either by inheritance or purchase, some pieces of lace. Very often she has no idea what the makes are or whether the specimens are bobbin-made or needle-made, or whether they are made partly by hand and partly by machine. The aim of this book is to make these points so plain that such questions can be easily decided. The lace of each country is considered separately, and each variety of lace made is described in the part devoted to the country where it originated.

All the finest laces are shown in engravings both of specimen pieces and of portraits painted by masters of the different periods. These pictures are painted with such fidelity that you can almost distinguish each thread in the superb laces which decorate the costumes. In addition, under each portrait is given the variety of lace it illustrates, the name of each subject and that of the painter, as well as the time when they lived. The specimen illustrations have been taken for this book from the best collections, and make it a veritable work of art.

The memoirs of the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries are full of references to the extravagant use of lace. All these sources have been drawn on, and make the subject one of fascination as well as beauty.

Practical experiments to show how little food the human race really needs.

PHYSIOLOGICAL ECONOMY IN NUTRITION.

By PROF. RUSSELL M. CHITTENDEN.

The book gives a clear and concise account of the scientific experiments carried on at New Haven in a study of the food requirements necessary to meet the true physiological needs of the body, under different conditions of life and activity. The aim has been to ascertain experimentally how far the dietary standards and customs which have gained general acceptance in most parts of the civilized world are scientifically correct, and how far they are at fault in meeting the daily needs of the body. These experiments excited the widest comment in the newspapers, but this is the first accurate report made of their results.

The observations extending through many months were made upon three groups of men, representing different types and degrees of mental and physical activity—viz., first, a group of university professors and instructors; second, a detachment of soldiers, volunteers, from the Hospital Corps of the United States Army, detailed through the courtesy of the War Department; third, a group of university students, trained athletes.

A very unusual feature of the book will be sixteen half-tone illustrations showing pictures of the college professors, athletes and soldiers after they had dieted for months and should, according to the ordinary theories, have been half starved.

While the book is primarily a scientific treatise, it is full of valuable and suggestive information for the lay reader, containing among other things the daily dietary followed by the soldiers throughout their stay in New Haven, as well as examples of the dietary made use of by the other subjects experimented with.

The book presents with scientific accuracy the true food requirements of the body. It aims to correct the unphysiological and detrimental dietetic habits which generally prevail.

THE ORIENTAL RUG BOOK.

By MARY CHURCHILL RIPLEY.

One aim of this book is to deal with rugs as they are found to-day in modern homes, and to offer a definite method of study that will furnish the rug-lover with a simple system which will enable him to classify individual possessions.

The book is very fully illustrated with engravings of rugs, including several in color, which have been selected with great care and have been authenticated by Oriental experts who have signed their descriptions of specimens, thus establishing as far as possible the truth concerning them.

Designs which have peculiar significance are fully explained by the author, who calls attention to important motifs of ornament by the introduction of illustrations in the text itself.

The evolution from natural to conventional design is pointed out, and classified illustrations are given of the great styles and periods in art.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY'S PUBLICATIONS.

A unique book of interest to all branches of the church.

SAINTS AND FESTIVALS OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

By H. POMEROY BREWSTER.

Prepared by a hagiologist after many years of arduous study.

While it is practically a "Year Book" for both branches of the Christian Church, it is in every way unlike any books of a similar character yet published either in England or in the United States, since it has the hearty approval of the clergy of all branches of the Church, and gives in clear, terse terms the history of the origin, growth, and in some cases, decadence, of the varied Feasts, Fasts and Festivals of the Church, as told by historians and archaeologists, without any effort to discuss any of the dogmas or creeds promulgated from either the Catholic or Reformed standpoint. With exhaustive and valuable indexes.

In one of these indexes will be found an alphabetical list of most of the Saints the Latin Church has canonized, while in another the days when these saints are honored are given, and upon each day in the Church Year a brief sketch is given of one or more of the most noted among these and the legends connected with their lives.

HOW TO KNOW THE STARRY HEAVENS.

By EDWARD IRVING.

The best written, most accurate, and best illustrated popular work on astronomy.

It is written in plain everyday language that anyone can understand. Difficult scientific terms and puzzling technicalities are conspicuous by their absence.

It is not a dry-as-dust text-book of mathematical astronomy, but a lively and sometimes exciting account of the structure and history of our Universe.

It brings the amazing facts and startling theories of the "New Astronomy," within the grasp of the average public-school graduate.

It gives a simple yet accurate account of the very latest discoveries and theories concerning both solar systems and "atomic star-clusters."

The book is illustrated by colored plates and about 100 star and lunar charts, drawings, sketches, diagrams, and photographic reproductions in black-and-white.

Large 12mo, cloth, net, $2.00

Talks by experts about every kind of non-sporting dog.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY DOG.

By HERBERT COMPTON.

This book is copiously illustrated with portraits of modern champion dogs, and line-drawings of many interesting obsolete types. Every variety of non-sporting dog is fully dealt with. Contributions are included from over 500 authorities who are experts either as owners, breeders, or judges of prize-winning dogs.

The plan of the volume is ingenious. Mr. Compton has circularized hundreds of enthusiastic fanciers, and these have responded with information which forms the bulk of the book. Mr. Compton, however, modestly limits his own share to being "readable" in the links that bind these items. Readable he certainly is throughout, but he is something more, for he has had a wide experience of dogs and horses in many parts of the world.

IMPORTED AMERICANS.

By BROUGHTON BRANDENBURG.

The most intelligent attempt ever made to understand the question of European immigration to America. Mr. and Mrs. Brandenburg crossed the ocean twice in the steerage, passed through Ellis Island, and lived for some months with a typical Sicilian family who were about to emigrate.

Mr. Brandenburg proves this country's error in examining immigrants for admittance at our ports of arrival, shows the fallacy of any attempt to make this examination at the ports from which they sail and urges convincingly that it take place in the home communities of the immigrants, obviating many frauds and deceptions, encouraging desirable emigration and greatly reducing the expense.

What Mr. Brandenburg saw is told in a simple, direct manner. Numerous incidents, entertaining stories, and many illustrations from remarkable photographs illuminate the swiftly moving narrative.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH A KING.

By WILLIAM N. ARMSTRONG.

King Kalakaua of the Sandwich Islands is the only sovereign who ever put a girdle around the earth. His journey was made incognito in 1881, his party consisting only of himself, Col. C. H. Judd, his Chamberlain, and the writer of these memoirs, his Minister of State.

These three had been schoolmates together and had rubbed one another's noses in the dirt thirty years before. The kingdom they represented was a tiny one, but they were entitled to royal ceremonies according to the usages of nations, and they received them everywhere they went.

With interesting half-tone portraits of most of the personages met, showing them as they appeared in 1881.

Charming thoughts for the lovers of flowers.

FLOWER FABLES AND FANCIES.

By N. HUDSON MOORE. Author of "The Old China Book."

A thousand charming fancies and conceits linger around the rose, the lily, the violet and other popular flowers. Some of them come from Japan, the land of flowers. Some are born here, where the Indian gave a spirit to every living thing. Other legends had their birth in far-off Persia, where, though the maiden might not read or write, she could spell out a love-letter in flowers and leaves, and send an answer by the same sweet messengers.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY'S PUBLICATIONS.

Many of these fables and fancies have been gathered in this book, which is addressed to all who love flowers.

In this interesting work, the reader will find himself in the very presence, as it were, of emperors, kings, queens and princes, of savants and distinguished musicians, of painters and philosophers, of statesmen and great writers, of popes and diplomats.

Mr. Haynie's purpose in the book is to show, not the fads or the features of some few of the many eminent personages whom he has met and known, but rather their leading characteristics, their distinguishing qualities, their human side as well as their official or public side.

The Penetration of Arabia. By David George Hogarth.

Further India. By Hugh Clifford, C.M.G.

The St. Lawrence Basin and its Borderland. By Dr. S. E. Dawson, King's Printer, Canada.

The idea which underlies this series, which is edited by Dr. Scott Keltie, secretary of the Royal Geographical Society, is that of the romance of exploration, with strict adherence to accuracy. A dry record alone is always avoided; the books are not only of the highest historical and scientific value, but they are above everything readable.

All the volumes of this series are prepared especially for it, and all the writers chosen are the highest authorities on the special topics treated, including Nansen, Sir Harry Johnston and others.

There are about 60 illustrations in each volume, and they are all thoroughly appropriate to the text. They include portraits of the explorers figuring in the volumes, photographs or sketches of the familiar features of the region covered, and reproductions of suitable contemporary engravings. The maps are made by Bartholomew, and are the most accurate possible.

By RUTH OGDEN.

Thoughts on what Laelius called "the most valuable of human possessions."

Dr. ST. CLAIR MCKELWAY in the Brooklyn Eagle said of this little book:

"Mrs. Ide writes with sincerity, with earnestness, with aptness of thought and with deftness of literary quotations from moralists and poets of our English speech. The note of the volume may be said to be sincerity, trust, unselfishness, and service. The little book has upon it not only the mark of study and of truth, but also the stamp of character and of cultivation. It should soften many a hard-ship."

A CHICAGO PRINCESS.

A New Novel by ROBERT BARR.

A characteristic, breezy, and humorous romance of an over-rich Chicago girl with a craze for titled personages.

The heroine is the daughter of a Chicago multi-millionaire, travelling in the East in his yacht. Here the story begins, and the action at once becomes as rapid as that of a Japanese campaign.

The party go to Korea, where the Emperor falls violently in love with the Chicago "Princess" and desires to marry her. His courtship is fast and furious, and leads to many strange complications which Mr. Barr has told in his bright and vivid way.

The story satirizes certain nouveau riche American tendencies and is thoroughly original and "up-to-date," while the characters are all interesting. The book has above all things that merit which Mr. Barr's work never fails to possess—that of always entertaining the reader.

THE WOMAN WINS.

By ROBERT BARR.

A collection of short stories by Robert Barr, whom Sir Conan Doyle once described as one of the best writers of short stories in the world.

Each story has a woman as the central figure, and in each one she has her "heart's desire." The tales are brilliant in style, original in plot and marked by Mr. Barr's droll humor. A better book for a pleasant evening's reading could not be found.

MAMMY 'MONGST THE WILD NATIONS OF EUROPE

By RUTHELLA MORY BIBBINS.

"Mammy" is a delightful acquaintance, and, what is more, a real person of flesh and blood from "Ole Virginny." Her devotion to her baby-charge impels this quaint, philosophic old darky to leave the shelter of the Virginia plantation and accompany her mistress into the lion's den—"mongst de wil' nations ob Europe."

Equipped with the wisdom of her two classics, the Bible and "Mother Goose," Mammy compares Old World with New in a shrewd dictum as refreshing as it is original.

AMERICAN WIVES AND OTHERS.

By JEROME K. JEROME.

This consists of a collection of twenty-six humorous sketches by Mr. Jerome, and is the best work that he has done since "The Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow." Some idea of the book may be gained from the titles of some of the sketches.

American Wives a la Mode.
Gold Braid and Its Effects.
American Girls' Etiquette.
American Professors and Progress.
Drilling an Army.
On a Red-hot Stove.

The Chinaman. Babies and Birds.

This is profusely and humorously illustrated with line-drawings.

BY SNARE OF LOVE.

By ARTHUR W. MARCHMONT.

One of the most exciting romances Mr. Marchmont ever wrote. The hero is a successful American who, going to Turkey on a pleasure trip, conceives the idea of obtaining concessions there and developing the resources of the country.

Suspicion, jealousy and hatred rouse Ottoman opposition, and from that follows a keen, relentless and romantic struggle.

With a frontispiece in colors, by Frank T. Merrill.

THE QUEEN'S ADVOCATE.

By ARTHUR W. MARCHMONT.

In this romance Mr. Marchmont has again selected an American as a hero. As the presumptive heir to the throne, a Serbian princess had been imprisoned by her political opponents, and was escaping, being hotly pursued, when she ran into the camp of our American hero. He became her protector during the exciting times which ended in the murder of the king and queen, the story being practically founded on the lives of King Alexander and Queen Draga. There is no lack of incident, and the events follow each other in rapid succession.

THE MAGNETIC NORTH.

By ELIZABETH ROBINS.

An extraordinary work by this gifted woman who has won fame both as an actress and an author.

As virile and as striking a work as anything George Sand or George Eliot ever wrote.

"A book of absorbing interest which once taken up cannot be put down; and not only of interest, but with that easy mastery of the subject, insight into human character, and suggestion of large issues of life which mark off the great novel from the merely mediocre."—London Daily News.

A JAPANESE ROMANCE.

By CLIVE HOLLAND.

This is the third of the series of the author's Japanese stories and is a worthy successor to "My Japanese Wife" and "Mousmé." With an attractive frontispiece.

FELICE CONSTANT; Or, the Master Passion.

By WILLIAM E. SPRAGUE.

Detroit, and lovely Grosse Ile, lying where the Detroit River joins Lake Erie, form the theatre for this pretty romance of Revolutionary days.

Love is the motive power that dominates the action of the story, manifesting itself in its varied forms through the characters of the chief actors. The author's purpose has been to tell a story that will captivate and hold the interest. There is little moralizing, no useless dialogue, no surplussage of description.

STRENUOUS ANIMALS.By EDWIN J. WEBSTER.A book of humor in an entirely new vein.*

A series of stories of animals who are engaged in helping their masters, either accidentally or as a result of training.

Among the amusing characters is "Buster," the boss bee who was superintendent of his dear master's bee-hive until he fell from grace and was dismissed for drunkenness, but finally reformed.

Another is the "Oil-loving Dog-fish" who gathered together, as a collie does sheep, fish for his kind master to catch, until this valued servant begun to pay attention to a lady dog-fish and then deserted his master. A deliciously humorous story is that of the adventures of the "Cable-laying Ferret," and there is a "Spectacled Eagle," besides sundry laughter-provoking bears, a balloonist dog and a pet frog.

With full-page illustrations by E. W. Kemble and Bob Addams. With vignettes, also, in the margins.

*Another treat for the boys.JACK IN THE ROCKIES.By GEORGE BIRD GRINNELL.

This is a sequel to Mr. Grinnell's two earlier books about Jack, and takes him to the Yellowstone region and introduces him to the many marvels that exist there. The book is full of action; the hero sees many Indians, runs buffalo, and kills bears, mountain sheep, elk, and deer; there are many incidents of old time travel.

Mingled with all this, yet well concealed, is a vast deal of instruction about mountain travel, wild life, Indians, and natural history. The book abounds in exciting adventure, yet is thoroughly wholesome, and the climax is reached when, on their way home, and but a few days distant from the ranch belonging to Jack's uncle, they encounter a band of horse-thieves who have run off a bunch of horses belonging to that ranch. By an artful Indian device they recover the horses.

Illustrated by E. W. Deming, the great delineator of Indian life.

*More amusing stories about the ever humorous Goops.GOOP TALES.By GELETT BURGESS.

In "Goop Tales," the familiar characteristics of Mr. Burgess's original race of Goops have been individualized in 52 separate persons—an alphabet of boys and one of girls. Each one of these has one especial fault which is suggested by the names as Dowanto, Fibius, Carolesse, Nibolene, etc. Each Goop, moreover, has an individual costume, by which it is possible to identify him or her in the 52 drawings illustrating the tales in the book.

The volume contains over 100 drawings, with end papers showing the two alphabets of Goops; and each book contains an envelope with four separate pictures of celebrated Goops printed upon heavy paper for the amusement of the owner.

*The third of the popular Peary books.SNOWLAND FOLK.By ROBERT E. PEARY AND THE SNOW BABY.

This is a collection of true stories, some written for, and others told to, the Snow Baby by her father; and, at the frequent requests of her friends and his, now put into shape for other readers, with one story by the Snow Baby herself.

As the name suggests, the stories are about the inhabitants of the wonderful, fascinating land of eternal snow and ice, where the days and nights are each months long, where the cold is intense and the silence awful. And yet there are people and animals, children and dogs there, the same as in our own home country.

Profusely illustrated from Commander Peary's splendid photographs and from drawings by Operti.

*A popular favorite in a new field.BUSTER BROWN ABROAD.By R. F. OUTCAULT.

Buster evidently had been reading the "Rollo" books, for he finally made up his mind that a trip abroad would do him good; and so, in company with Tig and his mother and father, he took passage in a good old-fashioned steamship and sailed for Europe. There he had many strange adventures, and these are chronicled by Mr. Outcault in his truthful but humorous way.

Buster could not get into quite as much mischief abroad as he does at home, but he manages to make things lively wherever he is.

THE ORIGINAL POEMS AND OTHERS.By ANN and JANE TAYLOR, and ADELAIDE O'KEEFE.

Edited by E. V. Lucas. With illustrations by F. D. Bedford.

A reprint of probably the first successful book for children published in verse. This was originally printed in 1804 and has maintained its popularity in England ever since that time. With a critical introduction on the work of the Taylors.

The book is very handsomely printed and profusely illustrated, with frontispiece and title-page in dainty colors.

TALES FROM MARIA EDGEWORTH.By MARIA EDGEWORTH.

With an introduction by Austin Dobson and illustrations by Hugh Thomson.

This is a superb new edition of these classic tales.

One of the most important features of the book is its numerous illustrations, which depict with great skill the characters in the costumes of the period mentioned.

The book is attractively bound, being stamped heavily in gold on the front cover.

Large 8vo, cloth, $1.50

This is a new edition of Lewis Carroll's famous classic for children. It is illustrated with twelve pictures in color by Maria L. Kirk as well as the original illustrations in black and white. The pictures are exceedingly beautiful and attractive, and are in an entirely different style from those appearing in any other edition of this work.

Well printed from new plates.

FAIRY TALES.

A collection of fairy tales by Alexandre Dumas which have never been translated into English before. It seems strange that anything by Dumas should have been overlooked in the many translations of his works; but this is the case, as the authenticity of these tales has been thoroughly established. They are exceedingly interesting and ought to be popular, even apart from the name of the celebrated author.

THE CANTERBURY PILGRIM.

By GEOFFREY CHAUCER.

A series of stories retold from the "Canterbury Tales." This furnishes an opportunity for the reader who wishes to become familiar with the spirit of Chaucer to do so without the effort of mastering his old English.

The book is very handsomely bound in cloth, stamped in gold, and contains many illustrations by Hugh Thomson.

MAMMY'S LI'L CHILLUNS.

By CLARA ANDREWS WILLIAMS.

A distinctive and original work, treating of the lovable side of the colored race. The author has succeeded in expressing her ideas cleverly and feelingly with picture and verse.

The drawings are full of that charming character and spirit which are the direct outcome of an untrammelled inspiration. Their bright but harmonious color and free execution will appeal to those who recognise the characteristic humor of this individual race.

BUSTER BROWN, HIS DOGTICE AND THEIR TROUBLES.

Mr. Outcault first became well known through his invention of "The Yellow Kid." When his admirers had seen the last of "The Kid," Mr. Outcault invented Buster, a young man who is determined to make the people laugh, even if he gets whipped every day, as he generally does. Each whipping makes Buster form a new resolution—each one different from its predecessors and every one amusing.

The pictures are all reproduced in bright colors.

FOXY GRANDPA UP-TO-DATE.

By BUNNY (Carl E. Schultze).

The author of "Foxy Grandpa" comes upon the scene again with another contribution for his young friends. Over 150,000 of his books have been sold to date, and their popularity continues unabated.

This is the latest book of the series, and includes "Bunny's" best and newest pictures. "Bunny" is now one of the leading comic artists of the day, and is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as his work appears in the New York American, the Chicago American, the San Francisco Examiner, the Los Angeles Examiner and the Boston American.

AS THEY WERE AND AS THEY SHOULD HAVE BEEN.

By OLGA MORGAN.

This delightful, novel and original picture-book contains numerous double color-plates, embodying an amusing and attractive "new idea."

Two pictures in a set are printed side by side, one representing two children—a boy and a girl—engaged in some mischief, while the second one represents them as they should have behaved. A good idea of the book can be got from the titles of some of the pictures:

As They Did Behave As They Should Have
in Church. Behaved at Church.

As They Did Behave As They Should Have
at the Seaside. Behaved at the Seaside.

Oblong 4to, boards, $1.00

HOW THEY WENT TO SCHOOL.

By S. R. PRAGER.

A pretty picture-book for the little ones, full of quiet humor and shrewd observation of child life. The book tells in picture and story how Hal and Kitty, two tiny scholars, set out on their way to school, and the various adventures that happen to them on the road. A difference of opinion, a man digging, a bad butcher's boy, an amiable tramp, Sarah the cook, and the shoemaker's parrot, all help to delay their progress. And yet, on reaching school, "they are greatly surprised when Miss MacKenzie asks them whether they have any excuse for being so late."

With twenty-four full-page pictures in color.

PETS.

By LOUIS RHEAD AND ALICE CALHOUN HAINES.

Charming colored pictures of children and their pets after original water colors by Mr. Rhead. These include both outdoor and indoor pictures and show children playing with lambs, calves, dogs and puppies, cats and kittens, pigeons and chickens. They are very attractive and full of spirit.

The stories by Miss Haines are admirably suited to the appreciation and enjoyment of children.

CALENDARS.

Over 100 varieties of the highest grade and very wide scope. This is unquestionably the finest collection of calendars ever offered. The originals selected for reproduction are not only of higher artistic merit than have been used before, but the method of reproducing these has been considerably improved by repeated experiments.

There are three new calendars by CLARENCE F. UNDERWOOD, representing the Underwood girl with her favorite horse, her pet squirrel, etc.

Another remarkable calendar is "THE ZUYDER ZEE KALENDAR." This gives representations of Dutch scenes and is done in a most artistic and attractive way.

There are also calendars by LOUIS RHEAD, GREINER, GEORGE M. WILLIAMS, M. L. KIRK ("Alice in Wonderland Calendar"), and an attractive calendar of dog pictures by ELISABETH F. BONSALE.

The demand for humorous calendars will be filled by a "BUSTER BROWN" calendar and one by Miss OLGA MORGAN.

Altogether the line is the most attractive and important one that has ever been put on the market.

have never been obtainable in a form so elegant—in fact nothing like the New Century Library has ever been produced. This result is secured by the use of Nelson's India Paper, the thinnest opaque printing paper known. Large novels formerly requiring two bulky volumes are issued in one handsome book, not thicker than a monthly magazine and of pocket size— $6\frac{1}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$ inches, yet the size of the type is not reduced.

This Library contains the complete works of

and selected works of the best authors

The bindings are handsome, the paper is beautiful, and the type large and clear. The size is so convenient that it is a pleasure to read the standard novels, even if your customer has already read them.

The Red Letter Library

We take pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with Messrs. Blackie & Son, of Glasgow and London, whereby we have secured the American rights for all volumes now published, or which may hereafter be published, in their Red Letter Library.

Each volume is complete in itself, and contains a vignette introduction, biographical and critical, by an authority of the highest repute. The books are neat, compact, clearly printed, and handsomely bound.

The paper has been specially made for the series. The text is printed in two colors—red and black—giving the page a bright, and at the same time tasteful, appearance. Each volume has a frontispiece illustration, reproduced in half-tone, and framed in an appropriate decorative design by Mr. Talwin Morris. The title-page and end papers also in color, and cover design in gold, are by the same artist. Size, 4 x 6. Bound in two styles. Cloth, gilt top, price, 50 cents; limp leather, gilt top, price, $1.00.

The New Authoritative Work on Physical Culture

Health, Strength and Power

By DUDLEY ALLEN SARGENT

A.M., Sc.D., M.D.

Director of Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard University,
ex-President of the American Association for the Advancement of Physical Culture.

Dr. Sargent's many inventions of the modern system of gymnasium apparatus, together with his numerous articles and papers on physical training, are so well known that a new and thoroughly up-to-date work on Physical Culture by an author who is without doubt the recognized authority on the subject will command immediate interest. In this work Doctor Sargent has aimed to make it even more popular by devising

A Series of Exercises which Require No Apparatus Whatever

His exercises and methods have been adopted all over the world. Not only was most of the gymnastic apparatus now in general use invented by him and the manner of its use of his contriving, but many of the various drills devised to give exercise without the use of any more complicated mechanical assistance than dumb-bells and Indian Clubs.

With over one hundred half-tone illustrations from original photographs furnished by the author. 12mo, cloth, limp cover, price, $1.75; full flexible leather, price, $3.00.

Send for Complete Catalog, illustrated, of Popular and Standard Books, Gift Books, Handy Volume Classics, etc., in a variety of styles of bindings. Samples sent upon request. The CALDWELL EDITIONS ARE ILLUSTRATED, and for this holiday season the novelty effects in cover designs, etc., are more replete than ever. Ask your jobber to show you the Caldwell line before completing your purchases for the holiday trade.

Only Twenty New Books This Fall

(Our policy is to publish fewer and better books, and push each harder)

A MUCH smaller number than usual (about 2 per cent. of the MSS. considered), but they must be good because our advance Fall sales are the largest we ever had. ¶ Each book will be carefully and consistently pushed. ¶ All will be ready before November 1st. ¶ We ask you to keep these few titles in mind, and help us to make them successful. Dates of publication are of course approximate.

An Historical Account of the Cruise of the Flying Squadron and the Destruction of the Spanish Fleet, graphically and truthfully told in the great book, written by himself, and entitled,

SCHLEY AND SANTIAGO

Admiral Schley is justly proud of his record, and he owes it as a duty to his wife and children to leave a fitting tribute of his long professional life under the flag he loved, and under which he has served the best years of his life. And the people, fully believing that he is one of the greatest heroes the world has ever produced, will fully appreciate the story of his wonderful victory and all the facts that led up to it, as told in his modest, yet intensely graphic and interesting manner.

Publishers, Philadelphia

Notable Books, Fall 1904

A NATION'S IDOL—A Romance of Franklin's Nine Years of Happiness at the Court of France. No writer of historical fiction had taken Benjamin Franklin as the foremost character of a story until the author wrote this book using as a basis the principal incidents of the great philosopher's life while representing the Colonies at the Court of France. A love episode, beginning with a family feud, is predominant, and during its evolution the true story of the negotiations which ended in the treaty that placed the American Colonies among the nations of the earth is told.

Charles Felton Pidgin
$1.50

HER FIANCEE—In this book the author paints with charming artistry and fidelity to truth the gay humor, readiness in conversational fence and repartee, and genuine womanliness of college girls. Writing from the vantage point of an active literary career, she has mingled in the most alluring proportion the qualities of a "real book."

Josephine Daskam
(Mrs. Selden Bacon)
With Illustrations by Elizabeth Shippen Green. $1.00

LITTLE MISS JOY-SING—A little Japanese maiden is consumed with envy at the sight of the Prince-of-Don't-Care-What riding by with his glittering retinue, and wishes to become the Beautiful Pine Tree in his garden. Her wish is granted, and immediately there are many happenings to which a goblin fox of the most pronounced character largely contributes.

John Luther Long
With Sixty Illustrations. $1.00

TOR, A STREET BOY OF JERUSALEM—Tor is struck across the face by a whip in the hands of Pilate, the Roman Governor, and made blind. He is cured by Jesus. After his healing he regards Jesus as his Master, and devotes himself to the work of bringing those in need of help to the Saviour. The story is one of absorbing interest, and is told as only Mrs. Kingsley can tell it. Mr. Eckman's masterly illustrations are a striking feature of the book.

Florence Morse Kingsley
With Illustrations by F. A. Eckman
$1.00

A NOTHER YEAR with DENISE AND NED TODDLES—This, the second story of Denise and her pets—the record of another happy year in their lives, has its beginning when the wood thrush trills his incomparable song, and its end at the blessed Christmas season.

Gabrielle E. Jackson
With Illustrations by C. M. Relyea
$1.00

All the old friends, and some new ones, appear, and it is hard to keep from reading the charming tale too hurriedly, which is but another way of saying that the story is delightful.

WILD CREATURES AFIELD—That the author loves life best when it is free, is easily seen as she tells of various animals and birds—wild creatures of the wood and jungle, the plains and cliffs and sands. All life of this kind is wonderful, and these stories are written that those who read may be helped to knowledge of the haunts and habits of the birds, beasts, and creeping things which are free to run on the earth, fly in the air, or swim in the sea.

Ellen Velvin, F.Z.S.
With Illustrations by Gustave Verbeek. $1.00

A LITTLE ROUGH RIDER—Under the title of "A Little Rough Rider" the author tells the story of a little girl, who, as Senorita Finette, the equestrienne, saved the fortunes of a circus during the early years of the gold-fever in California.

Tudor Jenks
With Illustrations by Reginald B. Birch. 50c.

Henry Altemus Company, Philadelphia

Notable Books, Fall 1904

BUMPER AND BABY JOHN—

An irresistibly humorous relation of the baps and mishaps of the homeliest, yet most dependable dog in the id, and a delightful red-haired and freckled child, whose aged ages did not exceed seven years.

Anna Chapin Ray

With Illustrations by Curtis Wager-Smith, 50c.

MY DORA'S AMUSING DAY—

Mr. Bicknell is a born story-teller; and he has set forth Amy Dora's adventures on this memorable day in a manner that is both wittily and morally wholesome.

Frank M. Bicknell

With Illustrations by Florence Scoovel Shinn, 50c.

BABY BIBLE STORIES—

These stories carry beautiful, easily understood lessons, and cannot be commended too highly. Each is written in a serene and sympathetic spirit, and with such a sweet simplicity of style that thousands of mothers will be thankful for them. Main in the hearts of the little ones; she was safely enthroned there, long ago.

Gertrude Smith

With Illustrations by Jessie Walcott 50c.

THE LITTLE BOY AND THE ELEPHANT—

The fascination of the story of Nooro and Popo is like that of "Muti Guj, Mutineer," which Kipling would never have written had he read the story of the Little Boy and the Elephant.

Gustavus Frankenstein

With Illustrations by Gustave Verbeek, 50c.

GOURD FIDDLE—

His mistress teaches a little colored boy to sing the chants and anthems in the service of the little church where he was baptized, and with her voice new airs for his violin. After the death of his father, his talent is recognized by a professor of music who takes him to Europe, and there, under peculiar circumstances, he plays on his home-made gourd fiddle before no less a personage than Her Majesty, Queen Victoria.

Grace MacGowan Cooke

WITCHERY WAYS—

Children may well be grateful to the forgotten people who, long ago, first invented fairy tales. Mr. Wells confesses, in the preface to this book, that he has a very tender regard for the "Little People," as fairies used to be called in olden days, and now he has given us, under the title of "Witchery Ways," some fairy tales of his own which will prove a never-ending delight to every reader.

Amos R. Wells

Illustrated, 50c.

SONNY BOY—

Sonny Boy—his name was Peter—goes on a visit and has many pleasant experiences. But Miss Swett tells the story, and when that is said, nothing remains but to enjoy the book.

Sophie Swett

Illustrated, 50c.

PRAIRIE INFANTA—

A clever Western story that develops in a little Colorado mining town. The action is spirited and brings the tale to an unexpected and happy termination.

Eva Wilder Brodhead

Illustrated, 50c.

KINDLY LIGHT—

"Delicate in sentiment, life-like in character delineation, told with simplicity, yet with the vital touch that draws out the sympathies of the reader."

By CHARLES W. WHISTLER, author of "King Alfred's Viking," "A Thane of Wessex," "Havelock the Dane," etc. With eight original illustrations by Lancelot Speed. 12mo, cloth, stamped in colors. Price, $1.50.

This book introduces the reader to the stirring days when the West Briton was making his final stand against the tide of Saxon Conquest under Gerent and Ina, who figure prominently in the narrative. The story is full of thrilling adventure, and the conditions of the eighth century—the religious fanaticism of the remnant of the Druids, the ready diplomacy and rough heroism of our semi-barbaric ancestors—are vividly portrayed. The plot unfolds a fresh and interesting love story.

With 30 colored pictures by LILY SCHOFIELD. In foolscap 8vo (6½ x 5 inches). Art linen boards, folded over. Price, 75 cts.

The story of how Tom Catapus and Potiphar went fishing, and how a crocodile nearly caught Tom Catapus, and how he was subsequently avenged, is told in most amusing verses, illustrated in a quaint Egyptian style. Each verse is accompanied by an appropriate picture in tints, and the pictures and hieroglyphical decorations are quite fresh and unconventional.

ANDREW LANG'S THE NURSERY RHYME BOOK

With an introduction by the compiler. Upwards of 100 pen-and-ink full-page drawings, artistic head and tail pieces, etc., by L. LESLIE BROOKE. Square crown 8vo. Bound in cloth, with an original design by the artist, and gilt edges. Price, $3.00.

With numerous colored and pen-and-ink drawings by L. LESLIE BROOKE. Tinted art boards, white cloth back, with inset colored design, and end papers, by the artist. Size, 8¼ x 6¼ inches. Price, $1.00, net.

This is a quaint and half-forgotten Nursery Ballad of the Panjandrum type, affording, in the account of all the animals who visited Johnny Crow in his garden, admirable scope for humorous treatment on the part of the artist, who will be remembered for the clever illustrations designed for Lang's Nursery Rhyme Book.

MOTHER GOOSE RHYMES IN A NEW DRESSNOBODY KNOWS

With 24 colored pictures by MADELINE HALL. Size, 5¼ x 8 inches (oblong). Picture boards, enameled cover, cloth back and corners. Price, 80 cts.

The artist has illustrated many of the old Mother Goose Rhymes, in a cleverly humorous way, the chief actors being ducks, frogs and birds, in the daintiest of colors, and funniest of costumes.

Old faces in new places,
New bodies in old clothes,
How they got into them,
Nobody knows!

The White Shield Winning His "W"

By
CAROLINE ATWATER MASON

Illustrated. Price, $1.00 net; postpaid, $1.12

Mrs. Mason has based her new story on the legend of Thekla, reputed to have been the first Christian martyr. The scene is laid in Phrygia, a province of Asia Minor, and principally in the cities of Iconium and Antioch. The period is about 50 A.D.

THE HOLY SPIRIT THEN AND NOW

By E. H. JOHNSON

Professor in Crozer Theological Seminary. 12mo, about 350 pages

A discussion of the nature, the relations, and the work of the Holy Spirit. Dr. Johnson, as stated in his preface, feels that "what the Holy Spirit did in founding Christianity and what he does for its furtherance still need to be studiously looked into." In pursuing this study the author cuts loose from current discussions and investigates for himself on original lines. The book will therefore prove of great suggestiveness and a needed help to those desiring to master this topic.

The Bible in Modern Light

By JOHN W. CONLEY, D.D. 16mo, 238 pages. Price, 75 cents net; postpaid, 82 cents.

A year or two ago Doctor Conley was invited to give a series of lectures on the Bible and Modern Life before the Bible Department of the Women's Club of Omaha, Neb. The lectures dealt with the origin, manuscripts, translations, versions, etc., of the Scriptures and their relations to modern science and to current life. So great an interest was aroused by the delivery of the lectures that their publication was demanded.

The Ethics of the Christian Life

By HENRY E. ROBINS, D.D., sometime President of Colby College, and Professor in Rochester Theological Seminary.

This book represents the work and study of twenty years.

The Church Covenant

By CHAMPLIN BURRAGE. 12mo, about 300 pp.

Mr. Burrage has made a thorough study of the development of the church covenant among the Presbyterian, Congregational, and Baptist churches. He has been for his information to the original documents, and has unearthed some facts not previously known. Copies of some of the original covenants are given in their quaint terms.

Proverbs

By Prof. GEO. R. BERRY, of Colgate University.

This is one of the parts of the American Commentary on the Old Testament. Proverbs is a very difficult book on which to construct a commentary. It is, of course, aphoristic in style rather than argumentative and logical. Professor Berry, however, by his method of division and grouping has to a certain extent overcome this obstacle.

TWO HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED WHITMAN MANUSCRIPTS

WALT WHITMAN'S DIARY IN CANADA

These travel notes have the autobiographic charm of all of Whitman's lighter and spontaneous work, and show in detail an experience in his life only hinted at by a few paragraphs in his collected prose works. The edition is limited to 500 copies and contains a fine photogravure portrait from a little known photograph taken during the Canadian journey.

8vo. Net $2.50. By Post, $2.60

AN AMERICAN PRIMER By WALT WHITMAN

A very early Whitman ms. originally prepared as notes for a lecture, with an alternative title The Primer of Words for American Young Men and Women, etc. It was only recently discovered that the apparently desultory notes possessed a definite unity and that this material had never been included in Whitman's works. Limited to 500 copies, with Photogravure Portrait.

8vo. Net $2.00. By Post, $2.10

EIGHTEEN MILES FROM HOME

By WILLIAM T. HODGE

16mo. $1.00

A charming little romance "in homespun," full of a quaint humor and tender heart interest. The hero, a raw country boy with uncontrollable aspirations as a Shakespearean star, is a new type in fiction, and his adventures, from his début as the dupe of a travelling professor of mesmerism, up to the lamentable yet laughable finale of his professional career, hold the interested attention throughout; and, in the words of a reader, "almost make you cry, although you can't help laughing."

WIT AND HUMOR OF WELL-KNOWN QUOTATIONS

Edited by
MARSHALL BROWN

12mo. Net $1.20. By Post, $1.30

A unique collection of familiar quotations arranged as "Themes with Variations," if a musical expression may be applied to such a work. Grouped with each well-known quotation are many of the jeux d'esprit, wise or witty comments, or versified versions which have grown out of, or serve to illustrate the maxim. These variations are collected from all sources, from the anonymous newspaper paragraph to the pages of the most profound philosophers.

ABOUT MY BOOKS A Reader's Record

Arranged by
GRACE E. ENSEY

12mo. Cloth, net, $1.50. By Post, $1.60. Full Flexible Leather, net, $2.50. By Post, $2.60

A dainty volume, tastefully ornamented, affording a convenient record for book-lovers who desire to preserve memoranda about their reading and their books. Arranged in six sections, viz.: (I.) Books to be Read, (II.) Books Read, (III.) Books Borrowed, (IV.) Books Lent, (V.) Magazine Articles, and (VI.) Quotations. Each page has a decorative border, printed in color, and an apt quotation.

CHANTS COMMUNAL

By
HORACE TRAUBEL

12mo. Net $1.00. By Post, $1.10

A representative collection of prose pieces, radical but constructive, treating of the economic situation of the times and imbued with the spirit and the letter of the communistic ideal. Of severe but optimistic strain, they are not violent or obstructive, but rather like face to face talks with those who would study the industrial problems in the light of historic experience.

A NEW BEACON BIOGRAPHY

WALT WHITMAN

By ISAAC HULL PLATT

24mo. Net 75 cents
By Post, 80 cents

It is peculiarly fitting that the first attempt to produce a life of Whitman should be made in the Beacon Biographies, which aim to produce competent brief sketches of the lives of the most eminent Americans written from the viewpoint of the present generation. Dr. Platt's thorough sympathy with Whitman is well known, and he has as well a reputation for calm, dispassionate writing, which will go far toward making the present volume acceptable to those who desire to learn of the real significance of the poet's life and work.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

WE BEG TO ANNOUNCE THE PUBLICATION
IN BOOK FORM, SEPTEMBER 1, 1904, OF

"SEQUIL"

by Judge Henry A. Shute

a continuation of his humorous masterpiece,

The Real Diary of a Real Boy

THE publication of "SEQUIL" in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post, in which it made an immense hit, has made it familiar to several millions of readers. It continues the record of the boy diarist with undiminished humor, and presents additional adventures of "Beany," "Pewt," "Plupy," etc., the "realist" boys in all literature, in the same diverting manner which made "The Real Diary" the most popular book of our time.

15,000 copies of "Sequil" were sold before publication, and additional orders are coming in faster than they can be filled.

"'Sequil' is bubbling over with mirth-provoking accounts of the youngster and his playmates, and is in every respect the equal of the author's first book. One can open it at any page and find something to touch a responsive chord."—The Boston Herald.

"Judge Shute touched a popular chord with his boyhood reminiscences, and they had such a freshness, naturalness, and vigor, that the heart of every man was stirred. It brought back memories of boyhood which were all but forgotten, and made the reader of the "Diary" look anxiously for the next installment. Therefore 'Sequil' ought to be a popular book."—Topeka (Kan.) State Journal.

These books are so popular, because so entirely unlike anything else in literature, that they will sell steadily for years. Dealers can therefore safely stock up with them.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO. - PHILADELPHIA

A Publishing Investment

A stock company has been formed to take over the business of a New York publisher.

It is organized under New York laws with a capital of $60,000, divided into 600 shares, par value $100 each.

Capital and brains are needed to develop an enterprise which has many attractive features.

A small amount of treasury stock is offered at par to persons who may be interested in this form of investment.

Applications for shares will be considered from those who desire to invest and to take an active part in the business, under a reasonable salary arrangement, as well as from those who prefer to make a small investment and remain inactive.

The company is under experienced and conservative management, and has unusually valuable connections and contracts.

Systematic exploitation of its present list of publications will undoubtedly result in substantial profits to the shareholders after one year's operations.

The company is in a solvent condition; its liabilities are normal; its assets are in the form of stock-in-trade and accounts receivable.

It is prepared to negotiate with investors on any equitable basis.

Address, MERIT, care of the Publishers' Weekly, 298 Broadway, New York.

ARCHIBALD CLAVERING GUNTER'S
NEW NOVEL

My Japanese Prince

THE story deals with the present Japanese-Russian War; the first portion containing the peculiar adventure of a young American lady in Tokyo. The scene changes to a house-party in Manchuria given by the same young lady, the daughter of a great contractor of Meiden, Connecticut, who is erecting for the Russian Government bridges on their railroads in Manchuria. It closes with one of the most extraordinary and exciting as well as affecting episodes ever written in the English or any other language.

It will make the Hit of the Year!

Appreciating the very great demand there will be for this book, and that it is a volume everybody will like to keep in his library, the publishers have concluded to issue a popular edition

In Cloth, at Fifty Cents per Copy

The usual edition uniform with Mr. Gunter's other works will be the same price as heretofore, $1.50 per copy.

Important Announcement to the Trade

In announcing MR. GUNTER'S new book

My Japanese Prince

in cloth at fifty cents per copy, we felt that we should be materially assisting dealers to very large sales.

But as many of our customers seem to prefer our regular yellow paper cover at the same price, we have decided to put the book out in both styles of cover; that is our regular paper cover at fifty cents retail, and a neat cloth cover at fifty cents retail—discounts the same on both styles—thus enabling everyone to select the style of cover he feels will be best adapted to his line of trade.

In placing your order, please distinctly state your choice, either "popular cloth edition, 50c.," or "paper cover, 50c.," or order some of each if you prefer.

Our regular library edition, uniform with Mr. Gunter's other books, will be the same as heretofore, $1.50 per copy.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON'S FALL PUBLICATIONS for 1904.

A YANKEE ON THE YANGTZE

Being the Narrative of a Journey from Shanghai through the Central Kingdom to Burma, under the Special Protection of the Imperial Government.

By WM. EDGAR GEIL

A traveller who in three years has crossed China, Siberia and Tropical Africa.

With 100 full-page Illustrations largely from the Author's Original Photographs.
Cloth, cr. 8vo, $1.50 net

The author of this book, afforded conspicuous courtesies by the Chinese Imperial Government, had opportunities novel and important. He tells of his journey of 1500 miles on the Yangtze, thence 700 miles over the lofty mountains of Far Western China and westward through the land of the Wild Men (Shans) into Burma. Travelling soon after the Boxer movement Mr. Geil was granted special interviews with viceroys, and is the first American to go up the Yangtze on a special native gunboat, flying the American flag, and accompanied by a specially appointed Mandarin. A complete view of the Chinese character is given, without saying so in the approved scientific terms, whilst the opium question, and other great problems of the Celestials are discussed. Finally, there is considerable caustic for the careless critics of Christian Missions.

QUESTIONS OF FAITH. A Series of Lectures on the Creed.

CONTENTS: What is God? Prof. Orr.—Is Christ the Son of God? Prof. Mackintosh.—Did Christ Rise from the Dead? Dr. Dods.—What Do We Mean by the Holy Spirit? Dr. Laidlaw.—What is the Catholic Church? Principal Lindsay.—Can Sin be Forgiven? Dr. Denney.—Is There Life After Death? P. Carnegie Simpson.

Thoroughly popular in form, these chapters are yet the result of careful study and well considered deduction, and were delivered before publication to enormous British audiences. No more efficient guide could be found for anyone seeking to answer these questions for himself or others.

THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS AND OTHER SERMONS.

By GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., Author of "The Minor Prophets," "Isaiah," "An Historical Geography of the Holy Land," etc. (Shortly)

The announcement of the new work by the celebrated professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Exegesis at the Free Church College, Glasgow, is an event of theological importance. The chapters are on Dr. Smith's favorite topics and notable for their masterful power of thought and clarity of style.

LETTERS TO THE SEVEN CHURCHES. In their Relations to the Places and History of each. By PROF. W. M. RAMSAY. (Shortly)

THIRTY YEARS IN MADAGASCAR. A Missionary Biography wonderful as that of John G. Paton. By REV. T. T. MATTHEWS. 62 Illustrations and Maps. Cloth, 8vo, $1.75

THE SPECTATOR: "The story of Christianity in Madagascar is one of the most eventful in missionary enterprise."

LEAVES FOR QUIET HOURS. By GEORGE MATHESON, D.D., LL.D., Author of "Representative Men of the Bible," "Studies in the Portrait of Christ," etc. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25

A new devotional book, similar to Dr. Matheson's great success, "Moments on the Mount."

ST. PAUL'S CONCEPTION OF THE LAST THINGS. By REV. H. A. A. KENNEDY, M.A., D.Sc., with complete index of subjects, authors and references. Cloth, 8vo, $2.25

NEW YORK OUTLOOK: "A careful conservative scholar makes solid contribution to exegetical theology."

THE PRACTICAL AND DEVOTIONAL COMMENTARY.

Edited by W. ROBERTSON NICOLL, D.D., LL.D.

JOSEPH PARKER, D.D. VOL. I.—Colossians and Thessalonians. II.—Ephesians. REV. J. H. DWETT. III.—Peter. REV. G. H. MORRISON. IV.—Mark. (Others to be announced)

THE ESCHATOLOGY OF JESUS. Bruce Lectures for 1904. By REV.

LEWIS A. MUIRHEAD, B.D.

Cloth, Cr. 8vo, $1.75

THE CHRISTIAN WORLD: "An admirable piece of work. Mr. Muirhead brings to his task not only knowledge, but enterprise and reverence."

THE SPIRIT OF GOD IN BIBLICAL LITERATURE. A Study in the History of Religion. By IRVING F. WOOD, of the Department of Biblical Literature and Comparative Religion at Smith College.

A strong lucid exposition of the subject from its earliest beginnings to the end of the Apostolic Age.

THE MASTER'S QUESTIONS TO HIS DISCIPLES. By REV.

G. H. KNIGHT.

Cloth, cr. 8vo, $1.50

The questions which Our Lord addressed to His disciples are here gathered together from the four Gospels and arranged to form the basis of a series of meditations.

LIFE AMONG THE ESKIMOS. By REV. E. J. PECK, of the Church Missionary Society. With Illustrations. Cloth, $1.75

A strong book on a little known subject of Missionary endeavor.

A HISTORY OF PREACHING. By E. C. DARGAN, D.D., Prof. of Homiletics in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. A new work of importance to be published shortly.

THE FACE BEYOND THE DOOR. By COULSON KERNAHAN, Author of "God and the Ant" (100,000 copies sold) and "The Child, the Wise Man and the Devil," of which 250,000 copies have been sold.

A unique little volume, powerful, biting and incisive in its moral strength as its great predecessors. A book that will be discussed everywhere.

Second Edition now ready

CHRISTIAN FAITH IN AN AGE OF SCIENCE. By WM. NORTH RICE, PH.D., LL.D., Prof. of Geology at Wesleyan University. Cloth, $1.50 net

"Far away the best of its kind."—PROF. CHAMBERLAIN, of Univ. of Chicago.

FROM SUNDAY TO SUNDAY. By RT. REV. HANDLEY C. G. MOULE, Bishop of Durham. Cloth, gilt top, special cover design, cr. 8vo, $1.50

Particularly appropriate as a Christmas gift, for its 52 chapters are specially adapted for reading on the Sundays of the ensuing year.

ARCHITECTURE

THE BRITISH HOME OF TO-DAY. A Book of Modern Domestic Architecture and the Applied Arts. Ten Plates in colors and 220 Illustrations in monochrome. 4to, $2.50 net

JUVENILES

CHRISTMAS AT THE ZOO. With Verses by W. BOYLE and 24 Colored Pictures by H. B. NEILSON. 75 cents

This is one of the celebrated English Christmas books for children. Besides the illustrations, nonsensically comic in themselves, there are rhymes of the catchiest sort. One of the year's original books as far as animal caricature goes.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON

Publishers - 3 & 5 West 18th Street, New York

Ready in October and November

FOUR IMPORTANT NOVELS

By WELL-KNOWN AUTHORS

By EMERSON HOUGH, Author of "The Mississippi Bubble."

THE LAW OF THE LAND

A romance of the Mississippi Delta, involving the most vital expression of the Southerner's view of the race problem that has yet appeared in fiction. The author describes the "black volcano" over which white Southerners live, in an intensely realistic manner. His knowledge of the white man's burden, his keen descriptions of Northern misapprehension, equal his tremendous power as a storyteller and his elemental sense of humor.

Illustrated by Arthur I. Keller
12mo, cloth, $1.50

By BRAND WHITLOCK

Author of
"Her Infinite Variety"

THE HAPPY AVERAGE

A thoroughly American story of a young man who found himself. Mr. Whitlock here draws interesting characters with the artistic sympathy and fineness for which he is noted. He tells how a young college graduate fell in love with a winsome girl, became engaged to her, went out into the world to fight for a place for himself, which he could ask her to share with him—and won. It is instinct with the essence of ambition.

12mo, cloth, $1.50

"The Puppet Crown" and "The Grey Cloak."

THE MAN ON THE BOX

A gay romance of Washington to day, carried off with admirable dash and spirit, and with just enough tragedy to give point to the comic touch. The hero masquerades as a coachman, takes service in his lady's livery, becomes involved in a diplomatic intrigue, and altogether has the liveliest kind of a time. One of Mr. Fisher's drawings for "The Man On the Box" is reproduced on this page.

Illustrated by Harrison
Fisher

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

Author of
"The Main Chance"

ZELDA DAMERON

In his new story Mr. Nicholson again holds the mirror up to human nature as found in the Middle West, and the reflection flashed back upon the reader is startlingly and attractively true. His heroine is a young girl full of life to her finger-tips—a mixture of pride, wilfulness, courage and sweetness. She discovers that her father is a rascal—and there is the problem of the book.
